46,000 Eligible To Ballot In 12 Municipal Elections

Most Polling Places Open 12 Hours In Marin, Southern Sonoma Cities

More than 46,000 voters in Marin and Southern Sonoma are eligible to vote tomorrow to fill 28 city council seats in 12 municipal elections.

Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., except in Novato, Belvedere, Cotati, Tiburon, and Rohnert Park where the polls will close an hour later.

Mill Valley voters, who two years ago voted for withdrawal from the Vietnam War, will have another issue of national interest on their ballot.

They will vote on whether the voting age should be reduced to 18 years of age, with a favorable vote expected to give impetus to an initiative campaign for a statewide referendum in November to lower the voting age.

Another measure on the Mill Valley ballot will be to grant city councilmen, now unpaid, a salary of $150 a month.

In Cotati, residents will vote on a $100,000 bond measure to finance new sewer lines and a connection with the Rohnert Park sewage disposal plant.

The 15-year bonds would be sold at a maximum interest rate of 7 per cent.

Candidates in municipal elections are:

BELVEDERE: (1,483 registered voters, two seats) Beatrice S. Mann, Willard G. Pittman and Allan Steinau. (Vernon E. Perry has withdrawn but his name will be on the ballot.

CORTE MADERA: (4,119, three seats) Edward W. Colthurst, Holmes S. Norville, Harold B. Wagstaff, David I. Freed, Patricia Friend and Herber C. Leney.

COTATI: (654, two seats) Frank J. Dolsinek, Thomas Jeffrey Hughes and Herbert Winters.

Schools Seeking Tax Hikes

Two school districts in Marin — Novato Unified and Dixie — will seek voter approval tomorrow to hike general purpose tax rates.

In the Novato district the measure will be to raise the rate 85 cents from $3.43 per $100 assessed valuation to $4.28.

The district total tax rate including overrides and bond repayment is now $5.345. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. The district has 12,845 registered voters.

In the Dixie district voters will be asked to approve a 50-cent increase in the general operating tax rate from $3.35 per $100 assessed valuation to $3.85.

The district's total tax rate is now $3.995.

Dixie voters also will cast ballots on a measure to hike the bond interest rate from 5 to 7 per cent.

The district is seeking a hike in the bond interest because $1,495,000 in bonds previously authorized bonds haven't been saleable at 5 per cent.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. The district has 8,085 registered voters.

Apollo 13 Speeding Flawlessly To Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Apollo 13's astronauts today sped quietly and flawlessly toward a rendezvous Tuesday with the moon while ground controllers tracked a rocket stage headed for an explosive impact on the lunar surface.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. retired early today for 10 hours rest. Mission control planned to let them sleep past noon.

Medics reported that Lovell, the only one of the three wired for medical monitoring, slept soundly.

Trailing about 900 miles behind Apollo 13 was the third stage of the Saturn 5 rocket that hoisted the astronauts away from planet earth Saturday.

Signals from the ground shifted the 61-foot stage to a collision course with the moon. Mission control said tracking data today shows it will strike the surface about 8:10 p.m. (EST) Tuesday about 105 miles west of a seismometer left on the moon by the Apollo 12 astronauts in November.

That is about half an hour after Apollo 13 is to fire into moon orbit. The astronauts won't see the impact because they will be on the far side of the moon.

Seismic experts estimate the 15-ton stage will smash with a force equal to 11 tons of TNT, and that it will gouge a crater 100-120 feet deep. The resulting tremors, recorded by the seismometer, should tell scientists much about the internal structure of the moon.

The Apollo 12 spacemen deliberately crashed their lunar lander after they left the moon and the impact vibrated the seismometer a surprising 55 minutes, indicating the subsurface material is broken up. A similar explosion on earth would reverberate only a few minutes.

The Apollo 13 astronauts were relaxing on the three-day outward journey in preparation for four gruelling days in the vicinity of the moon.

The astronauts zipped past the halfway mark—128,000 miles from both earth and moon—Sunday and fired a brief burst of their spaceship engine to shift course slightly and zero in on a spot 70 miles above the lunar surface. They hope to hit that bull's-eye and fire into lunar orbit at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

They blasted off Saturday.

Marin Gets A Little Taste Of Wintertime

Windblown showers bullied their way through Marin today on the shoulders of a strong cold front, and forecasters predicted a chance of further rain tonight.

High winds downed a 35-foot pine tree at the Terra Linda home of Frank Merrick, 428 Montecillo Road, but no other damage was reported from the window-rattling storm. Terra Linda had a 43-degree temperature drop overnight, from 79 degrees to an overnight low of 36. Woodacre reported winds of 22 miles an hour last night. Wind reports were sketchy and the Air Force station on Mount Tamalpais reported its wind gauge has been broken for some time.

Rainfall was light, with .10 of an inch reported at Fairfax, .09 at Woodacre and Point Reyes Station, .07 at Ross, .02 at Sausalito and Mill Valley, .03 at San Anselmo and .10 in Larkspur's Chevy Chase area, all at 8 a.m. today. A trace of rain was reported in Bolinas and Tiburon, and Santa Venetia reported no rain at 8 a.m. but showers starting after then.

The forecast calls for a 30 per cent chance of rain tonight, and small craft warnings were issued predicting west winds of 20 to 40 miles an hour.

U.S. Vietnam Troop Count Under Ceiling

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troop strength in Vietnam has dropped below the authorized ceiling of 434,000, virtually completing President Nixon's third-phase withdrawal and setting the stage for a new round of cutbacks.

Nixon goes on television with a Vietnam report Thursday night and is expected to announce a new withdrawal that will total 50,000 men. April 15—Wednesday—was the target date set by Nixon to bring the troop strength down to 434,000.

The U.S. Command reported today in its weekly troop summary that American military manpower in Vietnam decreased by 10,200 men last week to 429,200, the lowest level in more than three years.

A New Round In Kopechne Papers

BOSTON (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Andrew Caffrey ordered a Massachusetts court clerk today to show why he should not be blocked from releasing the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest transcript Wednesday.

The judge acted after a professional court stenographer, Sidney Upman, said the release of the probe of the death would violate his rights to reproduce the transcript for sale.

Miss Kopechne drowned in July when a car driven by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., flipped off a bridge.

Los Angeles Is Hit By Teacher Strike

Advisory Personnel Man Schools

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teachers demanding higher wages and better working conditions struck the Los Angeles City School District today. Supervisory personnel and non-striking teachers tried to keep schools open for the city's 650,000 school children.

School administrators said they planned to seek a court order requiring the strikers to return to work.

It was the first full scale strike against the nation's second larget school district. Teachers staged a one-day walkout last year. Estimates of the duration of today' action ranged from days to weeks.

About 50 pickets marched in front of the Board of Education offices while groups of teachers paraded outside each of the district's 616 schools. There were no reports of disturbances.

50 PCT. EFFECTIVE

An hour after classes began, school officials said reports from 11 secondary schools indicated the strike was about 50 per cent effective. Union estimates had between 50 and 75 per cent of the district's 25,000 teachers honoring the strike.

School Supt. Robert Kelly said of 3,000 substitute teachers available to the district ,1,600 reported for teaching duty today while another 400 worked as administrative subs.

Gompers Junior High School in the south section of town was the first to suspend classes—after 88 of 113 teachers stayed out. The school's 2,248 students were told to remain on school ground until a decision was made whether to send them home.

SOME SPOT CHECKS

Spot checks at other schools, as reported by the school distirct, ranged from 37 of 100 teachers out at El Sereno Junior High to 79 of 100 out at Carver Junior High.

Robert Ransom, president of the United Teachers of Los Angeles, the union representing 22,000 of the district's 25,000 teachers, asked Kelly to close the schools.

The union and the district agree that only the state can provide the money necessary to meet even part of the teachers' demands for more pay, smaller classes, class aides and such improvements as carpeting, air conditioning and soundproofing.

On April 4 the teachers rejected an offer of a 5 per cent increase over the present annual salary range of $7,320 to $13,650. The district said it faced a $40 million deficit already and would need half a billion dollars to meet all the demands.

Meanwhile today, teachers in the Santa Maria High School District returned to classes today after weekend-long negotiations with school board representatives.

A DANGEROUS BOMB IS FOUND BY BOY, 15

A dangerous homemade bomb was found on a San Rafael roadway yesterday by a 15-year-old boy.

The bomb was discovered, according to police, on Jones Place at 4:20 p.m. by Peter Dalk of 44 Knoll Road, San Rafael. The youth immediately turned the explosive over to police.

The bomb consists of a fuse-type blasting cap, that alone could blow out a person's eyes or remove his fingers, police said. Two shot gun shells taped together were also found, police said. A hole had been drilled in the base of one of the shells.

The explosive will be sent to the San Francisco Presidio today for analysis, police said.

Red Rockets Rip Saigon, Three Die

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas hit Saigon with a rocket attack tonight, the first since Dec. 17. At the same time Allied intelligence sources warned of new and bigger Communist offensives this spring, including attacks on Saigon.

U.S. and South Vietnamese police officials said at least six rockets hit Saigon, killing three persons and injuring 44. All of the dead and 38 of the wounded were in the crowded Olympic Theater where a rocket struck the rear wall. (See Southeast Asia fighting roundup, page 2.)

Two rockets struck the Interior Ministry building four blocks from the presidential palace and two blocks from the U.S. Embassy, wounding one woman and sending two others into shock. Police first reported the explosions here and at the theater as terrorist bombs, but later found the rocket engines.

Another hit the Saigon River and blew out windows in the government-owned Majestic Hotel where a singer and several other persons were cut by flying glass.

National Police said another rocket landed on the tennis court at the Cercle Sportif, a luxurious country club favored by South Vietnam's political and social leaders and the diplomatic set.

Military spokesmen said tonight captured Communist documents and information from a captured Viet Cong district leader indicated another round of Communist attacks could be expected late this month in South Vietnam.

They said the documents reported that the long expected spring offensive in the Central Highlands got under way April 1 and that it would continue until June. In this offensive the Communists have had the Dak Seang Special Forces camp under siege for three weeks and attacked the one at Dak Pek 20 miles to the north on Sunday.

Wounded irregular troops being flown out of Dak Pek said the situation there was very serious and that the Communists were shelling the base late today.

Tam Board Chooses New Superintendent

Dr. Wilber Dale Hawkins, presently assistant superintendent of the Norwalk-Mirada School District in Southern California, has been named superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District.

Hawkins, 49, will begin work July 1.

Hawkins' appointment, which came at a closed meeting of the board April 6 but was not announced until today, ends a nine-month search for a new superintendent for the district.

District board members began the search last Aug. 7 after Chester G. Carlisle, who had served as superintendent for 17 years, was reassigned as a district consultant and relieved of duty as superintendent.

Asst. Supt. Robert D. Torrey was named as acting superintendent and will continue to serve in that capacity until June 30. He is expected to return to his previous position beginning July 1.

Carlisle's reassignment followed receipt of a report—authored by Arther D. Little—which was critical of the district's administration and said there was a "leadership stall" and that Carlisle no longer "provided strong direction."

Hawkins will be the fourth superintendent in the district's 62-year history. E. E. (Duke) Wood served 36 years and Williard Van Dyke was superintendent for nine years prior to Carlisle's arrival.

Hawkin's annual salary will be $30,000, compared to Carlisle's $27,500.

Hawkins was selected from 150 applicants, from which five finalists were selected by a screening committee. His appointment was unanimous.

Hawkins received his bachelor's degree from the University

Cong, North Viet Units Continue Hits On Borders

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops kept up the pressure in South Vietnam and Cambodia Sunday, assaulting remote border posts, villages and towns.

Attacks in the central highlands and the northern quarter of South Vietnam killed two more Americans and 25 government soldiers as the enemy offensive ground into its 13th day. Fifteen Americans and 170 South Vietnamese were wounded.

INTO U.S. CAMP

North Vietnamese sappers blasted their way into an artillery base nine miles southeast of Quang Tri City, killing the two Americans. But 36 of the attackers were slain, headquarters said.

Enemy gunners also shot down four U.S. helicopters in widely scattered parts of the country, killing two more Americans and wounding seven others.

In Cambodia Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces made fresh attacks Sunday on two towns along Highway 1 near the South Vietnamese border, according to Radio Phnom Penh.

The radio reported the fourth attack of the week on the border town of Prasaut and anther on Kompong Trabek, 35 miles to the west, which has been the scene of fighting in the last two days.

PROVINVIAL CAPITAL

The Cambodian government has concentrated its limited forces in the provincial capital of Svay Rieng, midway between the two attacked towns. Refugees have been flooding into Svay Rieng.

According to documents captured in Vietnam, the Communist high command has labeled its current offensive the X Campaign and plans to extend it in various phases until June.

Other captured documents indicate that the insurgents have been ordered to make an all-out effort to uproot the South Vietnamese pacification program, according to one informant.

"Efforts are to be made to overrun district headquarters," said the source. "Government officials at all levels in towns and cities are to be assassinated . . . Sapper raids are to be emphasized."

The most serious North Vietnamese assault reported today was a sabotage raid on a camp near Pleiku housing the families of South Vietnamese rangers sent to the defense of the Dak Seang Special Forces outpost 60 miles to the north. Thirteen men, women and children were killed, 70 wounded and some 25 houses burned down.

Phnom Penh radio also reted enemy attacks on an outpost at Snoul, in eastern Cambodia adjoining South Vietnam's War Zone C. Another assault was reported on a post on the west bank of the Mekong River in Kandal Province near the Plain of Reeds.

The government radio said these attacks were made "with the active participation of Vietnamese residents" but gave no further details.

The charge was in line with an ongoing government campaign to arouse the easy-going Cambodians into hatred and distrust of the 600,000 resident Vietnamese.

Gen. Lon Nol's "salvation government" has been rounding up Vietnamese of doubtful loyalty and spreading propaganda reminding its citizens that in centuries past "the Vietnamese massacred the Cambodians . . . used Cambodian heads for cooking pots . . . looted shops and burned Cambodians alive."

Southwest of Phnom Penh, toward the Gulf of Siam, a Viet Cong-North Vietnamese force is said to be establishing a command post in the Elephant Mountains.

The headquarters, 75 miles southwest of the capital and 30 miles from the nearest point in South Vietnam, is clearly a threat to Phnom Penh—not Saigon.

While fighting rages elsewhere in Indochina, the people of Laos are taking the week off to celebrate their new year.

New year celebrations make some observers in Laos think to the 1968 Tet offensive in South Vietnam, but Laotian military officials discount the possibility of further attacks by the Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese.

"In fact the Communist offensive may be dying out," said one officer, who thinks the North Vietnamese have overextended themselves in Laos.

New Attack On Antiwar Element

PALO ALTO (AP) — When "activists and revolutionaries speak of getting out of Vietnam," says the commander of the California National Guard, "they really are saying they want a North Vietnamese victory."

Maj. Gen. Glenn C. Ames lashed out at antiwar protesters, antiwar congressmen and the news media Saturday at the 43rd annual convention of the California Department of the Reserve Officers Association.

Students trying to get rid of military officer training programs on campus are really trying to "hamstring the leadership of the military services to the point of impotency," Ames said.

Ames said that despite decisions by several universities to drop ROTC, there has been an increase of 27 ROTC units at colleges across the nation and that another 42 have applied for units.

Eagle Arrives

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) - Columbia Eagle, the U.S. munitions ship held three weeks in Cambodian waters after two crewmen hijacked it, arrived at the U. S. Navy's Subic Bay base today.

Th freighter prepared to unload her 1,750-ton cargo of bombs and ammunition, which she was carrying to U.S. forces in Thailand when the hijackers seized the ship March 16.

The hijackers tricked 24 crewmen overboard in a lifeboat and sailed into Sihanoukville, Cambodia, with 15 crewmen and the captain, Donald Swann. The crewmen from the lifeboat were picked up by a sister ship.

The hijackers remained in Cambodia, where they were granted political asylum.

Stardust Fire

LAS VEGAS, Nev (AP) - Arson has been eliminated as the cause of a smoky fire at the Stardust Hotel which killed one firemen and forced evacuation of 500 hotel guests and employees.

Investigators said Sunday the first-floor blaze that broke out in a supply room filled with flammable cleaning fluids may have been ignited by a stray spark, cigarette or spontaneous combustion.

Killed in the Saturday blaze, apparently by smoke inhalation, was Capt. Frank Testa, 43, Clark County fire department commander. Seventeen other persons, including 11 firemen, were injured.

Porter Killed

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) - A Sherpa porter for a Japanese expedition was killed by a falling block of ice on Mt. Everest, the eighth Nepali to die on the world's highest mountain in the past three weeks.

The message said that the Sherpa, one of 500 porters with a 39-member team from the Japanese Alpine Club of Tokyo, was killed Thursday when he was struck 18,300 feet up the 29,028-foot peak. He was the 22nd climber to die on Everest.

Stench For Queen

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) - Stink bombs released by students almost disrupted a garden party today for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

As the queen was about to sit down for tea on the Parliament House lawn, the stench of rotten eggs wafted across the yard.

Police raced into the Institute of Technology grounds next door and found a milk bottle containing sulphurated hydrogen. The police hurriedly dumped the "bomb" down a sewer, then went to look for more.

They found a second bottle and carried it through the institute classrooms-giving redfaced students a good sniff-before dumping it.

Tribute To Envoy

BONN, Germany (AP) - The West Germany government paid tribute today to Count Karlivon Spreti, its murdered ambassador to Guatemala, in ceremony in the Bundestag, the lower house of parliament.

While the ambassador's body lay in state in a closed coffin, Foreign Minister Walter Scheel declared in a eulogy that Von Spreti's murder by Guatemalan leftists was a "a crime that cannot be justified by any political goal."

"He became the victim of people who assert that they are fighting for something better than the present conditions," Scheel said. "No one in the world who has even a spark of humanity left in him can hold to this belief after this infamous deed.

Scotch Boy Survives Refrigerator Ordeal

KILBIRNIE, Scotland (AP) — Steven Bian, 4, was found safe Sunday after 19 hours in an abandoned refrigerator. He was saved by a small splinter which jammed in the rubber gasket around the door and let air in.

The child told his mother an older boy shut him in the box.

Kills Five

SEOUL (AP) - A South Korean marine sergeant went berserk and killed five other marines including two officers, the Defense Ministry announced today.

Sgt. Pai Chong-hai, 27, opened fire with his M16 automatic rifle and threw a hand grenade as a group of marines were cleaning their weapons in their barracks on the western front.

Sgt. Pai turned his rifle on himself and put a bullet into his chest, but it did not kill him, the ministry said. He was found half a mile from the barracks and was taken to a hospital.

The sergeant return to Korea last July after a tour of duty in South Vietnam.

MESSINA, Sicily (AP) — A 500-ton Italian freighter, the Duizar, sank off Sicily today after its cargo shifted in the hold. Only one of the nine crewmen was saved.

U.S. Team Leaves For Arms Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bearing secret instructions from President Nixon, U.S. negotiators set out today for a crucial round of talks with the Soviets on curbing the arms race between the two superpowers.

The six-man team led by U.S. disarmament chief Gerard Smith is stopping first at Brussels to brief the NATO allies Tuesday on the forthcoming U.S.-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT.

Then Thursday, at Vienna, the U.S. envoys sit down with their Soviet opposites to begin tough bargaining that is expected to go on for months. The two sides held a preliminary discussions session at Helsinki last fall.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union are moving cautiously on SALT, which involves the basic nuclear weapons power of both nations. If an agreement is reached, it will be a landmark of the atomic age.

Nixon met with the U.S. negotiators over the weekend, gave them final instructions and wished them well.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler gave no hint of what the instructions are. Reporting on the 50-minute meeting at the White House, he said only that "the delegation is going to Vienna with a constructive attitude."

Other sources said they expect the United States will offer a specific missile curb proposal at Vienna a few days after the April 16 opening. They doubted the proposal would be for a general missile freeze at the outset, though they left open this possibility later on.

The Senate last week passed a resolution calling on Nixon to propose an immediate, mutula-freeze by both sides on further deployment of all strategic nuclear weapons systems, both offensive and defensive.

Among other things this would halt deployment on the U.S. side of MIRVs—multiple independently retargeted vehicles, now slated to start in June.

DEEP STEAM wall-to-wall carpet cleaning offers you :

GENTLE CLEANING ACTION . . . no brushes or scrubbing action is used to wear or distort the carpet pile.

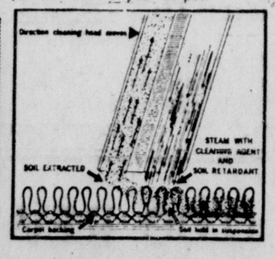
LIKE-NEW RESTORATION of original color, texture, and matted pile without use of chemicals.

MOISTURE CONTROL which insures fast drying and avoids carpet shrinkage.

SAFE PROCESS . . . guaranteed to be completely safe for all fabrics, and under any condition.

GREATER ECONOMY because the Deep Steam cleaning process Soil Retards and Mothproofs your carpet. This minimizes the need for frequent professional cleaning.

LONGER CARPET LIFE since deeply imbedded soil is safely extracted from both the pile and back of your carpet.



HOW DEEP STEAM SOIL EXTRACTION WORKS

Deep Steam Soil Extraction equipment applies wet steam with a professional formula and soil retardant under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. The two cleaning agents combine to break down soil and the static electric charge, which holds the soil deep in the pile of the carpet, and brings this soil into suspension. Then, instantly, the moisture and soil are removed by the powerful continuous extraction process into a separate stainless steel container. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with SOIL RETARDANT and MOTHPROOFING to keep your carpet cleaner and protected longer.

The Old Method

The conventional shampoo scrubbing method uses preliminary vacuuming to remove some loose soil. The shampoo equipment, with harsh brushes, utilizing different types of liquid detergents or powders, scrubs the remaining soil DEEPER into the carpet . . . and even with the help of a wet vacuum fails to remove most of the soil or residue. This residue which is left in the carpet then works its way to the surface and attracts more soil. Soon your carpet may appear more soiled than before!

New Citizens Remain Proud Of Their Lebanese Heritage

Pride in newly acquired U. S. citizenship doesn't mean you can forget about your heritage or can cut ties with the old country.

That's the philosophy of a Mill Valley couple who recently earned citizenship papers.

Kevrok Boursalian, 31 and his wife Helen, of 207 Reed Street, left their Beirut, Lebanon, home in 1962 when Kevork obtained a job as a choir director and Armenian language teacher in Worcester, Mass.

But leaving Lebanon didn't mean forgetting it.

The couple arrived in the United States $800 in debt but full of hope. He worked for two years in the east and then the cold winters drove the couple to Mill Valley in 1964. Now fully entrenched in the American way of life, the Boursalians continue to remember their heritage and seek to pass it on to their two children.

The children — Ani, 4, and Tamar, 3, — are being reared as Lebanese children. The Boursalians speak Armenian at home and serve mainly Armenian dishes like shish-kebab. The parents would like to send their children to an Armenian school if one were available. The children currently attend a Saturday class at St Gregory's Armenian Apostolic Church on Armenian language and history taught by their mother, who taught school in Lebanon.

Armenian social, cultural and political life has traditionally centered around the church, the Boursalians believe, and they have continued that tradition.

Boursalian is now a production manager at Faulkner Color Photography Lab in San Francisco, but he also directs a church choir and leads Armenian folk singing groups.

"I live almost like I did in Lebanon because lots of people from overseas are here in the area," he said.

He said he was continuing "old country" traditions because he doesn't want his children to lose their cultural identity.

"But we're still glad to be Americans" he smiled.

Peace Groups Protest War Tax Funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — While millions of Americans grumble quietly about paying income taxes, three peace groups are planning protests this week against using the tax money for war.

Starting today with a fast, including a "nondinner" scheduled at Lafayette Park across from the White House, protest leaders say the three days before Wednesday's midnight deadline for filing tax returns will be filled with rallies, demonstrations and student strikes in more than 150 cities and on hundreds of college campuses.

The war protests were called by the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, the Vietnam Moratorium Committee and the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

Protest leaders are planning rallies and demonstrations Wednesday to focus on the past and present use of tax money for war spending. They say they also want to show the relationship of the Vietnam war to inflation and social problems.

The taxpayer rallies in most cities, organizers said, would be held in front of or near Internal Revenue Service centers. They also plan "Boston Tea Party" demonstrations, the passing out of leaflets in shopping areas, and the circulation of petitions and antiwar literature.

Rallies are slated for such cities as Boston ,New York, Baltimpre, Newark, Knoxville, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Houston and Dallas. But national organizers also claimed many smaller cities and towns would be having demonstrations.

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee says eight U.S. senators and 17 representatives have endorsed the taxpayer rallies. It also claimed endorsements from more than 300 student leaders.

The Student Mobilization Committee, which called a student strike for Wednesday, said it is unable to predict how many campuses it would hit, but one spokesman said "probably a couple of hundred."

Officers Recheck Burglary Clues In Socialite Slaying

ORINOA (AP) — Police rechecked burglary reports today in the hunt for clues to the unexplained slaying of a socially prominent housewife in her $50,000 hillside home.

Officers speculated that Barbara Keenan, 42, might have been attacked by a burglar in the kitchen after she had returned from a tennis game with a friend.

She had been shot three times and struck on the head with a steam iron whose cord was wrapped around her neck.

The body was discovered Friday by her daughter, Margaret, 14, returning from school.

Officers said three .22-caliber shell casings were found in the kitchen. The victim had not been sexually molested, police said.

No burglary clues were found, but neighbors along the hillside expressed increased alarm over what one woman described as a "rash of midnight burglaries."

Sheriff's officers have advised residents to obtain either watch dogs or burglar alarms and to shine lights throughout the night to make up for lack of street lights.

The victim's husband, Oakland insurance executive Harold F. Keenan, said his wife "didn't have an enemy in the world."

She was "basically a warm, outgoing person" who loved to work with young people, he said. She was a Sunday school teacher at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Orinda.

Hitch Supports ROTC Training

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — To assure that we have a "civilian-based Army," says University of California President Charles Hitch, military training should remain a part of campus curriculum.

The head of the nine-campus state university system also said Sunday in a televised interview that he feels ROTC could be improved academically.

In the past two weeks demonstrators opposing ROTC on campus have been active at both UC Berkeley and Stanford University, a private school.

Asked about the increase in student fees to take effect next fall, Hitch pointed out that the regents have voted to provide an additional $4 million for grant-aid and work-study programs.

Chicago Hard Hit By Trucking Crisis

COMBINED AP & UPI

Lockouts and strikes today idled thousands of persons in the Chicago area, a key site in a dispute over a national contract agreement in the trucking industry.

Meanwhile on another labor front crisis, air traffic controllers returned to work in gradually increasing numbers and officials of their union predicted improvement in the situation.

The Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization (PATC) (PATCO) said it expected to see "an appreciable rise" in the number of controllers ending their "sick-out" that started 19 days ago.

The Federal Aviation Administration said it was not having any real problems except at three air traffic centers — New York, Kansas City and Chicago.

Most cities, according to the FAA, reported 100 per cent attendance, including once trouble-plagued Oakland.

A federal court back-to-work order issued Saturday was held a major reason for easing the air traffic situation.

Teamsters Local 705 and the independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union called their 32,000 members out on strike after a midnight deadline.

More than 1,000 trucking firms employing about 15,000 drivers signed contracts before the deadline, Teamsters negotiator Louis F. Peick said.

Picket lines patrolled trucking terminals at Chicago and other cities. Pickets at Detroit threw rocks at out-of-town drivers arriving at one motor city terminal.

A trucking firm supervisor in Detroit told police that two shots, apparently fired at him, struck a loading dock where he was standing.

Peick said the firms that had signed had agreed to contracts giving Chicago drivers wage hikes of $1.65 over three years, better than the $1.10 national truckers and Teamsters agreed to in Washington. Some 450,000 drivers across the nation were to vote on that agreement, which has caused unrest among dissatisfied drivers.

While Peick was issuing a strike order for today, Howard Willett, chief negotiator for five trucking associations in the Chicago area, said Sunday the truckers viewed the situation in this light: "You can't fire me because I quit."

The reference was to the lockout begun last week by truckers who held to their original offer of 70 cents an hour more over three years. Willett said the truckers would meet today to plan more strategy.

In Detroit, the 6,000 striking members of Teamsters Local 299 met Sunday night on whether to end their walkout, but could not decide. Local 299 represents 18,000 workers and is the home local of James R. Hoffa, imprisoned Teamsters president, and acting President Frank Fitzsimmons.

The illegal strike has caused auto companies to lay off 14,500 workers and place another 40,000 on reduced schedules. Some strikers ended picketing during the weekend but dissidents vowed to resume picketing cartage company terminals today.

On another front, the American Newspaper Guild has scheduled a strike to begin at 6 a.m. Tuesday against the New York Post. If the Guild members do strike, the city's three other daily newspapers may close down.

Guild officials announced the strike plan Sunday night when talks with the Post broke down after eight hours with little progress reported. Old contracts for some 13,000 employes at the city's four dailies expired March 31, but negotiations have continued.

In the past, publishers have taken the position that if one newspaper was struck, they were all struck. In addition to the Post, the New York Times, the Daily News and the Long Island Press are involved in the negotiations with 10 unions, including the Guild, which represents editorial workers.

Tunney Asks To Be Named Conservator

A brother of a Tiburon woman accused of the hatchet slaying of her husband in an English cottage today filed a petition in Marin Superior Court asking that he be named conservator of her estate.

Joan Tunney Wilkinson, the daughter of Gene Tunney, is not able to care for her property because she is jailed in London, according to the petition. It asked that Gene L. Tunney, who lives at 42 Ranch Road, San Rafael, be named conservator.

The petition has been signed by Mrs. Wilkinson's parents who live in Stamford, Conn.

Attorney Michael R. Marron of San Francisco obtained a May 12 court hearing on the request before Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

According to the petition, Mrs. Wilkinson has property which includes $30,000 in securities plus real estate of an unnamed value which provides an annual income of $15,600.

Mrs. Wilkinson is accused of murdering her husband, Lynn Carter Wilkinson, in a cottage in a London suburb where they were staying.

She is also the sister of John V. Tunney, Southern California congressman who is a candidate for U.S. senator.

Youth Arrested After Accident

A 15-year-old Novato boy, speeding away from a police car at 60 miles an hour at 10:43 p.m. Saturday, hit a parked car, knocking it into another car on Marin Oaks drive east of Gregg Place, Novato, police reported.

The boy was cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of driving without a license, joyriding, being drunk and possessing marijuana.

His car hit one belonging to Rita Russeau of 1750 Center Road, Novato, knocking it into one owned by Jay G. Barker of 189 Caribe Isle, according to police.

Napa Official To Assist Behr

Henry M. Wigger, Napa County supervisor, has been named that county's chairman of Peter H. Behr's campaign for the GOP nomination to the State Senate in the June 2 election.

A native of Napa, Wigger has served on the board of supervisors since 1966 and has represented the county on several regional governmental bodies, including the Association of Bay Area Governments.

Behr, of Mill Valley, is a former Marin supervisor.

Unitarians Hit Phone Excise Tax

The Marin Fellowship of Unitarians has declared it will refuse to pay the 10 per cent telephone excise tax because the funds are being used solely to support the war in Vietnam.

At a meeting yesterday, the fellowship agreed to disregard the tax from phone bills sent to its San Rafael office. The fellowship said it left to the conscience of each member the payment of personal phone taxes.

Claiming the federal government increased the tax from 3 to 10 per cent in 1966 because of the cost of fighting the war, the fellowship, in a resolution, said it would willingly accept any penalties imposed by the federal government.

"Since the membership believes that the taxes paid to the government should be used for peaceful, life-oriented purposes, the use of these funds for war is totally incompatible with the aspirations of the congregation," the group concluded.

Clausen Blasts 'Inadequate' Explosives Laws

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON—Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, has branded present laws barring the illegal use of explosives as "grossly inadequate."

Clausen, who last week cosponsored legislation to impose either the death penalty or life imprisonment whenever death results from bombings, said that bombings "represent open manifestations of urban guerrilla warfare in America."

Bombers "hope to provoke civil authorities and the police into over-reacting, and thereby gain the sympathy of the general public," Clausen said. "As such, these anarchists pose a very clear and present danger to the American people and must be stopped now."

Shoreline Crash Hurts Girl, 16

Betsy Johnson, 16, of 1304 Cambridge, Novato, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital with unspecified injuries received yesterday in a one-car crash northbound on Shoreline Highway, one mile south of Olema.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss Johnson was a passenger in a car driven by Jack R. Merret, 16, of 18 Elgin Lane, Hamilton Air Force Base.

Merret told officers the car drifted onto the shoulder of the road, went over a bank and came to rest in a small creek below the road. The driver and another passenger, Robert L. Winkle, 17 of 305 Bolling Drive, Hamilton, received minor injuries in the accident, which occurred at 2:30 p.m., but both refused hospital treatment.

San Rafael Man Hurt In Wreck

Mervyn I. Silberberg, 42, of 229 Summit Avenue, San Rafael, escaped with minor injury yesterday when his car went off Highway 17, through a chain link fence and struck a power pole on Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

California Highway Patrol officers reported that Silberberg's westbound car went off the roadway on a curve 800 feet east of the lane merger with Highway 101 at 2:30 a.m.

Silberberg told officers he thought there was an off-ramp to the frontage road at the location. He suffered a forehead bump, and pains of both knees and right side, but told officers he would see his own doctor.

Youth Booked In Drug Probe

An 18-year-old San Anselmo youth was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs after he was found with a possible LSD tablet in his pocket in a parking lot at 1:40 a.m., San Rafael police reported today.

Released on his own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow was Marc Gregory Webb of 43 Merced Avenue.

Webb was arrested in the lot at The International House of Pancakes, 1825 Fourth Street, by a patrolman summoned to investigate someone tampering with parked cars. The patrolman reported finding an unmarked blue pill in Webb's pocket.

POLICE DISPERSE STUDENTS—Police in Jerusalem brought out water cannons Saturday to disperse student demonstrators outside the residence of Israeli Premier Golda Meir. Massive Drive Opens For Water Proposition Passage

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top California political and business leaders had water on their minds today as they looked toward the June primary election and a decison by the voters on the complex but crucial Prop. 7.

With the June 2 vote not far away, a massive and expensive campaign behind Prop. 7 was being waged by leaders of virtually every segment of the "Establishment," from Gov. Reagan on down.

Prop. 7 is the proposal which would raise the maximum interest rate the state can pay on bonds from the current five to seven per cent — and higher if the legislature so decided later. At present, state and local governments find it almost impossible to sell bonds because those who buy them are getting far more than five per cent interest on their money.

In human terms, the bonds are how government pays for the new school down the block, the State Water Project, the new home a veteran returning from Vietnam wants or the new park where city dwellers get away from it all for the weekend.

Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, put on a letter to his constituents over the weekend saying Prop. 7 "must be approved to avert disaster for the state's bond program." He specifically reminded voters in the Central Valley, where water is wealth, that "if Prop. 7 fails the state's water project would grind to a halt."

Meanwhile, the multibillion-dollar agriculture industry moved full force behind Prop. 7. The Agricultural Council of California, through the expensive political public relations firm of Whitaker & Baxter, said "our economy faces serious failure" if Prop. 7 fails.

Supporters included the head of the State Grange, the rice growers, alfalfa growers and so on.

The director of the State Veterans Affairs Department, Frank D. Nicol, also endorsed Prop. 7. He said it would continue the 50-year-old plan of low-interest home loans for veterans.

Another proposition also was in the news — Prop. 1, the $246 million bond to pay for new medical training and education facilities at the Univeristy of California. It was endorsed by the executive council of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO.

In other developments on the political front:

— Rep. George E. Brown Jr. of Monterey Park said he has accepted an invitation to appear with his two main rivals for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination on a television show May 23 in Los Angeles. His main foes are Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn and Rep. John V. Tunney of Riverside.

—A group of Southern California Democarts formed by Assemblyman Jess Unruh in 1968 endorsed him for governor, but couldn't decide between Tunney and Brown for the Senate. So, they endorsed both, but now Hahn.

Japanese pedestrians, threading their way through traffic oozing through Tokyo's streets, supposedly are made immune from injury by holding aloft small yellow flags supplied at street corners.

New Home For Children's Home

The Children's Home Society of California has announced plans to build a two-story office building in San Francisco to serve as a center for the agency's counseling and adoption services to residents of Marin, San Francisco and other Northern California counties.

The society also opened a $375,000 fund drive to construct and equip the new facility at California and Baker streets.

The Golden Gate District of the society last year took 531 children into temporary family care, placed 456 for adoption and counseled 627 parents.

Among the members of the building fund committee are John Hopkins of Mill Valley, John M. Kelly of Kentfield, and Thomas G. Timberlake of Mill Valley.

Israeli Planes Back Over Nile Delta; U.S. Envoy Sees Nasser

Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes raided the Nile Delta today for the first time in five days, hitting an area southwest of Cairo and another in the northeast part of the delta, the Israeli military command announced.

A spokesman said all planes returned safely after hitting military targets about 25 miles southwest of Cairo and at El Manzala, on the shore of Lake Manzala 12 miles southwest of Port Said.

Israel's air force had not been beyond the Suez Canal since last Wednesday, when Egypt claimed that 36 Egyptian schoolchildren were killed in a raid on a village in the northeast delta. Israel said only military targets were hit, and if any schoolchildren were casualties, it was because the Egyptians had them in a military area.

The Israeli command also reported that one of its soldiers was killed in artillery exchanges between Egyptian and Israeli forces in the southern sector of the Suez Canal.

A Jordanian army spokesman announced in Amman that three Jordanian soldiers were killed when Israeli forces opened fire on troops in the Dead Sea area Sunday night. He said Jordanian forces returned the fire and a duel lasted for 80 minutes. Jordanian forces last Thursday ousted Israeli forces from the area, which they had infiltrated in late March.

American sources in Cairo said the U.S. State Department's top man for the Middle East, Asst. Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, had a "cordial" meeting with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser Sunday and that each explained his government's policies "in depth."

It was the first high-level official American contact with Nasser since Sisco's predecessor, Lucius Battle, visited Cairo in the last days of the Johnson administration. Sisco will also visit Israel, Jordan and Lebanon, then meet U.S. ambassadors in the Middle East in Tehran.

Presumably Sisco told Nasser what he told airport newsmen on his arrival—that the United States "supports fully" the U.N. resolution of November 1967 for settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict and supports this "in all its parts, all its provisions and all its principles."

This would include Israeli withdrawal from territory occupied in 1967 as Egypt and other Arab countries demand. It also would mean an end to Arab belligerence against Israel and an Arab agreement to "secure and recognize boundaries" for Israel.

Sisco's meeting with Nasser came on the heels of President Nixon's decision to hold in abeyance further shipments of U.S. Phantom and Skyhawk jets to Israel.

This reflected Washington's own appraisal, echoed by Nasser Sunday night, that Israel still enjoys military superiority in the area.

Nasser apparently felt obliged to make such an admission despite the reported arrival in Egypt of new Soviet-made antiaircraft missiles designed to protect the Egyptian capital and other important areas from low level aerial attack.

Nudes In Early Morning Ride

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A cable car gripman thought it was strange that seven young men and women were draped in blankets as they waited at a corner to board the car.

He was downright upset when they threw off the blankets and charged naked onto the car early Sunday morning in the Fisherman's Wharf area.

"Get off!" he shouted. "eGt off my cable car!"

They did — after a photographer recorded the event for use on posters.

OH GOOD GRIEF, A KITE-EATING TREE

Athens Military Court Hands Out Life Term On Bomb Plot

ATHENS (AP) — A military court sentenced one man to life imprisonment Sunday and 26 others to terms ranging from one to 18 years after finding them guilty of a massive bombing plot against Greece's dictatorship.

Seven of those found guilty were given suspended sentences, while another seven defendants were acquitted of the charges, which stemmed from a rash of bombings in Athens last year.

Six defendants were sentenced to prison terms ranging frob 10 to 18 years, 20 received terms of from one year to eight years. All the sentences were lighter than those asked by the crown prosecutor, who sought the death penalty for five defendants.

Dionysios Karageorgas, a professor of political science at Athens University, showed no emotion as a member of the six-man tribunal read out his sentence of life imprisonment.

Karageorgas lost part of his right hand and injured an eye when an explosion ripped through his Athens home last July. Police said they found bombs and other explosives in the house.

George Mangakis, a law professor at the university, was one of three defendants given 18-year terms.

Karageorgas, Mangakis and nine others retracted confessions during the trial and charged that they had been tortured into signing them. Seven of these eleven defendants were given the heaviest sentences.

George Iordanides, a 69-year-old retired general, was sentenced to eight years for sedition but acquitted of the charge of being the chief of Democratic Defense, the organization that allegedly executed the bombings.

The defendants were all charged with violating Emergency Law 509, which was enacted in 1947 to cope with a Communist-led insurrection. Throughout the trial the defense maintained that none of the defendants was a Communist and that their politics ranged from left of center to conservative. The prosecution insisted they were Communists.

Leaps From Span

A 37-year-old El Cerrito woman leaped to her death from the upper deck of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge last night, the California Highway Patrol has reported.

Officers said personal effects found in the auto, parked in a right westbound lane on the bridge, identified the woman as Joanna Lustig.

Witnesses said the woman stopped the car, at 11:20 p.m., ran from the auto and jumped over the rail, according to the patrol. No note was found.

A Coast Guard cutter was dispatched but its crew was unable to recover the body.

Kirk Retreats On School Order

By ORVAL JACKSON

BRADENTON, Fla (UPI)—Superintendent Jack Davidson regained command of Manatee County's schools today and prepared to implement a desegregation plan Gov. Claude Kirk tried for a week to block.

Tuesday morning, 27,700 elementary school students and 107 teachers in Manatee will attend desegregated schools and many of the students will be bused long distances past their neighborhood schools.

Davidson resumed command of the system after Kirk backed down in the face of a federal court contempt citation and an order to pay a $10,000 fine for every day he defied court orders to desegregate Manatee schools.

"The events of the past week may very well make it more difficult to accept the desegregation plan," Davidson said today. "But at this point, it is the law."

Davidson, who was suspended by Kirk twice last week, said he "felt like a human checker being bounced first one way then another."

Kirk backed down from a head-on clash with the federal court in a statewide television broadcast Sunday in which he said "To disobey the district court's injunction and to pay a fine would not solve the problem."

Kirk flew to New Orleans early today to seek to intervene in an an appeal of the Manatee County desegregation order which is currently pending before the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

In his television address Sunday, Kirk announced he was reinstating Davidson and the county school board and ordering them to implement the desegregation plan on Tuesday.

Kirk's decision came in time to meet U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman's order to comply with "bus now" integration or pay a fine of $10,000 a day for civil contempt of court. Kirk had until today to comply.

Pleading with parents in Manatee County and elsewhere to be patient, Kirk said he would try to get the Manatee plan and all forced busing struck down by the courts. He said the Justice Department has promised its assistance in seeking a permanent remedy through orderly court procedures.

Nader Calls On Students To Join War On Pollution

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Consumer protection crusader Ralph Nader called on college students Sunday to "test whether they can live by what tny believe" by 'joining the fight against pollution.

"Presently a lot of young people have been high on rhetoric, too short on commitment and maybe too hi;h on militancy," Nader told an audience of 3,500 at the University of San Francisco.

Describing pollution as "environmental violence," Nader said, "It's difficult for the common citizen to do much about breaking new ground and therefore we need the leadership of lawyers, doctors and scientists to correct the abuses of industry."

Students, he said, could "help complete the cycle of action that gives knowledge its relevance" by forming student action armies which would get into the community and do battle with the corporations.

Nader attacked the Nixon Administration's war on pollution as a "political gambit that reflects nothing but rhetoric."

Asserting that "economic crimes vastly overshadow street crimes in the United States," Nader charged that "law and order" in the nati9n has been for only one segment of the society.

"What about corporate crimes like price fixing, which is rampant among corporations?" he asked.

"These are auto, drug and building code violations which have cost the consumer millions of dollars and have made a mockery of competive enterprise," he charged.

An Enlightened Student-Parent Rap Session

Approximately 200 students, parents and educators argued, discussed and shared a degree of enlightenment in an all-day "dialogue day" at Redwood High School Saturday.

Young people and their elders frequently clashed, but few were bored in discussions of 11 broad-ranging topics.

A sensitive student nerve was hit in a session on social responsibility when Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., of Marin Municipal Court, proposed banning student cars at high school, citing studies showing a correlation between owning cars and lower grades.

Several students in the group refused to believe it, and opposed the ban. Social responsibility is up to the individual, one girl said, and a ban on cars "doesn't solve anything at all. . .a law doesn't do anything but cause rebellion."

In a session on "youth and the Establishment," a group moderated by Frances Compton and Gerson Jacobs had difficulty getting beyond definition of the terms. A girl explained that youth challenges authority "when we feel authority is wrong and we want to change it." The usual avenues of change are closed because young people don't have the vote, she said.

But only a third of students vote at student elections, a woman objected.

Leaders in student government are all from one clique and ignore others' ideas, a boy said.

When the discussion turned to student movements, one girl explained that people hear of "some student. . .radicals making a lot of noise, and think everybody with long hair is out to burned down colleges and shoot the president, and the whole world is covered with hippies. That isn't the way it is."

"Yes my dear," a woman said patroniziingly, "but we weren't talking about this."

In a discussion on drugs, students told parents that "everyone" at Redwood used marijuana on occasion, meaning some people from all groups, including athletes, students, near-dropouts, short hairs and long hairs.

After the session, one girl complained that adults at the drug panel "only came to confirm what they think is going on, not learn what really is happening."

A main reason for drug use, a girl said, is peer group pressure for acceptance—"and you get your kicks. A lot of people believe they get insights they can't get when they're straight."

In a critique following the panels, participants suggested students take a larger role in planning the next dialogue day, that topics be pinned down more precisely and related more specifically to Redwood, and that sessions go longer than as hour at a time.

The participants were ready for another day-long meeting, but one student expressed a general feeling when he said, "the parents that were down here and the students that were down here aren't the ones that need to be here. They're out playing golf."

Other discussion leaders were Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth on social responsibility; counselor Charles Greenly on college planning; deans Paul Bosque and Emma J. Wulzen on discipline; county chief probation officer John Brewer and drug education director James Kilty on drugs; teacher Duncan MacSwain and counselor Carol Neumeier on Human relations; parent Vaughn Marker on limit setting and home discipline; dean Richard Frakes on counseling; science teacher Rudy Genetti on curriculum and innovations, and MacSwain and Mrs. Neumeier on sex education.

Laundromat Zone Request Is Delayed

Commercial zoning for a laundromat at Dillon Beach should be held up until further studies are made on the entire beach area, the Marin County Planning Commission decided this morning.

Merle Lawson asked for rezoning of a two-acre block of land at the extension of Cliff Street, next to the Pacific Marine station. He wants commercial zoning primarily for a coin-operated laundry to be used by patrons of Lawson's landing to the south, residents of Dillon Beach and Oceana Marin to the north, and students and faculty of the marine station.

Planner Ross Parkerson recommended against the rezoning. He said the logical place would be at the intersection of Cypress Avenue and Cliff Street, which is already zoned commercial.

Lawson replied that this would be in the middle of the present parking area for the beach.

On a motion by Hugh Dougherty, commissioners postponed a decision until May 25 and asked acting planning director Werner Von Gundell to see whether the commercial area should be shifted.

Huntley Says He's Optimistic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — NBC Television newsman Chet Huntley says he is optimistic about America's racial problems and the country's dissident youth.

Huntley delivered the keynote address Sunday to about 3,000 delegates at the opening session of a four-day meeting of the California Dental Association.

Government and big business will be profoundly changed as young people move in to executive positions in these areas, Huntley predicted.

He said today's young people possess an "astonishing degree of idealism," and although they sometimes use "shocking methods, I am still confident they will turn out all right."

He described the country's racial problem as "the most serious domestic crisis," and called upon the white majority to "cleanse itself of the last traces of racism."

"We will yet be the first people on the face of this planet anywhere to develop a prosperous, multiracial society," he predicted.

Author John O'Hara Dies; Rites Thursday

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Ernest Gordon, chaplain of Princeton University, will officiate Thursday at funeral services for author John O'Hara in the university chapel.

O'Hara died of a heart attack in his sleep Saturday at his home of the past 21 years, Linebrook, on the outskirts of this college town. He was 65.

The writer came to fame at 29 with the publication of his first novel, "Appointment in Samarra." Some of his other better known works were "Butterfield 8," "Ten North Frederick" and "From the Terrace." The musical "Pal Joey" was developed from an O'Hara short story.

Born in Pottsville, Pa., he was one of eight children of a doctor and drew on his family experiences for the book "The Doctor's Son." He started as a reporter on the Pottsville Journal at 19 and worked on New York newspapers and the New Yorker magazine before making good as a novelist.

Firm Is Looted

Objection To Federal Pay Clause

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final congressional action on a 6 per cent across-the-board pay raise for federal employes was delayed today by an opponent to a provision including congressional employes in the pay boost.

Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., objected to suspending House rules to quickly send the bill to President Nixon. He said it gives what he called a "free ride" to House and Senate employes on a pay raise intended primarily to benefit postal and other low-paid federal workers.

Jacobs' objection required backers of the bill to go through the formal procedure of having the House Rules Committee schedule floor action on the bill.

The bill, which had been expected to go to Nixon last week, would raise pay for 5.6 million postal and other federal employes, including servicemen.

Both the House and Senate passed the bill last week but bounced it back and forth with minor technical amendments. And on the last bounce Thursday the House had already adjourned and thus could not take final action.

Pinkerton Hits School Busing

Don Pinkerton, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, has declared his opposition to mandatory busing of school children to achieve racial integration of schools.

Pinkerton, speaking at a Friday coffee at the Kentfield home of William L. Curley, said mandatory busing just meant taking away education dollars to pay for gasoline. "We simply can't afford such a needless shift of precious money," the Fairfield mayor said.

"Schools in California must offer educational equality for all races and colors," Pinkerton said.

Guerrillas Slay Uruguayan Cop

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Hector Moran Charquero, head of the police intelligence department, was shot to death this morning by unknown persons who machine-gunned his car, police sources said.

The attack took place near Rodo Park, in Montevideo, while Moran Charquero was driving his car.

Police said the attack could be the work of the Tupamaros urban guerrillas, a left-wing organization active since 1963.

Moran Charquero was prominent in the repression of the Tupamaros, bitter foes of President Jorge Pacheco Areco, who have staged hold ups, kidnapings and other hostile acts against the present administration.

Clausen Wants Shasta Daisy As U.S. Flower

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, urging Congress to join him in "a true demonstration of flower power," has introduced a bill to name the Shasta Daisy America's national flower.

The Shasta Daisy is the only genuine American flower that grows well in all 50 states, and was created by Luther Burbank from specimens collected throughout the nation, he said.

Clausen promised a nationwide campaign to get school children throughout the country to support his bill with a letter-writing campaign.

"We are one of the very few countries in the world without a national flower," Clausen saiid, "and people are starting to ask why."

Red Ships Off Norwegian Coast

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Norwegian defense staff reported today that unusual Soviet naval activity has developed off the coast in the Norwegian Sea and the North Sea in the past few days.

Involved are about 30 vessels from Soviet naval bases in the North Sea and in the Baltic. They are now moving westward after sailing relatively near the Norwegian coast, a defense staff spokesman said.

Thus far the Soviet fleet has carried out tactical and convoy maneuvers.

The official announcement said an unusually large number of supply ships is taking part, among them eight tankers, The fleet also consists of cruisers, destroyers, mine sweepers, submarines, maintenance ships and intelligence vessels.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Wednesday Is Deadline For Both Federal And State Income Taxes

If you have not already filed your 1969 income tax returns, then be sure to get the returns in the mail right now so it will be postmarked not later than Wednesday, April 15, 1970.

While your return is actually supposed to be in the hands of the government not later than April 15, the government has always accepted mailing by April 15 without penalty.

If for some reason beyond your control it is impossible for you to complete your income tax returns for filing by midnight, Wednesday, April 15, then request an extension of time in which to file the returns. Extensions are usually granted for a sixty day period: although they may grant an extension for as long as six months, if the circumstances warrant.

FORMS OR LETTER

You can get forms at your local office of IRS and Franchise Tax Board. All requests for extensions should be on these forms. Two copies of the Federal and three copies of the state forms are necessary. However, if you are unable to secure the forms, a letter will do.

Your application for the extension should clearly set forth the full cause of the delay and the probable time that you will be able to complete your return.

It should give your full name, social security number and address as it will appear on your tax return when you do file.

OTHERS CAN SIGN

If, by reason of illness, absence or other good reason, you are unable to sign this request, then any person in close business or personal relationship with you may do so, provided the reason and relationship are clearly stated. In such case, the signer of the request will be considered your duly authorized agent for this purpose.

Extensions are usually granted for a good reason, such as illness, accidents, inability to secure all the facts necessary to complete your return, etc.

CAN'T PAY?

Extensions are never granted because you are unable to pay the tax. If you cannot pay the tax due, file your return anyway.

Uncle Sam will send you a bill and you will have to pay it sooner or later. He will charge you 6 per cent interest, and there will be a penalty of ½ of 1 per month up to a maximum of 25 per cent.

Also, if you do not file your return on time, Uncle Sam may charge you an additional 5 per cent for each month that your return is late, up to a maximum of 25 per cent. This charge is only applied if you were negligent. It is a lot better to file the return even if you can't pay the tax.

We hope these articles have helped you with your income taxes in some way. It has been a pleasure to write them and have you read them. We hope to see you again next year in the columns of this newspaper.

Seeger Asks Approval Of Mount Tam Land Pact

William R. Seeger, general manager of the Marin Municipal Water District, will ask the district board tomorrow to approve a compromise settlement of a dispute over ownership of land on Mount Tamalpais.

An agreement had been worked out between the district and Laurence M. Symmes Jr., of 309 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley and presented to the board at its March 11 meeting, but final action was postponed for 90 days at the request of representatives of the Marin Conservation League, who did not want the district to compromise its claim to the land.

The dispute is over the ownership of a 100-foot abandoned railroad right-of-way on the southern face of the mountain.

Seeger said yesterday that he will ask the board to waive the 90-day postponement and approve the compromise because Symmes has threatened to take the dispute to court if a settlement is not reached soon.

The board will also award a contract for janitorial service for the district office and grounds. Bids were opened at the board's last meeting, but held for review and analysis.

The meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m. at the district office, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera.

Historic FDR Home Doomed

HONOLULU (AP) — President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Waikiki White House has been doomed to the bulldozers as an eyesore.

Despite a long and bitter fight to preserve it, the half-century-old mansion—now a popular night club—will be torn down May 31.

Built on land that once belonged to Queen Liliuokalani, the structure now housing the Queen's Surf restaurant will be removed to make room for a public beach park.

Army reports published after World War II noted it was here in July 1944 that Gen. Douglas MacArthur convinced President Roosevelt that the Philippines should not be bypassed for an invasion of China and Formosa.

During the three-day meeting with Roosevelt and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and other Pacific military leaders, MacArthur was successful in canceling these plans so he could make good his pledge at Bataan, "I shall return."

Marijuana Suspect Faces Other Charges

Rae Don Hirsh of San Rafael was charged Friday in Marin Municipal Court with two felony counts of possessing checks with intent to defraud others on March 10 and 11.

The case was continued to April 21, when she is also slated for a preliminary hearing on charges of selling marijuana and amphetamine in November 1968.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Common Stock Purchases Can Satisfy Keogh Act

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in setting up a retirement plan under the Keogh Act but do not want a mutual fund, retirement bonds or an annuity. What I would like to do is buy common stock for retirement. Is this possible?—T.O.

A. Yes, a common stock investment program can be set up which will qualify under the Self-Employed Individuals Tax Retirement Act of 1962, as amended. The program is handled through a participating brokerage firm with a bank acting as trustee. For the individual needing guidance in his investments, this type of program can be arranged through some investment management firms.

In order to qualify for special tax treatment, your plan must fulfill the requirements of Internal Revenue Code 401 and 501. You will also be required to enter into several legal agreements. Because the Keogh Act is complex and implementation of a plan is complicated, you should seek legal assistance before starting any plan.

Q. Should I sell Stanray bought at the 1969 high? Are there any prospects of recovery?—K.H.

A. While downside risk at recent depressed levels appears minimal, recovery may be held back by restrictive economic conditions over the next several months. If, however, you are willing to wait it out, Stanray appears to have a number of factors in its favor. An increased level of orders for loading ramps and other equipment for the Boeing 747 has pushed backlog to capacity.

Sales this year of Stanray's structural steel fabricating division for $3 million will finance a doubling of capacity in the company's ground support equipment operations.

Phone Giant Woos Investors' Wallets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ma Bell's children—all 3.1 million of them—are being showered down with millions of rights, debentures, warrants, and common stock as part of the giant telephone company's drive to raise about $1.57 billion in debt capital and about that much in new equity capital.

The king-sized money-raising program, which runs until May 15, 1975, started Friday when holders of the 549 million common shares of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. were credited with 549 million "rights" on basis of one right for each common share held of record April 10.

Rights constitute a device which, initially at least, limit the opportunity to purchase new securities to existing stockholders. In this case, the rights permit Ma Bell's children to buy a package of one $100 debenture and two warrants, or options to buy stock during a stipulated period.

Rights, however, have a value of their own more often than not, and the recipient stockholder can either exercise them, sell them, or let them lapse. Thus the debenture-warrant package can be purchased by other AT&T stockholders.

The AT&T package requires 35 rights and the payment of $100. That means the telephone company will be issuing up to 15.7 million $100 debentures, if public acceptance is up to expectations, to raise the first $1.57 billion in new financing it is after.

Along with those 15.7 million $100 debentures, Ma Bell will be issuing about 31.4 million warrants.

A warrant is, in one sense, a long-term right to purchase a security from its issuer under stipulated terms. AT&T's rights offering, for instance, expires May 18, 1970. But the warrants to buy common stock, on the basis of one share for each warrant, will be exercisable between Nov. 15, 1970 and May 15, 1975.

The rights, the warrants, and the debentures, like other AT&T securities, can be traded on the New York Stock Exchange. The big board recently altered its long-standing opposition to listing warrants for trading. The AT&T warrants will be the first traded on the exchange in about 50 years.

Zunino Calls For A Night Court

The establishment of a night court in Marin County for small claims, traffic violations and preliminary hearings has been proposed by Ernest C. Zunino, candidate for Municipal Court judge in the June 2 election.

Zunino said many working persons and families are inconvenienced by appearing during the day on small claims and traffic citations. He said at the same time, police and attorneys are waiting around for cases.

"By rearranging calendars of the court," Zunino said, "we gain more effectiveness of the courts and provide greater convenience to those the courts serve."

Two Missing Youths Walk To Safety

Two 17-year-old San Francisco youths reported missing Saturday night in the Alpine Dam-Carson Falls area, walked out yesterday morning.

Sheriff's deputies received a report at 9:45 p.m. Saturday that Michael J. Wong, 17, of 1054 Clay Street, and Robert Lim, 17, of 1046 Grant Avenue, had missed a rendevous with classmates and were presumed lost on the Marin Municipal Water District lands.

Thomas Briggs, a teacher told deputies he had taken a class on a field trip to the area at 8 a.m. Saturday, and the two boys left the group at 11 a.m. They were to join the class at 1 p.m., but didn't he said.

He left a note for the boys at the rendevous point, and took their classmates back to San Francisco, deputies said.

When he returned the note was gone, but there wasn't any trace of the two boys. Two deputies searched the area, but a full scale search wasn't called pending developments yesterday morning.

Deputies got word at 9:20 a.m. that the two boys had walked back to the starting point of the outing and had gotten a ride to the Meadow Club, nera Fairfax.

Man Apparently Leaps To Death

A 42-year-old San Francisco man apparently jumped to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge sometime Thursday, the California Highway Patrol has reported.

Officers were notified Saturday that a late model car belonging to Robert Donnelly, 1855 Sacramento Street, had been parked in one of the bridge's northern parking lots since Thursday morning.

Investigating officers found three letters addressed to friends, a suicide note and a wallet, watch, briefcase, sweater and sports coat belonging to Donnelly in the car.

The highway patrol said a friend of Donnelly's told them he had been despondent since the murder of a former roommate earlier this year, but could give no details.

Astronaut Forgets To File Tax Return

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Like many another American, John L. Swigert Jr. put off filing his income tax.

As a bachelor earning $20,385 a year the reason might have been just a delay in paying the large chunk of money due and, anyway, he was busy helping friends prepare for a long trip, April 15, after all, was still several days away.

But at the last minute something happened to make one friend miss the trip and Swigert went instead.

He went so fast, that not only did the income tax slip his mind, he also forgot to take a card that outlined some very important plans for the trip.

Then, on Sunday, came the revelation. It was akin to the situation of many a traveler who remembers, halfway to the seashore, that he left his wallet on the kitchen table.

By this time he was halfway to the moon on Apollo 13.

Somewhat sheepishly, Swigert asked if he could have some flight plan changes read up to him.

"I think that I forgot and left that card back during the suiting," he said. "I left it in the suit room."

Later, Swigert and the other two astronauts were having the day's news read to them when came an item that began: "Today's favorite pastime across the U.S. . . ."

Capsule communicator Joseph Kerwin reading the item, stopped and said: "Oh, oh, have you guys filed your income tax yet?"

It was one of those light remarks that always pass between ground and spacecraft to break the monotony of the inteminable numbers that are passed verbally back and forth.

"How do I apply for an extension?" said Swigert, suddenly alert. There was a lot of laughter.

"Hey listen," said Swigert, "that's not funny. Things kinda happened real fast down there and I do need an extension. I didn't get mine filed."

More laughter.

'Avoid Drugs If Pregnant'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The European scientist who first warned the world of the baby-deforming dangers of thalidomide says that women who know they may be pregnant should temporarily avoid most medical drugs.

Dr. Widukind Lenz said such women should take this precaution on the chance that some such drugs might be still-unrecognized potential deformers of unborn children—as thalidomide proved to be in some 10,000 cases during 1961-63.

Lenz, director of the Institute of Human Genetics at the University of Munster, West Germany, made the recommendation Thursday in addressing a symposium on "Clinical Aspects of Inherited Disorders" at the University of Alabama Medical Center.

Lenz was the first scientist to link certain monstrous deformities in newborn babes to thalidomide—a drug which had been administered to thousands of women as a tranquilizer during pregnancy.

Lenz led up to his recommendation on avoidance of other medical drugs by saying that it has not yet been definitely determined whether the hallucinogenic drug LSD, if taken by a pregnant woman, can deform the child in her womb.

He added: "The same is true for many other drugs. For the time being, then, women who do not know for certain that they are not pregnant should avoid drugs which are not absolutely necessary — that is, they should avoid most drugs."

At the same symposium, Dr. Henry T. Lynch of Omaha, Neb., said there is growing evidence that many of mankind's most common cancers—such as malignancies of the breast, colon, stomach, and the lining of the womb—"appear to be under genetic (hereditary) control to a certain extent."

Lynch, of Creighton University School of Medicine, told a reporter, in amplifying on his technical report, that the evidence suggests, for example, that:

—When a female has breast cancer, there's a 17 per cent chance that a "first-degree relative"—mother, sister, or female offspring—will also have it ultimately. This is almost three times the risk for the female population generally.

—The risk of cancer of the lining of the womb, and cancer of the colon—which affects both males and females—is much higher, about 50 per cent, on this same heredity-linked basis.

'The Midi Is The Only Look'

BLACK AND MIDI

Colors are out, and legs are in—inside the skirts, that is, in this year's Italian fall and winter ready-to-wear shows. This midi cocktail dress in black chiffon by Tita Ross is typical of the rage that has engulfed this year's Italian designers.

(UPI Cablephoto)

By NADEANE WALKER

FLORENCE (AP) — Relief that Italian fashion designers have finally come together on the hemline issue seems to be the strongest reaction of buyers who poured into Florence from nearly 20 countries this week.

The ready-to-wear shows for next fall and winter went overwhelmingly for the long midi.

"The midi is the only look right now. It's good for the industry. It will definitely sell to the public," declared Mrs. Marilyn Scott, merchandising and creative director of Magnin.

Report Horowitz of the big Houston store said if the long length was merchandised properly, public antagonism would be overcome.

"It's got to be longer," he said, "but I don't think women who've already worn it years ago will wear the mid-calf skirt again. It must be at the top or the bottom of the calf, with boots and big hats. Those little skull caps (which were shown widely) are all wrong."

Horowitz said "stores should put different lengths in special areas of the shop, merchandise by taste levels, or the long length will drop dead."

Opinion was not always favorable. Some buyers, like Mrs. Jerry Nagley of the Skirt and Sweater Shop, Toronto, were more indignant than resigned.

"My general impression," she snapped, "is that fashion is being killed by making beautiful young girls look old. It's an insult to the intelligence of women to have the designers go all out as a group to make women look ugly. We've got no choice on the long look, but that's all wrong. Maybe this is the one time women will revolt."

She admitted, however, "We will sell the long skirt, but we've got to make it more graceful and wearable. The accessories and clumpy shoes we've seen here are not attractive."

A representative of Macy's Italian buying office took a cautious line.

"Macy's is rather conservative, and may not go that long," he said. "We feel it's for a special clientele or the boutiques, but I believe it will sell as well in America as it sells in Italy."

He liked the knitwear shows, but grumbled about high prices.

Mrs. Nan Brunner of the Australian Wool Board, here from Melbourne to analyze emerging trends, said: "The midi is already selling in Australia, and by the end of the winter I think it will be very acceptable."

As for Gaucho pants, both Horowitz and Mrs. Scott said they would be adopted by "the women who will wear midis today, the fashionable."

Horowitz explained: "The woman who likes pants will buy the gaucho, especially if it is cut to look like a divided skirt. We've bought it, and we've bought the gypsy for our harem department, and expect women of 50 as well as the young ones to wear it."

Vera Colitti, who runs the Eleganza boutique of Millburn, N.J., was not so sure.

"The American woman wants to be more feminine than she can be in gauchos or knickerbockers," she said. "I'm tired of the teenager look in fashion, but so far there is a poor reaction to long skirts. The best of the Italian clothes are the simplest, the knitwear and the colors."

HELEN HELP US!

Thousands Of Votes Show The Midi Hasn't A Chance

DEAR READERS:

I'm sure you didn't cause the recent postal strike. But it's a strange coincidence that the very day after I asked for a flood of votes against the "miserable midi," New York mail stopped moving.

Since my reader mail is routed through New York and therefore got caught in the pile-up, your votes might have reached me faster by pony express. However, they've been arriving by the thousands these past two weeks—and, judging by your irate remarks, the midi skirt hasn't a chance.

Some examples:

DEAR HELEN:

There is nothing more hideous.

Than the dumb, stupid midi!—US. (Signed by 215 employees of a San Francisco Bay Area telephone company.)

DEAR HELEN:

If we women will just hang together and refuse to wear those awful 10-inch-below-the-knee monstrosities, they'll go the way of the "sack" Paris tried to foist on us a few years ago. I'm not for micro-minis, but I love the freedom of the knee-length or above (depending on age, shape, and husband's preference)—MRS. T. W.

DEAR HELEN:

Count me a full-fledged member of the "We Won't Wear Midis" club. I, too, have suffered through those knee-clinging, granny-looking horrors. They are uncomfortable, unbecoming, and every other "un" word including unsafe in this fast-moving world. Think what might happen if you caught one in a bus door.—M. R.

DEAR HELEN:

At least 99.44 per cent of the men enjoy seeing shapely women's legs, including their knees. And we guess a like percentage of the gals like to show them.—(Signed by 11 men).

DEAR MEN:

Here's one who doesn't—the only vote so far against the mini:

DEAR HELEN:

What's the matter with the midi? It's better than looking at fat knees or bony legs that hang from the hips like bamboo reeds on an oriental wind chime. I'm tired of watching girls try to hold their knees together, only to expose their upper hips. When they lift their arms, or bend, it's show-time, and sitting down is hazardous. Besides, those seats are cold.—WELCOME MIDI

DEAR HELEN:

Minimize — the mini
Get rid of — the midi.
X out — the maxi.
Give us — the mid-knee.—MARY L.

DEAR HELEN:

With every depression, skirts have lengthened. With every prosperous period, skirts have shortened. If holding the line (somewhere above the knee) will ward off a recession, I'll gladly sacrifice 10 ugly inches of material.—PATRIOT

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter can't afford a whole new wardrobe and college too. Moreover, if the midis caught on, those clunky shoes that look cute with short skirts would make the spinster look complete. More expense for footwear. We won't buy.—MA

DEAR HELEN:

I speak for every teen-ager I know (and half of them have signed this letter). You won't catch us dead in midis—and nothing will change our minds—TEEN

P. S. The guys agree with us. Note to readers: Keep sending your votes against the midi to Helen Bottel, care of this newspaper. They'll be forwarded to POOFF (Preservation of Our Feminity and Finances) an organization pledged to keep skirts riding high.—H.

And here's an eminently sane male point of view:

DEAR HELEN:

In your March 17th column, you should have said, "If you gals will hold the line (where it is becoming to you), you can keep mostly-male fashion designers from foisting (any uniform style) upon you. You don't need to be sheep you know." The parentheses are mine, the other statements yours.

Seriously, millions of women look ridiculous and show off their very worst features by slavishly wearing mini skirts when their legs aren't built for them. Some who look terrible with skirts two inches above the knee look wonderful with them six or eight inches above. Some look ghastly with anything above the calf showing at all, yet are very graceful when covered to that level.

The real point you should be hammering home, Helen, is that women must stop being sheep at any level and stick to whatever best serves their individual figures, feet, heads, etc.—EUGENE P.

So. . .rise up, women of the world. Wear what pleases you most, even if (especially if) it's a five-year-old favorite. And remember, clothes make the women—look idiotic, if she becomes a slave to fashion.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

SMART SHOPPER

You Can't Make Money On Ordinary Life Insurance

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — The next time a life insurance salesman says you can "make" money on straight or ordinary life insurance if you simply stay alive and make regular payments for a long enough time, don't believe him.

He may honestly believe it, but it is simply not true.

Life insurance companies and agents have struck gold with a deceptive gimmick, a set of figures, that makes it appear as if these companies are so public spirited that they will wind up paying you more than you pay them over the years for the privilege of protecting your family with a sizeable sum in case of your death.

Other companies will admit that there must be a net cost to the policyholder but then cite increases of cash value in the area of 40 or 50 percent of the amount paid in premiums per year.

These claims are also deceptive and misleading. No matter what the salesman or the advertisement says, rest assured that life insurance, like any other consumer service, will cost money and plenty of it. No insurance company is in business for charity or giving money away.

And no company is going to give you a return of even 4 or 5 per cent, not to mention 40 or 50 per cent.

Life insurance is confusing enough without adding any misleading statements from companies and agents who should know better. Companies that imply dividends and cash values will total more than premiums paid over the years hide a very important factor:

The interest earned on the money you pay in excess of the actual cost of protection.

Life insurance companies use this excess in premiums to invest in such things as real estate and bonds. They then return a portion of their return to policyholders in the form of policy dividends and cash values.

The companies thus profit in two ways: first, by charging more for pure protection than they actually pay out in death benefits and, second, by keeping most of the return that your own premiums earn.

Yet some companies turn around and tell potential policyholders that they either get something for nothing or that returns are in the neighborhood of 40 to 50 percent just because the accumulated interest on previous excess premiums is that much more than one year's premiums.

For most persons, except those in older age brackets, the best buy is term insurance. With it, you pay only for pure protection, plus a profit to the company for handling it.

If what you want is an investment, you can get a greater return on your money almost anywhere but in life insurance premiums.

THE BETTER HALF — By Bob Barnes

"Care for an Unidentified Frying Object?"

Suggest Rabbits To Nourish Cells

LONDON (AP) — Two test-tube baby specialists suggested they may use rabbits to nourish human egg cells.

The specialists, who aim to help infertile couples have children, are Dr. Patrick Steptoe and Dr. R.G. Edwards.

They first recover egg cells from the wife, then fertilize them with the husband's sperm in the laboratory.

Their original plans were to let the egg cells mature in the test-tube, after which they would be implanted in the wife's womb.

Maturing the egg cells in the test-tube, however, poses serious problems.

These problems might be overcome by using a rabbit instead at a certain stage, Steptoe and Edwards wrote in a report to the Lancet, a British medical publication.

They explained that the cells might be nourished in the rabbit's oviduct—the tube connecting ovary and womb.

"The control of the preimplantation development of human embryos can now be attempted with improved chances of success," they wrote, "should difficulties arise, the rabbit oviduct might nourish human eggs, especially from the two-celled stage, as it does with other species."

At least 50 women are believed to be on Dr. Steptoe's waiting list for test tube baby implants.

One, 34-year-old Mrs. Sylvia Allen, childless after seven years of marriage, has had eggs taken from her womb and fertilized in the laboratory.

FIRST ACTION

West led the king of hearts and continued with the ace. South ruffed with conviction, drew a round of trumps with the king, led to the ace of clubs and returned a club from dummy. If he could set up the clubs, perhaps he would never have to worry about the diamonds.

Unfortunately for our virtuous South, East took the second round of clubs and returned the queen of diamonds. Naturally South had to lose two diamond tricks. Down one.

SKEPTIC'S TRIUMPH

If South had been a skeptic he might have made his contract. Declarer should not ruff the ace of hearts at the second trick. Instead, he should discard a club. This merely gives the opponents a heart trick instead of a club.

West promptly shifts to a club, taken by dummy's ace. South ruffs another club. When the clubs break favorably, South can enter dummy with a trump to discard two diamonds on the two good clubs.

NOTHING DIFFICULT

Not a single play in this hand is difficult, but only one player in a thousand would make this kind of contract. We are all too quick to ruff as soon as an opponent leads our void suit.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠ - A 9 7 3
♥ - Q J
♦ - 5 4
♣ - A 8 7 6 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

If you count the Q-J of hearts as three points in high cards and also as one point for the doubleton, you have nearly enough to open the bidding, but this is a gross overvaluation. Subtract at least one point for doubleton queens or jacks.

Mill Valley Firemen Set Annual Dance

The Mill Valley Volunteer Firemen's association has set its 75th ball for July 18 at 9 p.m. at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club, according to Roy A. Bernard, spokesman.

The association, meeting Thursday, also heard a report that restoration of the 1924 American La France fire truck is proceeding. The group approved purchase of an insurance policy for the old truck, Bernard said.

Students Gassed

PARIS (UPI)—Police used tear gas in Paris and Grenoble to break up demonstrations by students who showered them with rocks and bottles Friday.

The student demonstrations followed an announcement by Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas to parliament of a government bill to curb street and university violence.

Fill Checks For Creeks Are Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to extend bay fill controls up six "vital" tributaries, including some in Marin and Sonoma, has been introduced by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose.

His bill would empower the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission to protect marshland upstream of the bay that haw been designated by the commission's plan as of more than customary ecological value.

Among the six tributaries spelled out in the bill were the Petaluma River to the mouth of Adobe Creek, San Antonio Creek to the railroad right-of-way, Tolay Creek in Sonoma to Highway 37, and the Napa River to the northernmost point of Bull Island. Others were in San Mateo and Alameda counties.

The bill reportedly was asked by North Bay conservationists.

Jurisdiction over these waters originally was in the 1969 bill that made the BCDC a permanent agency, but was thrown out by the Seante.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and other opponents of the 1969 bill, objected that this provision could start pushing the commission's power up the Sacramento River. Jurisdiction limited to the mouths of bay tributaries.

MUSIC REVIEW

Bad Seating Mars A Good Performance

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

French maestro Jean Martinon conducting the San Francisco Symphony, French pianist Philippe Entremont and an all-French program added up Saturday night to a musical experience marked by most of the virtues of French music.

In this second of the symphony's three-concert Marin Series at Terra Linda High School gymnasium there was sparkling lucidity and balance, elegance, grace and plenty of theatrical excitement, but all was not well.

Assurances had been given that a stage—its lack a so-called last minute fiasco at the first concert—would be provided for this concert, but incredibly it was not. Again people seated in the most expensive seats on the flat floor saw nothing and were very angry.

I could not learn the reason this time, but it does seem if the Marin Symphony can get risers, the San Francisco orchestra could have managed something to make players visible.

In the French romantic spirit rather than the French classical style, the program consisting of works by masters of orchestration—Berlioz, Ravel, Saint Saens and Martinon himself—showed off all the instrumental resources of a big orchestra, except in the Saint Saens concerto No. 2 in G minor, when it was reduced to focus attention on the piano soloist.

Even Martinon's own symphony No. 4, though characterized by contemporary departure from symphonic form and some modern sounding harmonies and rhythms, was in the romantic spirit.

Titled "Les Altitudes" (The Heights), it expressed man's aspirations to conquer not only obstacles of this planet but the cosmos itself. Though sections were named to suggest programmatic description of scenes and sounds—"The Gateway to the Stars," "The Vertical Garden," and "The Crossing of the Gods"—they were actually translations of moods into sound. Judged as such, the work was very successful.

It conjured emotional effects one might encounter on scaling a lofty mountain under tempestuous atmospheric conditions or on venturing into the unknown void of space. It was a very difficult work which tested the orchestra's mettle, and one had the feeling more performances would be needed for a perfect reading.

As expected, Entremont dazzled with a virtuoso performance of the popular virtuoso Saint Saens concerto. The opening bars had too much pedal, but this was corrected, and apart from a bad horn passage in the middle movement, the total performance was delightful.

The opening number, the overture to Berlioz's "Beatrice and Benedict" and finale, the suite No. 2 from Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe" ballet, were beautifully performed with the latter achieving some truly thrilling sonority.

Two Choral Units Will Give Concert

The Winifred Baker Chorale will join the San Francisco Civic Chorale to present a varied program under the direction of Winifred Baker at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Angelico Hall, Dominican College.

It will be the third in a series of programs during the weeklong spring festival of the performing arts on the San Rafael campus.

Opening the concert will be the "Kyrie" from Vivaldi's Chamber Mass, sung by the Winifred Baker Chorale with guest soloists Gwen Curatilo, soprano, and Mildred Owen, alto.

The San Francisco Chorale will sing Beethoven's Mass in C with guest soprano and alto joined by Edward Jameson, tenor, and James Tippey, bass. Organist John Klobucar will accompany the two works.

About 150 voices from the two choral groups will perform the West Coast premiere of Hans Werner Henze's "Moralities," a musical setting of W.H. Auden's version of three of Aesop's fables. Tippey will be soloist with Jameson as narrator. Piano accompaniment will be played by Robaline Meacham and Judith Storss.

Campaign Aide

Charles Michals of Greenbrae, past chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, has been named chairman of the Bay Area executive committee of the Deukmejian for Attorney General Committee. Michals was vice chairman of the Marin County Reagan for Governor Committee in 1966, and an alternate delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1968.

Nixon Motors Back To The White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon returned by car in bright spring weather Sunday from an overnight stay with his Florida friend and neighbor C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo at Camp David, the presidential lodge in the Catectin mountains of Maryland.

The 70-mile automobile drive was as a surprise. The two men had gone to Camp David by helictopter and had been expected to return the same way.

Opening Of McNears Beach To Be Eyed

The opening date of McNears Beach and the question of financing a proposed tennis-swim center will be among topics to be discussed tomorrow at a joint meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors and parks and recreation commission.

The meeting will start at 9 a.m. in room 400 of the Civic Center.

The commission will also ask for a clarification of its relationship with the county supervisors. Several commissioners have complained that their recommendations are often ignored.

After the joint meeting, the supervisors will reconvene in the board of supervisors chambers at 10:30 a.m. to face a heavy agenda.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will ask for criminal action against loggers on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge, where fires were allegedly left burning unattended.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will make several recommendations, including abolition of six and one-half positions on the county payroll and extending the terms of two at-large members of the Marin County Planning Commission in line with changes made in the terms of the five other planning commissioners.

The terms of Walter F. Freitas and Michael Praszker, at-large members, will expire on April 20. Bruce will recommend that their terms be extended to expire on July 1, 1971, six months after a new board of supervisors takes office.

Other major items on tre supervisors' agenda included these:

HEALTH SERVICES—An ordinance setting new fees and eligibility standards for services provided by the county health department. The county administrator will recommend that the question of fees for child health conferences be deferred until the June budget discussions.

PEDDLING — An Ordinance to control roadside peddling.

HOUSEBOATS—County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will report a continued increase in violations of the houseboat and marina ordinances in Richardson Bay.

NUISANCE—Abatement of a home that slid off its foundation at 1123 California Avenue, Mill Valley.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS—Discussion of priorities in the capital improvements program presented by the county administrator. Requests will be made for a speed-up in work on the Miller Avenue Extension, new junior boys' dormitory at Juvenile Hall, new library in Fairfax and widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

AVIATION—The aviation commission will submit its recommendation for a limited civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Pastor Calls White House For Safety In Vote Fuss

LUDOWICI, Ga. (AP) — A minister whose home was fired on in a shotgun attack during the night says he has called on the White House to request the Justice Department to step into the Long County dispute.

The Rev. Raymond Cook, a Methodist minister and personal friend of Gov. Lester Maddox, said the blast shattered a window and narrowly missed him about 2:45 a.m. Sunday.

The state police force, including about 30 state troopers and agents of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, was ordered into the area Sunday by Maddox.

The governor indicated he was considering a declaration of martial law both for Ludowici and Long County.

Cook said he telephoned the White House today, and asked a presidential aide to request the Justice Department to intervene.

He said he appealed for "free and honest elections" and again asked Maddox to declare martial law in the county.

Maddox said earlier, "I would hope that I do not have to take that drastic action. However, if I determine in my judgment it is necessary, I would not hesitate . . ."

Dominican Set For 'Happening'

Dominican College students will present an original production entitled, "In Just Spring: A Happening," featuring poetry, music and dance, Thursday at 8 p.m. and again at 2 and 4 p.m. Sunday in the theater at Meadowlands Hall on the San Rafael campus.

The production is directed by Barbara Love and Elizabeth Sennett. The cast includes Jomar Lococo of Corte Madera, Leslie Stephens and Cynthia Mobraaten of San Rafael, Lorie Philobosian, Novato, and Dotti Cavanaugh, Gail Landtbom, Maryanne Purcell, Christine Kilkenny, Julie Ramaciotti, Judi Waters, Christine Lussier, Linda Thyne, Susan Shepard, Margery Hume, Margaret Morgan, Patrice Hume and Doreen Isa.

Admission is free.

FIRST ACTION

West led the king of hearts and continued with the ace. South ruffed with conviction, drew a round of trumps with the king, led to the ace of clubs and returned a club from dummy. If he could set up the clubs, perhaps he would never have to worry about the diamonds.

Unfortunately for our virtuous South, East took the second round of clubs and returned the queen of diamonds. Naturally South had to lose two diamond tricks. Down one.

SKEPTIC'S TRIUMPH

If South had been a skeptic he might have made his contract. Declarer should not ruff the ace of hearts at the second trick. Instead, he should discard a club. This merely gives the opponents a heart trick instead of a club.

West promptly shifts to a club, taken by dummy's ace. South ruffs another club. When the clubs break favorably, South can enter dummy with a trump to discard two diamonds on the two good clubs.

NOTHING DIFFICULT

Not a single play in this hand is difficult, but only one player in a thousand would make this kind of contract. We are all too quick to ruff as soon as an opponent leads our void suit.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:

♠- A 9 7 3
♥- Q J
♦- 5 4
♣- A 8 7 6 4.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

If you count the Q-J of hearts as three points in high cards and also as one point for the doubleton, you have nearly enough to open the bidding, but this is a gross overvaluation. Subtract at least one point for doubleton queens or jacks.

Mill Valley Firemen Set Annual Dance

The Mill Valley Volunteer Firemen's association has set its 75th ball for July 18 at 9 p.m. at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club, according to Roy A. Bernard, spokesman.

The association, meeting Thursday, also heard a report that restoration of the 1924 American La France fire truck is proceeding. The group approved purchase of an insurance policy for the old truck, Bernard said.

Students Gassed

PARIS (UPI)—Police used tear gas in Paris and Grenoble to break up demonstrations by students who showered them with rocks and botties Friday.

The student demonstrations followed an announcement by Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas to parliament of a government bill to curb street and university violence.

Fill Checks For Creeks Are Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to extend bay fill controls up six "vital" tributaries, including some in Marin and Sonoma, has been introduced by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose.

His bill would empower the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission to protect marshland upstream of the bay that haw been designated by the commission's plan as of more than customary ecological value.

Among the six tributaries spelled out in the bill were the Petaluma River to the mouth of Adobe Creek, San Antonio Creek to the railroad right-of-way, Tolay Creek in Sonoma to Highway 37, and the Napa River to the northernmost point of Bull Island. Others were in San Mateo and Alameda counties.

The bill reportedly was asked by North Bay conservationists.

Jurisdiction over these waters originally was in the 1969 bill that made the BCDC a permanent agency, but was thrown out by the Seante.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and other opponents of the 1969 bill, objected that this provision could start pushing the commission's power up the Sacramento River. Jurisdiction limited to the mouths of bay tributaries.

The blaze apparently started in a farm oven.

MUSIC REVIEW

Bad Seating Mars A Good Performance

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

French maestro Jean Martinon conducting the San Francisco Symphony, French pianist Philippe Entremont and an all-French program added up Saturday night to a musical experience marked by most of the virtues of French music.

In this second of the symphony's three-concert Marin Series at Terra Linda High School gymnasium there was sparkling lucidity and balance, elegance, grace and plenty of theatrical excitement, but all was not well.

Assurances had been given that a stage—its lack a so-called last minute fiasco at the first concert—would be provided for this concert, but incredibly it was not. Again people seated in the most expensive seats on the flat floor saw nothing and were very angry.

I could not learn the reason this time, but it does seem if the Marin Symphony can get risers, the San Francisco orchestra could have managed something to make players visible.

In the French romantic spirit rather than the French classical style, the program consisting of works by masters of orchestration—Berlioz, Ravel, Saint Saens and Martinon himself—showed off all the instrumental resources of a big orchestra, except in the Saint Saens concerto No. 2 in G minor, when it was reduced to focus attention on the piano soloist.

Even Martinon's own symphony No. 4, though characterized by contemporary departure from symphonic form and some modern sounding harmonies and rhythms, was in the romantic spirit.

Titled "Les Altitudes" (The Heights), it expressed man's aspirations to conquer not only obstacles of this planet but the cosmos itself. Though sections were named to suggest programmatic description of scenes and sounds—"The Gateway to the Stars," "The Vertical Garden," and "The Crossing of the Gods"—they were actually translations of moods into sound. Judged as such, the work was very successful.

It conjured emotional effects one might encounter on scaling a lofty mountain under tempestuous atmospheric conditions or on venturing into the unknown void of space. It was a very difficult work which tested the orchestra's mettle, and one had the feeling more performances would be needed for a perfect reading.

As expected, Entremont dazzled with a virtuoso performance of the popular virtuoso Saint Saens concerto. The opening bars had too much pedal, but this was corrected, and apart from a bad horn passage in the middle movement, the total performance was delightful.

The opening number, the overture to Berlioz's "Beatrice and Benedict" and finale, the suite No. 2 from Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe" ballet, were beautifully performed with the latter achieving some truly thrilling sonority.

Two Choral Units Will Give Concert

The Winifred Baker Chorale will join the San Francisco Civic Chorale to present a varied program under the direction of Winifred Baker at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Angelico Hall, Dominican College.

It will be the third in a series of programs during the week-long spring festival of the performing arts on the San Rafael campus.

Opening the concert will be the "Kyrie" from Vivaldi's Chamber Mass, sung by the Winifred Baker Chorale with guest soloists Gwen Curatilo, soprano, and Mildred Owen, alto.

The San Francisco Chorale will sing Beethoven's Mass in C with guest soprano and alto joined by Edward Jameson, tenor, and James Tippey, bass. Organist John Klobucar will accompany the two works.

About 150 voices from the two choral groups will perform the West Coast premiere of Hans Werner Henze's "Moralities," a musical setting of W.H. Auden's version of three of Aesop's fables. Tippey will be soloist with Jameson as narrator. Piano accompaniment will be played by Robaline Meacham and Judith Storss.

Nixon Motors Back To The White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon returned by car in bright spring weather Sunday from an overnight stay with his Florida friend and neighbor C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo at Camp David, the presidential lodge in the Catectin mountains of Maryland.

The 70-mile automobile drive was as a surprise. The two men had gone to Camp David by helictopter and had been expected to return the same way.

Opening Of McNears Beach To Be Eyed

The opening date of McNears Beach and the question of financing a proposed tennis-swim center will be among topics to be discussed tomorrow at a joint meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors and parks and recreation commission.

The meeting will start at 9 a.m. in room 400 of the Civic Center.

The commission will also ask for a clarification of its relationship with the county supervisors. Several commissioners have complained that their recommendations are often ignored.

After the joint meeting, the supervisors will reconvene in the board of supervisors chambers at 10:30 a.m. to face a heavy agenda.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will ask for criminal action against loggers on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge, where fires were allegedly left burning unattended.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will make several recommendations, including abolition of six and one-half positions on the county payroll and extending the terms of two at-large members of the Marin County Planning Commission in line with changes made in the terms of the five other planning commissioners.

The terms of Walter F. Freitas and Michael Praszker, at-large members, will expire on April 20. Bruce will recommend that their terms be extended to expire on July 1, 1971, six months after a new board of supervisors takes office.

Other major items on tre supervisors' agenda included these:

HEALTH SERVICES—An ordinance setting new fees and eligibility standards for services provided by the county health department. The county administrator will recommend that the question of fees for child health conferences be deferred until the June budget discussions.

PEDDLING — An Ordinance to control roadside peddling.

HOUSEBOATS—County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will report a continued increase in violations of the houseboat and marina ordinances in Richardson Bay.

NUISANCE—Abatement of a home that slid off its foundation at 1123 California Avenue, Mill Valley.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS—Discussion of priorities in the capital improvements program presented by the county administrator. Requests will be made for a speed-up in work on the Miller Avenue Extension, new junior boys' dormitory at Juvenile Hall, new library in Fairfax and widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

AVIATION—The aviation commission will submit its recommendation for a limited civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Pastor Calls White House For Safety In Vote Fuss

LUDOWICI, Ga. (AP) — A minister whose home was fired on in a shotgun attack during the night says he has called on the White House to request the Justice Department to step into the Long County dispute.

The Rev. Raymond Cook, a Methodist minister and personal friend of Gov. Lester Maddox, said the blast shattered a window and narrowly missed him about 2:45 a.m. Sunday.

The state police force, including about 30 state troopers and agents of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, was ordered into the area Sunday by Maddox.

The governor indicated he was considering a declaration of martial law both for Ludowici and Long County.

Cook said he telephoned the White House today, and asked a presidential aide to request the Justice Department to intervene.

He said he appealed for "free and honest elections" and again asked Maddox to declare martial law in the county.

Maddox said earlier, "I would hope that I do not have to take that drastic action. However, if I determine in my judgment it is necessary, I would not hesitate . . ."

On Choosing A Justice: Reagan Vs. Nixon Method

In the furore over the second rejection of a Nixon appointee to the U. S. Supreme Court, rather scant attention has been paid to a very important court appointment in our own state.

On the very day that the Senate voted against sending the nomination of G. Harrold Carswell back to committee, Gov. Ronald Reagan named Donald R. Wright of Pasadena, a judge of the Second District Court of Appeals, to be the new chief justice of the California Supreme Court.

THERE WAS SCARCELY a ripple.

Even in the sectors most critical of the governor, there has been no objection raised to his choice of the Pasadena judge, whose record is easy to examine.

Yet the governor and the President were committed to the same thing in choosing high court justices. President Nixon wants a justice who is a "strict constructionist." Governor Reagan sought one committed to a policy of "judicial restraint." These are two ways of saying the same thing: a judge who does not believe in legislating by judicial decree.

PERHAPS A LARGE part of the reason for Reagan's success and Nixon's failure in choosing an acceptable nominee lies in this: The governor did not delegate his responsibility. He did not ask Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch to select the justice.

President Nixon set up two criteria for a Supreme Court appointee: that he be (1) a "strict constructionist" and (2) a southerner. Then he turned over to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell the job of finding the man.

Little in Attorney General Mitchell's record in office indicates that he should be given such an important assignment. He has appeared on occasion as more of an advocate of repression than of strict constructionism or judicial restraint. And his wife's intemperate remarks give rise to speculation as to how much she may influence his thinking or be influenced by it.

Yet, following the Carswell turndown, Mr. Nixon again turned the job of finding a Supreme Court justice over to the attorney general.

THE PRESIDENT'S response to that turndown was not encouraging. He reportedly told Mitchell that it appeared the Senate would not confirm a southerner, so he could drop that requirement.

The Senate rejected Judge Clement Haynsworth because a conflict of interest — though small — showed up in his record, something that could not be accepted in the wake of the embarrassment over the larger conflict of interest for Justice Abe Fortas. It did not reject him because he is a southerner.

The Senate rejected Judge Carswell because of (1) his undistinguished record on the bench, (2) his role in turning a public golf course into a "whites only" club, and (3) his lack of candor when questioned about that role. It did not reject him because he is a southerner.

THE KIND OF PIQUE displayed by the attorney general's wife should not be displayed by the President.

And if the choice of a Supreme Court justice is as important as the Senate thinks it is, as we think it is, and as the President has said he thinks it is, then it is too important to delegate to the attorney general.

Think Little

We Americans have been encouraged by our history to admire great concepts and think big. Even the conservationists think largely in terms of saving great acreages for ourselves and succeeding generations.

But there are countless little wild places in Marin that are well worth saving too. They may not even be as big as Larkspur's little redwood park. But they are the little places where we need a wild spot, a ferny brook, a wooded knoll, a rare old live oak, instead of more new houses. These little wild places will be more accessible than distant parks, and increasingly valuable as time passes and Marin's population grows.

Think big . . . but think little too.

Economy-Minded School District Draws CTA 'Sanctions' Boycott

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)— Sometimes it's a question as to whether the people of the state own, support and operate the schools, or whether they merely are expected to put up the money.

The teachers have a neat little trick at hand to make the elected representatives of the people—namely, the school district board—see things their way, and if the board fails to knuckle under and run things the way the teachers want them run, then this little trick is imposed.

THE MEANS to force issues in the districts is known as "imposing sanctions," whereby the district is "posted" in much the same manner a business is picketed by a labor union, and the people are warned to "stay away."

Except in the case of the schools, the warning is extended on a nationwide basis, and all teachers seeking a job are warned to stay away from the particular school district in which the sanctions are imposed.

The latest California district to be branded with "sanctions," labeling it as something of a criminal area, is the Los Altos Elementary School District in Santa Clara County.

SOME EXCEEDINGLY heinous crimes have been committed by the district board, according to the California Teachers Association, which is warning teachers to stay away from Los Altos when the time comes up for hiring.

Among these crimes is that the board has decreased the district tax rate during the past two years in the face of increased assessed valuations.

Another is the fact that the average teacher's salary lags more than $1,300 behind nine other elementary districts in the county.

Again, Los Altos citizens paid the lowest tax rate of school districts in the county which employ more than 100 teachers.

Another reason for the sanctions is that foreign language and physical education programs have been seriously curtailed and limited because the jobs of specialists have been cut out to save the taxpayers money.

Also, a series of social studies programs have been hampered because of a lack of material.

HOWEVER, nowhere is mentioned that the district has cut out the basic elements of elementary education, the reading, writing and arithmetic the taxpayers hope their children who attend schools will get in return for the tax money they pour into the schools. Apparently, the board has cut the unnecessary frills in an effort to restore some rhyme and reason to education in Los Altos.

It has been a contention for a long time that if school boards in hundreds of other districts throughout the state took the same path, the school system would not now be the unnecessary drain it is on the taxpayer, nor would the teachers insidiously move in for bigger and better jobs in the name of education.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Attitudes Damage Our Opportunities

We have around us these days attitudes and behaviors in varying degrees of apparentness which do violence to democratic institutions. Yet there are among us citizens who in seriousness and sincerity do not perceive a difference between the destructiveness of some behaviors and our people's actual valid need for constructive human relations and rationality.

It is almost as if an inner urge compels some of us to tear apart and destroy — as if we choose destructive impulse to avoid "at any cost" confrontation with realities in 1970.

I speak, for example's sake, of our governor's unfortunate slip of tongue for campus "bloodletting"; in San Anselmo recently of a self-named "revolt" slate's attempt to scuttle a candidates' night (their fellow citizens' right and need to be informed of divergent views on local affairs); of the more subtle, but not necessarily less obvious de facto segregation in our local schools.

All these, I believe, damage our human opportunities. They place emotion, partisanship, cynicism above rationality and sanity; and they disgrace the human being.

Novato Lunch Plan Not New

In regards to the article on April 7 regarding "Hot Lunch Plan Urged For Novato."

I wish your reporter would get his facts correct before going to press.

I am very proud of the fact Novato is the only school district left in Marin County offering their elementary students a "hot lunch" daily, and have done so since unification five years ago. A "type A" federally reimbursed hot lunch was served at the time of unification, and was extended at a later date to all its schools.

During the past 2½ years, a hot lunch very similar to the type A has been offered. Due to the ever increasing cost of food and labor, the problem reaching a climax, a solution had to be sought.

The recommendation of the food consultant Paul Fairbrook of the University of Pacific, was that we continue with the hot lunches, reverting to "type A", using central kitchens, transporting to satellite schools.

I take great pride in being part of a school district that has made very effort to retain all its fine service under great financial stress.

Mill Valleyan Misses Those Dogs

I suppose there are people in Mill Valley who would rather walk in our streets and parks without seeing one single dog.

I miss them.

Today a wagon was in the park marked "Animal Control." The "keeper" had enlisted some children to help catch a big setter to put in his van. Later it passed me and I saw he'd caught it, along with a shepherd, whose collar plainly carried identification and a cluster of jingly I-D things.

What assurance is there? On whose code of honor can we rely that the so-called "Humane Society" will phone people whose animals are properly licensed? How do we know that each dog picked up by them will be listed in the paper?

Can my old dog lie on the warm street in front of my house? Can an unlicensed pup in my yard remain there without some official opening the gate when I'm not home and taking her to her death?

They only keep them four days before they kill them . . . The dogs listed in the paper are for the previous 24 hours only. How many are put to sleep before they are located by their owners?

This used to be a friendly doggy little town. The dogs were part of the friendliness. I miss them . . .

TRY AND STOP ME

Crystal ball gazer to embarrassed male customer: "Who's that dizzy blonde I see you out with tomorrow night?"

"With the influx of gal students in formerly all-male colleges," writes Dr. Morris C. Goodman, "we might take heed of the history of Arthur Quiller-Couch, professor at Oxford during World War I. When Oxford admitted women at that time, Professor Quiller-Couch would arrive each morning in cap and gown and address his mixed class merely with 'Good morning, gentlemen.' After a while the male students thought it would be funny to stay away from class one day and just let the girls show up. The professor arrived on time, looked over the all-female attendance and merely said, 'Since there is no one present this morning, there will be no lecture.' And with that he took off, gown waving in the wind."

President Has Duty To Repair Damage Done By Rejections

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—It is vital that President Nixon repair the damage to the nation which his two rejected Supreme Court nominations have caused.

He will need to do two things:

1—Recognize that our government today must be so visibly worthy of respect and confidence that just an average appointment to the court—let alone a mediocre one—is perilous and intolerable.

2—Find a candidate comparable in capacity and character to the man he has already put on the bench—Chief Justice Warren Burger, whose appointment in itself enhanced the nation's respect for the court because it showed Mr. Nixon's respect for the court.

The President showed it can be done when he applied the exacting criteria he used in the Burger nomination—a record of judicial excellence, the highest moral rectitude and honor and no personal crony. He was overwhelmingly confirmed.

ONE THING critically needs to be improved. That is the caliber of the Justice Department investigation of the men whom the President is considering or the man he has selected. In both the Haynsworth and Carswell nominations, newspaper reporters and the Senate Judiciary Committee came up with disclosures of conduct which were apparently known neither to the President nor to Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

That Nixon should stand by his nominees is understandable. President Hoover stood by his choice of Judge John J. Parker whom the Senate rejected on the ground that he had an antilabor bias though his subsequent record showed this a false judgment.

President Roosevelt stood by his nomination of Sen. Hugo Black even when it was unexpectedly disclosed that he had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan—and the Senate confirmed him.

RICHARD NIXON resorted to a weak argument and weakened his position when he wrote a letter to bolster a wavering Republican senator and told him that if the Senate rejected Judge Carswell it would infringe upon the constitutional right of the President to choose the justices if the Supreme Court. In all nominations the initiative is with the President (the Senate can't nominate) but the Constitution gives the duty to the Senate to make an independent judgment of whether it shall "consent" to the nomination.

Now the President can start fresh. There is good reason for him to welcome this opportunity and to erase the miasmic experience of the Haynsworth and Carswell nominations by offering such a radiantly superior candidate that the whole country will want to say: Well done, good and faithful President.

The prospect is that President Nixon will have a large opportunity to shape the personnel and image of the Supreme Court during the next few years. Several justices are well along in years and the law now permits them to leave the court with full pay and keep active in judicial work.

MR. NIXON has every right to search out qualified judges who will give the court a conservative balance, a regional balance, and more weight on the side of strict construction versus liberal construction of the Constitution.

But there is no substitute for quality, for excellence, for individual worthiness of men whose nominations will say to the nation: This is your Supreme Court and you can be proud of it.

And the Supreme Court isn't the only part of the government which needs to show it can do its job well. So must the Congress which ought not to waste a second ruminating over its differences with the President on his court nominations.

The violence-prone in this country—adults and young people both—want nothing so much as to persuade the aggrieved and the disadvantaged that they can't expect much, if anything, from the political process.

The only way to preserve our democratic institutions is to make sure they function radiantly well.

$40 Million For The Arts Dynamited By 'Anthology'

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is due for a big disappointment if he is counting on Congress' voting the $40 million he has urged for the National Foundation on Arts and Humanities.

In fact, the foundation will be very lucky if it gets as much as was granted last year — $20 million.

Indicative of that is the backstage uneasiness over the prospects of the bill authorizing a three-year extention of the foundation — with $40 million for the first year and a blank check for the other two.

Although this measure was approved by the House Education and Labor Committee weeks ago, Chairman Carl Perkins, D-Ky., has so far done nothing to bring it before the full House.

When he will is conjectural. Perkins refuses to discuss the matter.

UNQUESTIONABLY, a reason for his reluctance is the certainty that this legislation faces a slashing fight.

So far as the general public is concerned, the measure is virtually unknown — despite the fact it carries a $40 million price tag. Very little has been said or reported about it.

But that little brought a flood of intensely critical and indignant mail.

REASON WAS the disclosure by Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, committee member, that fancy largesses were being dished out by George (Paper Lion) Plimpton for curious poetry and other remarkable contributions to the "American Literary Anthology."

So far, some $200,000 of taxpayers' money has been spent on this so-called anthology. It is part of the literature program of the National Endowment for the Arts, which is an activity of the foundation.

Scherle uncovered that Plimpton has received around $30,000 for staff and administrative expenses. He was made head of the literature program by Roger L. Stevens, guiding spirit of the $50 million-plus Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts being built on the Potomac River near the world-famed Lincoln Memorial.

Through Stevens' zealous lobbying and wheedling, the government has contributed more than $30 million to this project.

FOLLOWING are highlights of Scherle's revelations that brought a deluge of outraged mail:

$500 paid to Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., for a short poem on his campaign in Indiana for the 1968 presidential nomination. Plimpton was an ardent McCarthy backer.

Seven poems and two pieces of prose selected from Paris Review, a magazine edited by Plimpton and published by Plimpton and published in New York. Under the intriguing financial practice of the literary program which Plimpton heads, not only does the anthology pay the writer but which his work is selected.

$500 paid to Aram Saroyan, son of author William Saroyan, for baffling seven-letter poem — "LIGHGHT." The magazine in which it first appeared also got $250 — for a total cost to taxpayers of $750.

$500 to LeRoi Jones, white-hating black militant, author and playwright.

So far, two Anthologies have been published and a third is in production. Their proclaimed purpose is to "encourage and assist writers of merit and the editors who publish their works." Each contains about 75 authors. The 1968 edition sold some 7,500 copies, 4,500 of them hardcover at $6.95 each.

Paradise Park Already Crowded; McNear's Beach Soon Will Be

Paradise Beach Park in Tiburon, the county's only developed park for mass use, already is jammed to capacity.

On a busy week-end, cars quickly fill the available parking spaces and line Paradise Drive for a quarter mile on each side of the entrance. So don't go planning any big picnics at Paradise Park, especially on a week-end.

Park maintenance crews are already tearing their hair, trying to accommodate the crowds. And safety officials are concerned about a jam-up on Paradise Drive that could hinder the passage of fire equipment.

RELIEF IS SOON to come—perhaps this summer—with the opening of McNear's Beach near Peacock Gap in East San Rafael. That is only the second county park with beach access to the bay.

Experience at Paradise Park indicates that McNear's will also be jammed to capacity almost from the outset.

Thus far, all county parks have been open to the public free. At McNear's, for the first time, an admission charge is recommended by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission.

There shouldn't be too much argument against the charging of admission, particularly because of the facilities offered—swimming pool and tennis courts, in addition to the beach and picnic areas.

As Albert Boro and other park commissioners pointed out, anyone who pays for something tends to have some respect for the premises, whereas if it's free, some people may abuse the privilege.

Besides, those who actively use the facilities should help pay for repair and maintenance because some taxpayers will never visit the park. They shouldn't have to pay twice—once for purchase of the park and again for maintenance of pools and tennis courts which they never use.

SPRING IS in the air, and wild rumors, probably based on wishful thinking, are spreading like wildfire.

Somebody heard that a big rock concert was about to be staged at the Civic Center, and several youngsters in Woodacre are spreading the word that a big-name rock group is thinking of moving into San Geronimo Valley.

THE COUNTY'S 4-H clubs are breathing more easily these days. For a while, they were afraid that the county farm advisor and 4-H headquarters would be moving out of the Civic Center to Novato or Point Reyes Station.

Now comes assurance from Mike Chrystal of the county administrator's office that the farm advisor definitely will stay at the Civic Center.

Chrystal acknowledged that for several weeks, there was talk about moving the farm advisor to North or West Marin to put him closer to the people he serves. But he's going to recommend against such a move.

Era Of The Mad Scientists: Babies In The Supermarket

Leafing through my daughter's college textbook recently, I came across a glimpse of things to come, as seen by one Dr. E. S. E. Hafez, a biologist at Washington State University. The book, published by Prentice-Hall, is "Dynamics of Change," and Dr. Hafez has a quote in it carrying this charming bit of intelligence:

"Only 10 or 15 years hence, it could be possible for a housewife to walk into a new kind of commissary, look down a row of packets not unlike flower-seed packages, and pick her baby by label. Each packet would contain a frozen one-day-old embryo and the label would tell the shopper what color of hair and eyes to expect as well as the probable size and I.Q. of the child. It would also offer assurance of freedom from genetic defects. After making her selection the lady would take the packet to her doctor and have the embryo implanted in herself, where it would grow for nine months, like any baby of her own."

THE GOOD and clairvoyant doctor falied to inform us whether the label would also carry the usual guarantee, "If not satisfied, return to manufacturer and receive your money back."

Guarantee or no, a man wouldn't dare let his wife go shopping without him—no telling what she'd come back with.

I knew as the second half of the 20th Century unfolded there was something about it I didn't like, and hardly a day passes that I don't find one reason or another why I shouldn't let it go on without me. If this is a sample of what is called (and please excuse my language) progress, then I'd just as soon sit this one out—and I mean way out!

IT DID SEEM to me, however, that if our progress progresses to that degree, it would be anachronistic to have the would-be mother visit her doctor. Carrying a baby inside her for nine months is obviously tedious, burdensome and primitive. Why not simply use incubators or test tubes with timers that ding when the time is up?

There's plenty of evidence to make a sound and unassailable case that in recent decades the entire world has slipped its wig, jumped the track, gone 'round the bend. And scientists—with a capital S—go to enormous lengths to persuade us that we are roaring deliciously up the pathway to the Nirvana of Civilization, when the rip-roaring fact could very well be that we are headed completely off-course toward some sort of cosmic Fun House complete with blinking lights, whirring noises and glowing phantasmagorias leaping at us as we sail by in the dark in a state of numbed bemusement, clinging to each other.

IT'S ONE THING for a scientist to shut himself up in his laboratory, draw down the shades and surreptitiously putter about on a project he hopes to spring with sadistic glee on a surprised and horrified world. It is quite another matter when he announces brazenly and not with a little pride what he intends for us—like it or not.

The next thing you know he's asking for a federal grant to experiment with his zany project, and the idiots we have—the keepers of the public purse—will let him have it instead of expeditiously whisking him off to the nearest funny farm.

Science has insinuated itself upon us as our latter day deity and its high priests are performing rituals and muttering incantations which may soon have us all True Believers throwing babes into the flaming mouth of the great god Progress or flaying virgins on the altars of giant computors.

Ah progress!

Window Vandals Hit Novato Store

The steel nut vandals have struck again, this time in Novato, police have reported.

Windows at the Novato office of the Independent-Journal and at Grand Auto Store, 7427 Redwood Highway, were smashed Friday night by steel nuts, possibly fired from a high powered slingshot, police said.

Damage at the auto store was estimated at $400 by manager Henry Hewitt. He said it was the fifth window broken since the store had been warned not to advertise in the I-J, struck on Jan. 7 by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

He estimated total damage from vandalism at $1,700.

A plastic sign at the Novato I-J office was also damaged Friday night, police said, but no estimate of the damage was available.

Warm Springs Pays Roosevelt A Tribute

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP) — "Today, it was 25 years ago that I became an unexpected witness to history," said the woman who was painting the President's portrait when he collapsed.

Madame Elizabeth Shoumatoff stood beside the unfinished portrait of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and described it as "a portrait that so suddenly, so dramatically was never finished."

Mme. Shoumatoff and about 700 others gathered at the "Little White House" in Warm Springs Sunday to observe the 25th anniversary of Roosevelt's death.

Roosevelt, who spent most of his adult life crippled by polio, discovered the warm waters of the springs in 1924, and in 1932 had the cottage that is now known as the "Little White House" built on the side of Pine Mountain. It cost $8,200.

On April 12, 1945, he collapsed and died there.

Among FDR's friends at the ceremony was Pine Mountain Mayor Frank Alcorn, who was to have held a barbecue for the President the day he died.

On hand to open the ceremony was Graham Jackson, a Negro accordianist who played a medley of military tunes he often played for Roosevelt. Jackson ended the observance by leading the singing of "God Bless America."

Former Advisers Pay Visit To Truman On Anniversary

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Another anniversary has been ticked off at the big house on Delaware Street where Harry and Bess Truman live.

It was 25 years ago Sunday that Truman became President after the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Several of his former Cabinet members and White House advisers visited the home Saturday to pay respects to their former chief, who will be 86 May 6.

They included W. Averell Harriman, Dean Acheson, John Snyder and Charles S. Murphy.

Among other visitors were Earl Warren, former chief justice, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

The former President told his friends he was trying to obey his doctor for once by conserving his energy, but with the coming of warm weather he hopes to resume the morning walks "that have helped my circulation over the years."

He declined to go to the Truman Library where the annual meeting of the library board was followed by speeches marking the 25th anniversary.

Snyder, secretary of the treasury during Truman's administration, spoke of the early months when Truman had to make major decisions while still learning all the facets of his tough job.

Harriman said, "Mr. Truman was one of the truly great presidents of American history, and his stature increases with the years."

Four Marinites Win Awards In Bay Science Fair

Four Marin County entrants in the annual San Francisco Bay Area Science Fair have won honors for their exhibits.

Marin students captured one second place, two third place and one fourth place awards during the 17th annual fair held last week in San Francisco.

The county's highest winner was Nina Kottenstette of 57 Maplewood Drive, a sophomore at San Rafael High School. She won a second place ribbon for her display, "Are tears able to inhibit the growth of bacteria?"

Third place winners were Rodger Pitcairn, Ross School, for "Can a flip-flop count?" and Pam Ann McMurry, also Ross School, "Measuring the metabolism of small animals."

A fourth place award was won by Lynda Palmer of San Rafael High School for her exhibit, "What is the effetc of 1.4Gs on pea and tomato plants?"

The science fair annually gives the Bay Area's top science students in grades seven through 12 the chance to display their projects. Each of the entrants in the fair had previously won honors at qualifying fairs in the nine Bay Area counties.

Three Veterans, A Businessman Steal Show

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

A trio of swinging speedway senior citizens and a young business executive stole the show yesterday at the United States Auto Club's Northern California 200-mile late model stock car race at Sears Point International Raceway.

Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., the Indianapolis 500 veteran and 1969 USAC stock car champion, lived up to his favorite's billing by speeding his white 1970 Plymouth Roadrunner to an easy 25-second victory over Art Pollard, another Indy vet from Medford, Ore., who was second in 1969 Chevrolet Camaro. Third place went to Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., in a '70 Plymouth Superbird.

Respectively, their ages are 39, 42 and 47. Geritol strikes again!

But, sharing much of the kudos of the estimated 7,000 sun and windswept motorsports aficionados was Craig Murray of San Rafael, the 30-year-old president of Sears Point Raceway who made his professional racing debut a howling success by finishing fourth in the field of 26 starters.

Although he's been racing only one year, the lanky, blond Murray handled his blue streak 1968 Camaro like a veterans around the familiar hairy 11-turn, hilly, 2.5-mile road circuit to pick up $1,600 of the $40,000 purse.

McCluskey, who has driven in eight Indy 500s, won $4,000 in purse and contingency money for averaging 73.4 miles an hour in his 2 hour, 43 minute, 28.8 second Sunday ride. Pole winner with a record qualifying run of 1 minute, 53.10 seconds on Saturday, Roger led for 69 of the 80 laps.

Pollard, who won $2,900, led for 10 laps while Nelson, $2,100 winner, led for one lap.

There were a few bent fenders as the result of some spinouts, but no major damage nor injuries.

McCluskey drove almost a perfect race and had only one scare when he skidded briefly on one turn, but pulled out of it safely.

He made three pit stops for a total of 1 minute, 2 seconds.

Pollard lost some valuable time in the pits with a flat tire on the 217h lap and had brake problem most of the way. "We just couldn't match Roger's lap times with our brakes," said Art.

It was the first time the USAC allowed pony cars in its stock car races and McCluskey admitted "I was worried about the pony cars. We've got more engine, but they're lighter, easier on gas and handle better on tight courses like this. This is a very demanding course and a lot of work on a driver."

Of the 26 starters, eight were pony cars and five of those were running at the finish.

Nelson, a grandfather, revealed after the race that he had gear box troubles and had to hold it in third gear throughout the 200-mile grind. "I thought my arm would drop off," he laughed, saying Sears Point is difficult enough to negotiate with two hands on the wheel, let alone one.

One driver who had all kinds of trouble with the course was Dick Carter of Altamont Speedway fame. The man who got himself in all kinds of hot water by hosting a Rolling Stones con-

Crosstown Buddies In Masters Finale

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gene Littler, a quiet man who already drives three Rolls Royces, faced a jittery 18-hole playoff today against crosstown buddy Billy Casper for a mere coat of green.

For that coat of green, South African Gary Player would have swapped the world.

CLOSE ONES

Casper's 10-foot putt to win it all Sunday whipped out of the 18th hole and the muscular Player—trying to make it a party of three today — missed from seven feet and was left coatless.

"I'll tee it high and let it fly Monday," promised Casper, who converted quickly from the grim putt-misser of the 18th to a smiling playoff man preparing for another day.

Asked about his tactics for the 2:15 p.m., EST, shootout, Littler mulled so long that Casper answered for him, "He'll tee it low and let it go."

Casper and Littler live 25 miles apart in the San Diego Calif., area and have played golf together since the last shot of the Korean War. Both are devoted family men who skip many a $150,000 tournament to fish with their kids.

Littler's off-course hobby is antique cars. His garage is cluttered with three sparkling, old Rolls Royces and a model T Ford. "They're all like me," he said in the Herb Shriner-type draw. "They can't drive too far."

Sports
THIRD SECTION
April 13, 1970 21

Both Californians have won the U.S. Open in their glittering golf careers, but neither has captured the Masters and its famed green jacket. Littler won the 1961 Open and Casper was best in 1959 and 1966.

There were many heroes on the chilly, bleak Sunday at Augusta's National Club. But when the spotlight settled on the humbling 18th green, there were only three. Two made it and Player missed by two inches on a 7-foot putt.

Casper's rounds of 72-68-68-71 gave him a nine-under-par 279 total for the week. Littler made it with an incredibly consistent 69-70-70-70. Player's closing 70 left him a strike shy at 280 after a weak Thursday opening of 74 on the rolling 6,980-yard course.

"My father always told me to be humble in victory and smile in defeat," said a dejected Player, who won the Masters in 1961. "Well, fellows, here are my teeth. I'm smiling at you."

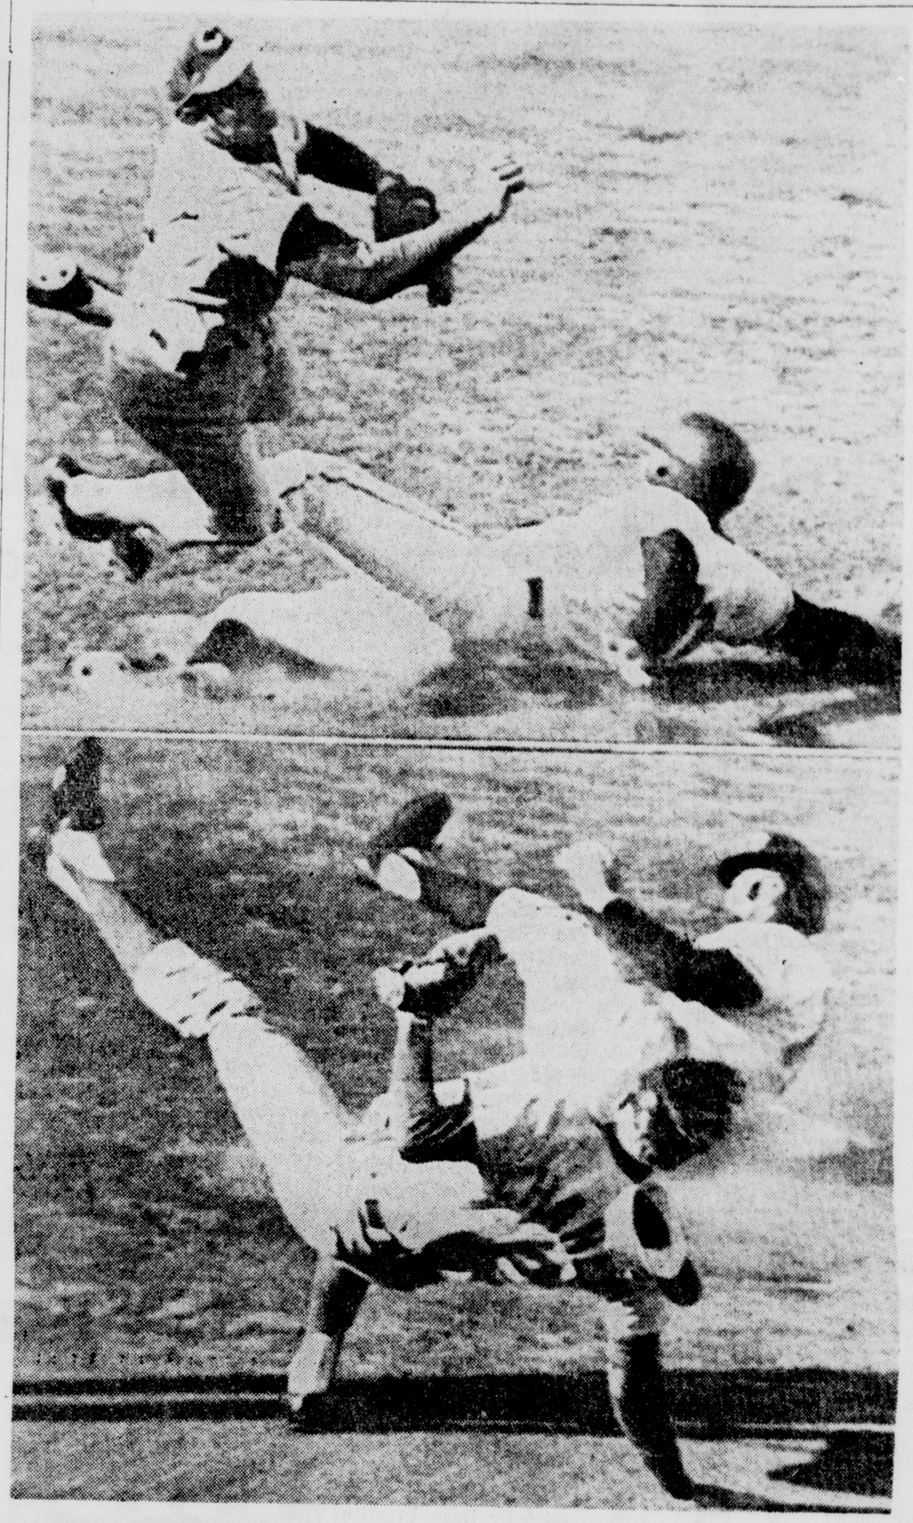
DRAINED

Player was obviously emotionally drained when his hope of tying trickled away by the cup. He had been bugged by whirring news cameras to the point where he asked them to "hold it," but said later, "I have absolutely no excuses."

Today's winner in the nationally televised playoff will receive $25,000 of the $203,801 payoff. The loser gets $17,500.

Player said he "would have rather lost by five shots than on the last putt" when picking up his $14,000 third-place reward. Bert Yancey, a threat all week who lost out with a bogey at the 18th, wound up with 70-281 and won $10,000.

Arnold Palmer, who never broke par in this 34th Masters, buzzed the course in his private jet after finishing almost three hours ahead of the frontrunner. He had 75-73-74-73 for 295, tying the four-time Master champion for 36th place in the 48-man windup.



VERY UPSETTING — Cincinnati shortstop Darrel Chaney was upset by Giant rookie Alan Gallagher who roughly broke up double play in second game of doubleheader in San Francisco yesterday. Reds swept the pair, 6-5 and 5-2, although Gallagher continued his phenomenal hitting and now has 15 hits in 30 at-bats. (AP Wirephoto)

DESPITE LOSSES

Giants Can Still Smile

ATLANTA (AP) — Despite a Sunday doubleheader loss to Cincinnati, the San Francisco Giants had a few things to smile about as they prepared to meet the Atlanta Braves here tonight.

The Giants send Rich Robertson, 0-0, against the Braves' Jim Nash, 1-0.

The Reds regained first place in the National League West with a 6-5, 5-2 sweep over host San Francisco Sunday, but three items pleased the iGants' front office.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

Tops on the list was ace pitcher Juan Marichal's discharge from St. Luke's Hospital. He will work out at Candlestick Park before joining the club at Cincinnati this weekend.

Marichal was suffering from a flu and subsequent allergic reaction to medication.

Secondly, Giants' Manager Clyde King continued to rave about rookie third baseman Alan Gallagher, who collected seven hits, including two doubles, Sunday to raise his average to .500 on 15 hits in 30 trips to the plate.

And King, along with the entire Giants' organization, was pleased with a crowd of 31,731 for the Willie Mays 600 Day festivities.

Mays was honored between games for his 600 major league homers. A toal of 19,707 tickets was sold Sunday morning, a club record for gate sales.

But Reds' sluggers Johnny Bench and Tony Perez prevented the Giants from enjoying complete success.

Perez belted two homers and collected four RBI's, going 4-for-4 with a walk is the opener.

Bench provided the game-winning blows for the Reds in each game, being a ninth-inning single off reliever Frank Linzy in the opener and a two-run triple off loser Ron Bryant, 1-1, in the sixth inning of the second game.

TWO BLASTS

In the opener, Perez hit a two-run homer in the first off loser Mike McCormick, 0-1, and pulled the Reds into a 3-3 tie with a solo blast in the fourth after the Giants rallied for three runs in the third, featuring Bob Bonds' first homer of the season.

Perez' bases-loaded single and a single by Bench brought in two Reds' runs in the seventh for a 5-3 lead.

Singles by Pete Rose, Perez and Bench accounted for what proved to be the winning run in the ninth.

A's To Open Home Season With Some Added Color

OAKLAND (AP) — A new baseball team, three new base bags, and a new singer will be featured tonight when the Oakland Athletics open their home baseball season in the Coliseum, 7:30.

The A's, rained out Sunday in Minnesota, welcome the Milwaukee Brewers—formerly the Seattle Pilots—who have won three consecutive games. Oakland returns from a road trip with a 1-3 record.

A's owner Charles O. Finley, whose team wears gold and green uniforms and white baseball shoes, is hoping to add more color to the baselines.

He was seeking approval for the baseball rules committee for gold colored canvas base bags. Finley originally wanted first base to be red, second blue and third yellow, but decided that gold looks better under the lights at night.

Finley's new singer is relief pitcher Jim "Mudcat" Grant, whose vocal group, "Mudcat and the Three Kittens," will sing the opening night National Anthem.

Peters Hurls Marin To Second Victory

College of Marin Tars, who may be finally getting it all together, rode the five-hit pitching of Jim Peters to a 4-2 victory Saturday over DeAnza Junior College of Cupertino.

The Tars, who lost their first nine games of the season before knocking off Contra Costa last Thursday, came up with the winning run in the fourth inning when Dee Fredrick singled sharply to left to score Roger Offenbach from second. Offenbach had singled and moved to second on Mike Locati's sacrifice.

Jim Peters, who has pitched well without support this year, losing his first three starts, went the distance for Marin, striking out 12 and yielding only five hits.

Ken Lazzarini singled his last time at bat, thereby running his hitting streak to 17 games.

Free Throws Help Lakers To Victory

ATLANTA (AP) — "It seems like all we did in the second half was shoot free throws."

Guard Jerry West had that explanation Sunday as the Los Angeles Lakers, hitting 47 of 60 charity tosses, came from behind to down the Atlanta Hawks 119-115 in the opening game of their best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association's Western Division championship.

The two teams clash again here Tuesday.

West, who combined with forward Elgin Baylor to lead the Laker assault from the line, pointed to the obvious. Los Angeles canned 35 of 40 charity shots in the second half and, in the process, overcame a 16-point Atlanta lead.

Baylor said the rash of Atlanta fouls was prompted by big Wilt Chamberlain, who only recently returned to the Laker lineup after knee surgery.

"When we pass to Wilt," he said, "everybody starts breaking. There's an inclination for the opposing team to look back momentarily and, when we take off, they've been caught in that split second. The natural move of the man guarding you is to try to slow you down without getting caught by the officials."

Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin disagreed, however, and said the Lakers "d dn't get that many fouls off the cutoff situations."

He also was somewhat brusque when asked why his team was nabbed for so many fouls in the second half.

"You're asking that question in the wrong room," he declared. "Go in there where (game officials) Mindy Rudolph and Manny Sokol are."

Atlanta, primarily behind the brilliant play of Walt Bellamy, took a 28-25 lead in the first quarter, stretched it to 67-52 at intermission, then ran into trouble after building a 16-point edge midway of the third period.

Los Angeles cut the margin to 93-88 at the end of the third and finally went ahead to stay on two foul shots by Baylor with 2:03 remaining.

West, with 38 points including 18 of 21 free throws, led the Laker attack although Baylor, with 14 of 18 charity tosses, finished with 30. Walt Hazzard was high for Atlanta with 29 points.

Bellamy, who hit 12 points and snagged eight rebounds in his big first quarter, finished with 24 points and 21 rebound. At the same time, he limited Chamberlain to 16 points and 17 rebounds.

The eventual winner of the Western Division will meet the Eastern Division champ—either Milwaukee or New York—for the NBA title. That series, with New York holding a 1-0 lead, resumes tonight in New York.

Koss Softballers Out Of Tourney

Paul Koss Supply's softballers found themselves quickly out of the tough Santa Clara Softball Tournament over the weekend, losing their opener 4-2 to Hayward and then dropping a 5-0 decision to Peninsula Paint in Saturday's nightcap.

Koss returns to regular league action tomorrow night when it meets Albert Men's Wear in Alameda.

Novato Nine In 3-Way Tie For Lead

Novato High School emerges as the dark horse in the Marin County Athletic League after one week of play. The hornets, getting home runs from Dave Judnick and Kim Kirwin, defeated Drake Saturday, 8-3 to move into first place with undefeated San Marin and Redwood.

Jeff Derecat turned in a noble effort on the Mound for Novato, limiting the winless Pirates to five hits, four of those coming in the last two innings.

Sophomore Bill Busher helped the winning cause with a perfect three-for-three afternoon.

Zelmo Says He's Staying

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Zelmo Beaty, who jumped from the Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball Association to the rival American Basketball Association, says the younger ABA should refuse to merge with the NBA.

The 6-foot-9 center, who has signed a contract to play next season with the Los Angeles Stars, says the ABA is in perfect position right now and should refuse to merge "because it would be on the NBA's terms."

"I don't think the ABA is concerned with a merger right now," he said. "It's not really necessary. This league has potential. In two or three years it's come a long way. If there is no merger, the leagues will be quite equal in a couple of more years—what with the balance of the college draft."

Rumors recently said the Stars would be moved to Albuquerque for the 1970-71 season. Beaty says he'll play with the Stars "wherever they are."

The Hawks traded the rights to Beaty to the San Francisco Warriors, who hoped Beaty might jump back to the NBA. He says he has no intention of doing that.

"I know the Hawks sued to get me back but when they traded me, I think their suit was dropped" He said he hasn't heard a word from Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli.

However, Mieuli has said he has no plans of getting Beaty back. He says he is concentrating on trying to get Rick Barry back from the Washington Caps of the ABA.

Houston's Toy Cannon Booms

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston's Toy Cannon is behaving like a long range missile again and the rest of the Astro arsenal is following suit.

Jim Wynn, the mini-slugger who smacked 33 home runs for Houston last season, hit a pair of tape-measure shots Sunday as the Astros unloaded five homers — a club record — and whipped Atlanta 8-3.

The muscular, 5-foot-9 outfielder sent Phil Niekro pitches rocketing into the Astrodome's fourth and fifth levels, respectively, before Joe Pepitone, Tommy Davis and Doug Rader completed the long ball binge.

SCORES

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati swept a double-header from San Francisco 6-5 and 5-2; Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 3-1 in 10 innings; Montreal blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0; Los Angeles zipped San Diego 6-0 and the New York Mets beat St. Louis 6-4.

In American League play, Milwaukee swept a pair from the Chicago White Sox 5-2 and 16-2; the New York Yankees split with Cleveland, winning the nightcap 5-4 after a 2-1 loss; Washington nipped Boston 6-5; Detroit stopped Baltimore 7-2 and California trimmed Kansas City 7-5. Oakland and Minnesota were rained out.

Wynn unloaded into the domed stadium's purple seats in the first inning and hit his second bases-empty homer even farther, reaching the third row of yellow seats.

A GLIMPSE

"I got a little glimpse of both of them," he said. "When you hit a ball that hard, you've got to look."

"I can't believe that Jim hit two homers off Niekro," said Rader, only other Astro ever to homer into the fifth deck—in an exhibition game this spring. "The only way you can hit home runs off Niekro is if he gets behind and throws you a fast ball.

"I guess one he hit was a fast ball, but I know he also hit one off the knuckleball."

The loss was the second in as many decisions this season for Niekro, the Braves' knuckleball ace who won 23 a year ago.

"That was quite a show today," said Pepitone, who followed Wynn's second homer with his second in two games. Davis homered in the fourth and Rader poled a two-run homer in the eighth.

HOME RUN

Bill Mazeroski, whose eighth inning single drove in Pittsburgh's first run, rapped a tie-breaking two-run homer off Jim Bunning in the 10th. Steve Blass went the distance on the mound for the Pirates.

Montreal won its first game after four setbacks as Bill Stoneman pitched a three-hitter and Ron Fairly hit a two-run homer.

The Dodgers, winless in all five previous starts, erupted for four first inning runs, added a pair in the seventh on Bill Grabarkewitz' homer and stymied San Diego on Bill Singer's four-hitter.

New York ace Tom Seaver gave up nine hits, including a Richie Allen homer, and needed late relief help but drove in three Met runs himself with a single and double on the way to his first victory of the new season.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

4-13

How many times have you made a bad pitch and realized afterward that you were thinking about something else as you bowled? That's when you have a right to be angry with yourself because you know you didn't make a 100 per cent effort.

As you stand on the approach, getting ready to bowl, put everything out of your mind except what you plan to do in the next couple of seconds. Concentration plays as enormous role in good scoring.

the ninth on a single, two walks and an error. But Ron Hunt, whose pinch hits had figured in each of the Giants' four previous victories, flied out deep to center to end the rally.

TRIPLE

Bench's triple gave Gary Nolan, 2-0, the lead for good in the sixth inning of the nightcap, following a double by Rose and a walk to Perez.

The Reds added two runs in the ninth on Darrel Cheney's double and Bobby Tolan's single off Don McMahon.

After the Giants scored once in the ninth, reliever Wayne Granger cooled off the rally to preserve Nolan's victory.

Seals' Season Is Over

OAKLAND (AP)—The Pittsburgh Penguins have advanced to the semifinals of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs because a 20-year-old rookie came up with the big play in sudden death overtime.

Michele Briere, who scored 161 points for the Shawinigan Falls, Quebec, Juniors last season, fired a 15-foot shot at 8:28 into the overtime before 5,299 screaming fans in the Oakland Arena Sunday night.

It bounced off the inside of Oakland Seals' goalie Gary Smith's pads and into the net for a 3-2 Pittsburgh victory, and the Seals' season had ended.

Together with Saturday night's victory here, the Sunday night crucial gave the Penguins a 4-0 shutout for the best-of-seven series against the Seals.

The Penguins now will play the winner of the Minnesota-St. Louis series to determine the National Hockey League West Division playoff representative.

The game went into overtime after the teams played to a scoreless third period.

Vadnais sent the Seals ahead at 2:34 of the first period on a power play goal, but Prentice tied it at 7:37.

Vadnais put the Seals on top again at 4:34 of the second period on another power play, but Woytowich answered that at 6:22.

Veteran McCluskey Wins At Sears Point

cert last year was warned repeatedly yesterday for off-course deviations.

Unofficially, he was charged with 27 violations and McCluskey laughed: "I just prayed when I came up behind him that I wouldn't follow him off the course."

Murray, who knows Sears Point like his backyard, which it is, was utterly exhausted following his 200-mile pro debut, said: "I learned a lot about driving from these guys today. It got to be pretty scary out there at times."

The Sears Point president, who plans to race in some Trans-American series races, including next weekend's 1970 series opener at Laguna Seca, had relatively slow qualifying runs Saturday but changed tires to good advantage, increasing his speeds considerably. He started 11th on the grid and gained seventh place after 10 laps and third after 30 laps.

The San Rafael businessman made pit stops on the 35th and 57th laps to lose some ground, but roared back to move from sixth to fifth on the 68th lap and from fifth to fourth on the 79th lap, just before McCluskey took the checkered flag.

The only other local driver in the field, Hugh Harn of Sonoma, drove his 1968 Camaro to 14th place worth $535.

V.D. . . . it can hurt

. . . and it can hurt bad. It knows no boundaries. The incidence between homosexuals is as high as it is between male and female. And it is not limited to poverty areas. One of the nation's most affluent counties last year was one of the highest V.D. areas in the country. If you lined up all the people in the U.S.A. treated for V.D. in the year 1969 they would stretch for well over 100 miles. KEEPS IN CONDITION—An all-around athlete, Col. Leo Magers stays in top physical condition by playing squash and other sports at the physical condition center at Hamilton Field.

(Air Force Photo)

SPORTING GENTRY

Marin Base's Athletic Colonel

If someone wants to tour Hamilton Air Force Base to find the base's outstanding athlete, the search will most likely end when you find a colonel with a name that sounds like a major.

That would be Lt. Col. Leo Magers, director of operations with the U.S. Air Force Liaison to the Pacific Region Civil Air Patrol.

Orphaned at an early age, Col. Magers was reared at Boys Town, Neb., where he started his participation in organized sports. As a halfback on the varsity football team, he was a teammate of Navy Commander Lloyd Bucher, commander of the Pueblo.

In addition to football at Boys Town, Col. Magers played first base and catcher for the varsity baseball team and won a letter in boxing, winning the state welterweight title his senior year.

From Boys Town Col. Magers earned an athletic scholarship to Western Kentucky University and later to University of Kentucky. In his senior year at Kentucky, he was given an honorable mention spot on the College All-America team.

Col. Magers was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers in 1951.

"Professional football was simpler then," Col. Magers said. "For instance, I negotiated my contract directly with the coach. Today, a player's lawyer meets with the front office and the player plays only a secondary role in negotiations."

Before he got a chance to prove himself as a running back with the 49ers the Korean War began and he was called to active duty. An Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) member since college, he was accepted for flying school.

After the war, he was transferred to Keesler AFB, Miss., where he began playing service football. In 1956 he made the All-Air Force team and the following year was transferred to the Far East.

During the 1959 season, his last season of football, he played with the Kadena Falcons in the Okinawa Inter-Service League which included another Air Force team, an Army team and three Marine Corps teams. He led the league in rushing that year and in one game averaged 14 yards per carry, totaling 182 yards and scoring on TD runs of 44 and 41 yards.

A year later Col. Magers returned to his college alma mater for work toward a master's degree. While at University of Kentucky, he coached the offensive ends. During a later assignment as an ROTC instructor at Texas A and M he officiated junior varsity games in the Southwest Conference.

He still has praise for the coaching staff at Boys Town. "They have a great interest in their athletic program, but more importantly they also have a great interest in the boys they coach," he said. "They uncover a boy's interest in sports and then cultivate it."

A 17-year career officer and veterean of more than 100 combat missions in Southeast Asia, Col. Magers plans to enter the junior college teaching and coaching ranks after his retirement from Air Force life. He maintains excellent physical condition by playing squash, handball and badminton.

Sohner Sweeps Doubleheader

Led by the hitting of John Brookman and the pitching of Walt Tyler, Sohner Tree Service softballers swept a Golden Gate Travel League opening doubleheader from the Concord Merchants Saturday night in San Rafael, 2-0 and 3-6.

Brookman singled in Ron McCamish who had tripled to open the fifth inning of the opener and scored the other run for the San Anselmo club on Milt Hain's following single.

And it was Brookman's three-run homer in the bottom of the sixth that won the second game for the Treemen.

Tyler tossed a three-hitter to gain the first game verdict and then came back in relief to win the second tilt.

Foreman Says Barry To Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no agreement on moving the Washington club of the American Basketball Association to the National Basketball Association as part of a merger deal, says Earl Foreman, owner of the Washington franchises.

Foremen told The Associated Press by telephone from Washington Sunday:

"I'm not aware of any agreement reached between the two merger committees and I was there every minute."

Sam Shulman of the NBA's Seattle franchise had announced Saturday that the three-man merger committees, which met in Palm Springs, Calif., had agreed in principle on the following:

The ABA would pay the NBA an $11 million indemnity over 10 years, the Washington franchise would move to another city, and Rick Barry would return to San Francisco of the NBA from Washington.

The agreements will not be proposed to the leagues," Shulman said.

SMALL INVESTOR

Evidence of achievement by U.I.I. Distributors can be seen from Coast-to-Coast!

A business revolution has taken place, proving the "Little Fellow" can emerge a "Mighty Giant" in the U.I.I. money-making route system.

The Questions: Do you have a serviceable car? 6-10 hours free time a week? $1,500 to invest which, according to an authoritative source, triples in value the day you start in the vending business? Can grow to $1,000 a month income with this small cash start. Success isn't automatic . . . you have to work for it!

Whe you do this with U.I.I you'll never suffer from competition. No selling or soliciting . . . just a service function.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

The Disabled Often Cling To Illness Rather Than Fail Again

Everyone reacts differently to illness or injury. Some recover completely, others develop serious emotional problems that prove to be a greater handicap than the orignal ailment.

Between these extremes is a wide range of reactions, depending upon the individual's personality.

Disability may be prolonged when secondary gains, such as compensation, are derived from the misfortune. An operation that usually is successful in eliminating a civilian's backache may be less effective when performed on a soldier or a worker who has a grudge and is looking for compensation.

AN INVALID OFTEN reverts to immature methods of handling his problems. He craves attention and may behave like a child to minimize his anxieties and distress. Some become emotionally upset when the injury or illness recalls previous incidents that occurred to them or their families.

If a heart attack develops in a man whose father died of a similar disorder, the son fears he, too, will die of a coronary.

A hospitalized newspaper man went to pieces when told he needed a special lung test. He immediately thought of lung cancer and became convinced it meant the end.

This reaction was unexpected because he always had been stable and optimistic. His wife supplied the answer when she reminded us that he had recently interviewed a prominent man who was dying of lung cancer.

SOME PERSONS who are permanently disabled become emotionally upset should a new procedure be devised that offers a cure. The thought of reentering the competitive world is too much to take because of the possibility of failure.

Their disability always has afforded an excuse for lack of accomplishment, and they know that if the handicap were corrected they could not live up to expectations.

OTHERS ENJOY being waited upon or use the disability to punish those who neglected them.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if a stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

THYROID AFTER GOITER REMOVAL

A reader writes: After a goiter is removed, must the person take thyroid pills for life?

REPLY

Yes, in many instances, because not enough thyroid tissue is left to supply the amount of this hormone needed by the body. The need for thyroid pills may be greater among those treated with radioactive iodine.

THE SCRATCH TEST

R. L. writes: How is the scratch test done?

REPLY

This is one method of determining the substance (allergen) to which the individual is sensitive. Scratches are made on the skin to insert the materials to be tested. A positive reaction indicates a sensitivity. Once the cause is known, a plan of treatment is suggested.

BOSOM SIZE

G. S. writes: what determines the size of the breasts?

REPLY

Heredity, weight, and the supply of certain hormones are the most important factors. Our leaflet on breast changes discusses this question. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

BACK TO NORMAL

R. T. writes: How long after pregnancy do the menses return?

REPLY

Menstruation usually returns within six weeks.

Labor Council Endorses Two

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO —Two Marin Democratic candidates for state office have been endorsed by the California Labor Council on Political Education, the political arm of the state AFL-CIO.

Endorsed were Michael Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for state Senate, and William M. Bennett of Kent Woodlands, candidate for the State Board of Equalization.

Delegates from throughout the state took a stand of "no endorsement" on Republican candidates for these two contests, an action which meant that the convention regarded none of the candidates seeking the GOP nominations for these offices as qualified.

No Council Meeting

The San Anselmo City Council will not meet tomorrow because of the city election. The council will meet at 8 p.m. April 21 in the council chamber. Most councilmen may be expected, however, to visit city hall tomorrow night to follow the vote counting for the seven candidates for three council seats.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. Tiny Tim's Malted Milk Supply Cut

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Tiny Tim was in a tizzy. The long-haired entertainer with the falsetto reportedly was sore because he broke his megaphone and his manager tried to cut off his malted milk supply.

Tiny and his bride of four months, Miss Vicki, stayed behind a locked door in their suite in the Fremont Hotel during the weekend and took the phone off the hook.

Tiny appeared for his shows but other than that he was incommunicado.

Jeff Wald, a partner in the firm that manages the singer confirmed his company had severed relations with Tiny.

Wald said the trouble started the day of Tiny's first appearance when he had room service send up 27 ice cream sundaes, nine chop suey dinners and 35 malted milks.

Wald said his client tipped $40 and $50 and that he told the hotel to cut Tiny off before they all went bankrupt.

Wald accused Tiny of "unprofessional conduct." He also claimed Tiny had behaved in a similar manner during visits to Australia and elsewhere.

The manager said he had reversed his ban on room service delicacies but Tiny, who is making $50,000 for his two week appearance at the Fremont, was not assuaged.

Most of the items are 19th Century Americana, but include a contemporary Mexican mustache comb, a French perfume distillery and grape shears from England.

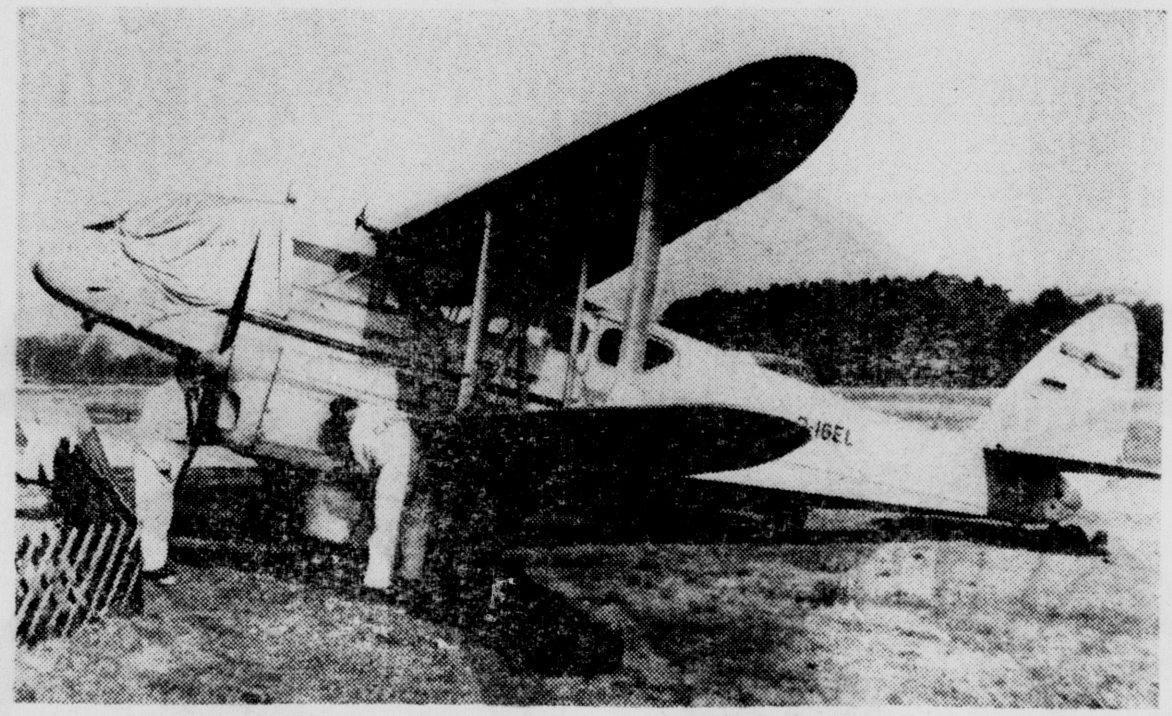
Ancient Caverns Free Of Modern Problem

STANTON, Mo. (UPI) — There's no air pollution problem in the 100-million-year-old Meramec Caverns here because Mother Nature keeps the air circulating at a constant 66 degrees.

Throughout the underground emporium, Lester B. Dill, cave director, has signs posted reading: "We May Be Old-Fashioned But We Don't Have New Air Pollution."



DURABLE AIRPLANE

This De Havilland "Rapide," built in 1937, originally served as the official plane for England's wartime prime minister Winston Churchill, then was sold for service as a Finnish airliner, and finally landed in the hands of a hobbyist in Verden West Germany. With more than 20,000 hours of flying time, the biplane's two Gypsy Queen engines are the originals, still in use.

Miss Marin Pageant To Be Held At Mall

The 1970 Miss Marin Beauty Pageant will take place Saturday, May 2 at Northgate.

The contest, co-sponsored by the Mall at Northgate Merchasts and Holiday Magic, Inc. is expected to prove the biggest, most competitive yet.

Among prizes to be won by Miss Marin are a bathing suit and cover-up from Adrienne's, helicopter transportation to the San Francisco airport from American Express, cultured pearls from Milens Jewelers, a travel ensemble from the City of Paris, a gift certificate from Walden Book Store and a complete cosmetics demonstration kit from Holiday Magic, Inc.

This Saturday, the Miss Marin candidates and their mothers will be entertained at a Coke social in the City of Paris on The Mall. Here, official publicity photos will be taken.

On April 25 all candidates and their mothers will be guests of Holiday Magic, Inc. at a cosmetics information session where the girls will be given special tips on their make-up. At the clinic each girl and her mother will receive an overnight cosmetics "Just-inCase."

Keri Wisgerhof, Miss Marin 1969, says she is proof positive of how thrilling the pageant is. Here is her letter to Carolyn Beach, pageant coordinator:

"Dear Mrs. Beach,

"I've just been thinking of the past year and of the hosor of being Miss Marin.

"The year has gone by so quickly, I guess it's because of the fun and excitement I've had being Miss Marin.

"I want to thank you for all of the help that you have given me.

"When I first became Miss Marin County, you tried to tell me how exciting the Miss California Pageant in Los Angeles would be, but I had to see it for myself to believe it.

"I'll always remember how excited we all were when we found out that the Astronauts from the Apollo 10 were staying at our hotel. But what a state of shock we went into that morning when they came to have breakfast with us. Col. Thomas Stafford, Cdr. Eugene Cernan and Cdr. John Young were just as friendly as could be.

"We were all guests of honor at the opening show for the Lennon Sisters at the Coconut Grove.

"I could go on and on about our six days in Los Angeles at the Miss California Pageant, but you were there so you know how excited I was.

"My favorite outing was to the Los Angeles Music Complex—it's just beautiful!

"I hope that the next Miss Marin will have as much fun as I have had. I would also like to thank Mr. Hugh Turner and KTIM for sponsoring the Miss Marin Pageant. They gave me an opportunity that I will always remember."

Hawaii Store

Sanford Wolfson, president of Garant Brothers Jewelers, has announced that the chain will soon open its newest store in Honolulu's fabulous Kahala Mall. The new store, Granat Brothers' in Hawaii, marks the eleventh store in the sixty-five year old San Francisco firm's expansion program.

Among the firm's stores is one on the Mall at Northgate.

Rome Does As Others

ROME (UPI)—Rome city officials are considering following the example of Florence and other Italian cities in painting taxicabs yellow. The traditional color of Italian taxis has been green and black, which makes them hard to spot in traffic.

Auto Pollution War Picks Up Momentum

DETROIT (UPI)—A war on auto pollution has accelerated suddenly in the United States and President Nixon, lawmakers and others are piling on pressure to clean up a huge exhaust problem.

About 100 major bills have been introduced in state legislatures since Jan. 1 to compel automakers to find means to cut the exhaust —cause of half the U.S. air pollution —and to produce cleaner engines. Several measures would outlaw the internal combustion engine.

Congress is studying a request by President Nixon to cut allowable auto emission by about two-thirds by 1975 and spur the search for a pollution-free car.

$50 BILLION THREAT

At least nine lawsuits have been filed against the auto firms seeking damage for dirty air. An industry source said that if courts ruled against car companies in all cases, it could cost them up to $50 billion.

The auto makers, industry sources say, have cut hydrocarbon exhaust by 80 per cent and carbon monoxide by 65 per cent in the past decade. They have raised spending on antipollution research and development to an estimated $100 million a year.

About 2,700 persons are working in General Motors, Ford and Chrysler technical centers to improve present engines and to try steam engines, gas turbines and electric power as pollution-free substitutes.

NO-LEAD GAS

Five oil companies have announced they will begin offering gasoline without air-polluting octane-boosting lead in 1971.

The Nixon administration asked that all cars be operating on unleaded gasoline by 1972. General Motors said all of its 1971 cars will be able to use a low-grade, lead-free gasoline, and Ford and Chrysler said many of their 1971 cars will be able to use the new fuel, too. All cars will be able to use regular leaded gasoline in areas where the new unleaded fuel is not available.

But the problem is great. Americans own 104 million cars and trucks —nearly 50 per cent more than in 1960. The number grows by several million every year. The vehicles exhaust millions of tons of pollutants that have some toxic effect on the body.

The federal government proposes these maximum emission levels by 1975: 11 grams per mile of carbon monoxide (1970 standard is 23), 0.5 grams per mile of hydrocarbons (now 2.2), 0.9 grams per mile of nitrogen oxide, and 0.1 gram per mile of solid matter (no standard for either now).

With the mushrooming number of cars, the administration doubts the lowest possible exhaust from gasoline engines will be good enough. Nixon urged government and private efforts to find a cleaner engine.

Auto companies aren't sure yet what it will cost to meet Nixon's proposed 1975 standards, but sources at Ford and Chrysler said it could boost new car prices as much as 10 per cent. The new no-lead gasoline, which requires extra processing to get good octane, probably will cost 1 to 4 cents more per gallon.

Among the states, California has applied the greatest pressure. The California legislature has set the toughest standards and a flurry of new proposals have been introduced so far this year.

Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, rocked the auto industry last year when his bill to ban the internal combustion engine in 1975 cleared the Senate. But it died in an Assembly committee.

NEW IDEA FOR COMMUTERS?

Not really, just an accident in which a double-decker rail car carrying autos was jostled by a switch engine while being readied for unloading, and the auto rolled off the upper deck to its odd perch in San Antonio, Tex. No harm was done; the car was pushed onto the freight car again and put safely on the ground. (UPI Telephoto)

HIPPIES HAVE NOTHING ON HIM

Bulgaria Has Teens Studying All In English

SOFIA, Bulgaria (UPI)—In their wool pullover caps, their drab jackets, short hair (for the boys) and pigtails (for the girls) they don't look much like the teen-agers Americans are used to seeing these days.

But they are teen-agers nonetheless—ages 14 to 18—and in three special Bulgarian high schools they are getting their lessons primarily in English.

The schools do not turn out Anglicized graduates. They turn out Communist youngsters who speak or at least have a familiarity with English.

Three other special high schools give their lessons in French, three others in German.

The schools provide a natural pool of future diplomats, trade officials and journalists. The Bulgarians are realists enough to accept that not many non-Bulgarians around the world speak their language.

Jordan Patrashkov, head of the Education Ministry's foreign language school program, declines to concede that the prime purpose of the schools is to train diplomats and others who will have access to the non-Communist world. He tends to stress "general culture."

"It is our purpose," Patrashkov told UPI, "not to make students experts in language, but to give them general culture. Ninety-five per cent of our graduates go on to universities and then to all kinds of occupations. It's our conviction that, no matter what his occupation, he will need command of at least one foreign language."

A visit by an American reporter to one of the schools giving lessons mainly in English did not find the students anxious to give their own views of the curriculum, or why they were attending those particular courses.

But the impression gained is they are a serious group, as serious in their approach to learning as they are, by and large, in their dress and comportment.

Signs on the school's washroom walls are in English. So are the Marxist slogans posted in the hallways. This was at Public School No. 114, a greystone building built in 1957 in the heart of this Bulgarian capital.

At P.S. 114, 850 teen-agers spend their days wrestling with such courses as history, physics, chemistry and geography in a language few of them had ever heard before entering the school. Only mathematics and Bulgarian history are taught in Bulgarian. Similar schools thrive in Romania and the Soviet Union.

The Sofia school is so popular there are 10 candidates for every place, Patrashkov said.

The knowledge of a western language gives the students a view of another world that few Bulgarians are allowed to visit. But because the school's job is to raise Communists as well as English-speakers, the content is not exactly that of a typical English or American school.

Almost all the books are non-Western, but are Bulgarian texts translated into English. A beginning chemistry text, for instance, ends with a chapter of praise on the growth of Bulgarian medical care under the Communists.

In the first-year English class, the text is openly propagandistic. Various chapters praise Bulgaria and the Soviet Union, deride American racism, discuss the plight of English workers as though nothing had changed since Karl

This year Petris proposes among other things: a ban after Jan. 1, 1975, of any engine that produces any pollution, and a $25 million reward for the first person to design a practical, smog-free car.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has proposed a California program which would require certifying that smog control devices on cars are working, offer an incentive to firms converting their fleets to engines using a combustion of compressed natural gas and gasoline, and give the state air resources board strong powers over gasoline composition.

BIG THREE PLEDGES

The Big Three car manufacturers all have pledged a fight against pollution.

General Motors said it spent $125 million on the effort in the three-year period 1966-68. It now has 1,400 persons on the job at its research center and is believed to be spending about $50 million on pollution studies this year.

GM has studied scores of types of engines in the past two decades but a spokesman said alternatives are a "long way from replacing present day car engines in mass production."

Most alternative engines provide pollution, too, plus other problems.

The gas turbine appears to be the best alternative, the spokesman said, but "our best estimate puts the cost of an automotive gas turbine power plant at two to three times that of a conventional piston engine."

ELECTRIC CAR

The electric car, only zero-pollution motor vehicle, is a possibility but no one has come up with strong enough, practical batteries for any lengthy travel.

The steam engine and Stirling engine have less potential.

At Ford, about 900 persons are working on research and alternative motors at a cost of $30 million a year.

Henry Ford II, in his 1969 year-end news conference, noted that "the major obstacle to a quick and dramatic reduction in total automobile emissions is the fact that about 60 million older cars are in use that are not equipped with any exhaust emission controls."

Ford is testing a pollution control kit which may be offered to used-car owners at a price of somewhere around $50.

At Chrysler, vice Chairman Virgil E. Boyd says, "We have the equivalent of 400 persons assigned full time" to antipollution work.

Optomizer Control Corp. of St. Louis Park, Minn., said it has received a federal contract for a mechanical system it said might eventually cut auto fumes by 90 per cent. The firm said it has spent $300,000 over three years developing a cigar-box-sized device to adjust ignition timing automatically, providing top engine performance and cutting pollution.

LEGAL ACTIONS

Measures offered in state legislatures to control pollution are varied in their approaches to the problem.

Legislatures in New York, Hawaii and Massachusetts are considering bills to outlaw the internal combustion engine by Jan. 1, 1975. A bill in the state of Washington to ban that engine by 1980 died in a committee.

The Massachusetts bill also would adopt California standards for 1971 and 1972. In addition, New York and Hawaii bills would eliminate the use of lead in gasoline — in New York it would be by stages by 1974.

The Georgia Senate has passed that state's first auto pollution control bill and sent it to the House. It would bar pollution which obscures light by 30 per cent or more.

In Pennsylvania, the House passed two control bills last Nov. 24 and sent them to the Senate. One would authorize setting standards for crankcase and exhaust systems. The other would include such inspections in the regular motor vehicle inspection program.

New Jersey has a 1966 law providing for regulation of auto pollution, and standards are now being developed. Vermont has a law that prevents car owners from removing exhaust control devices.

The Language, English; The Politics, Bulgarian

Marx's time, and state: "The Soviet space program always has been ahead of the American program."

The only Western books are found in the library, and they are a mixed bag. There is a great deal of Shakespeare, Mark Twain and Charles Dickens. Lenin and Oscar Wilde stand cover to cover. There are 20 copies of J.D. Salinger's "A Catcher in the Rye"—a book still banned in some American schools—and single copies of "From Here to Eternity," D.H. Lawrence's "Sons and Lovers," Graham Greene's critical novel on the U.S. presence in Vietnam, "The Quiet American," and "MacBird," a bitter American attack on Lyndon B. Johnson.

The only foreign newspaper in evidence is the Morning Star, the British Communist Party paper.

This emphasis on Communist content extends to pictures in the hallway of both the Bulgarian and Soviet party politburo. But the bearded gentleman staring down from the wall in the chemistry course is not Marx but the British hypothesizer of evolution, Charles Darwin.

No attempt is made to stress British or American history. Patrashkov said the curriculum, basically, is the usual Bulgarian courses translated into English.

The pupils seem to learn well. The first year is spent entirely in mastering English and a visitor who dropped into the first-year class in its sixth month found the Bulgarian students, all dressed in black smocks, or suit coats, chatting easily in English with their teacher. By the second year, even the toughest work is all in English.

All conversation in the school is in English. So are the charts and other posters. Although there are a handful of British exchange teachers, most of the teachers are Bulgarians who must teach their subjects and English at the same time.

Patrashkov, himself a French speaker, said the government tries to keep an equal balance of students studying English, French and German but is expanding its English program in response to the overwhelming popularity of that language.

The stress on English, French and German does not mean that Russian is ignored, he said. All Bulgarian students begin lessons in Russian in the fifth grade. Besides, he said, the Russian and Bulgarian tongues are so similar that Russian is not really considered a foreign language.

The intensive foreign language training ends at age 18. In their last year at the school, everything is taught in Bulgarian—because that still is the only language for college entrance examinations here.

46,000 Eligible To Ballot In 12 Municipal Elections

Most Polling Places Open 12 Hours In Marin, Southern Sonoma Cities

More than 46,000 voters in Marin and Southern Sonoma are eligible to vote tomorrow to fill 28 city council seats in 12 municipal elections.

Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., except in Novato, Belvedere, Cotati, Tiburon, and Rohnert Park where the polls will close an hour later.

Mill Valley voters, who two years ago voted for withdrawal from the Vietnam War, will have another issue of national interest on their ballot.

They will vote on whether the voting age should be reduced to 18 years of age, with a favorable vote expected to give impetus to an initiative campaign for a statewide referendum in November to lower the voting age.

Another measure on the Mill Valley ballot will be to grant city councilmen, now unpaid, a salary of $150 a month.

In Cotati, residents will vote on a $100,000 bond measure to finance new sewer lines and a connection with the Rohnert Park sewage disposal plant.

The 15-year bonds would be sold at a maximum interest rate of 7 per cent.

Candidates in municipal elections are:

BELVEDERE: (1,483 registered voters, two seats) Beatrice S. Mann, Willard G. Pittman and Allan Steinau. (Vernon E. Perry has withdrawn but his name will be on the ballot.

CORTE MADERA: (4,119, three seats) Edward W. Colthurst, Holmes S. Norville, Harold B. Wagstaff, David I. Freed, Patricia Friend and Herber C. Leney.

COTATI: (654, two seats) Frank J. Dolsinek, Thomas Jeffrey Hughes and Herbert Winters.

FAIRFAX: (3,302, three seats) Frank J. Egger, Robert R. Souza, Adelaide P. Wilson, Winston R. Curtis, Albert E.

Schools Seeking Tax Hikes

Two school districts in Marin — Novato Unified and Dixie — will seek voter approval tomorrow to hike general purpose tax rates.

In the Novato district the measure will be to raise the rate 85 cents from $3.43 per $100 assessed valuation to $4.28.

The district total tax rate including overrides and bond repayment is now $5.345. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. The district has 12,845 registered voters.

In the Dixie district voters will be asked to approve a 50-cent increase in the general operating tax rate from $3.35 per $100 assessed valuation to $3.85.

The district's total tax rate is now $3.995.

Dixie voters also will cast ballots on a measure to hike the bond interest rate from 5 to 7 per cent.

The district is seeking a hike in the bond interest because $1,495,000 in bonds previously authorized bonds haven't been saleable at 5 per cent.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. The district has 8,085 registered voters.

Los Angeles Is Hit By Teacher Strike

Advisory Personnel Man Schools

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Teachers demanding higher wages and better working conditions struck the Los Angeles City School District today. Supervisory personnel and non-striking teachers tried to keep schools open for the city's 650,000 school children.

School administrators said they planned to seek a court order requiring the strikers to return to work.

It was the first full scale strike against the nation's second larget school district. Teachers staged a one-day walkout last year. Estimates of the duration of today' action ranged from days to weeks.

About 50 pickets marched in front of the Board of Education offices while groups of teachers paraded outside each of the district's 616 schools. There were no reports of disturbances.

50 PCT. EFFECTIVE

An hour after classes began, school officials said reports from 11 secondary schools indicated the strike was about 50 per cent effective. Union estimates had between 50 and 75 per cent of the district's 25,000 teachers honoring the strike.

School Supt. Robert Kelly said of 3,000 substitute teachers available to the district ,1,600 reported for teaching duty today while another 400 worked as administrative subs.

Gompers Junior High School in the south section of town was the first to suspend classes—after 88 of 113 teachers stayed out. The school's 2,248 students were told to remain on school ground until a decision was made whether to send them home.

SOME SPOT CHECKS

Spot checks at other schools, as reported by the school distirct, ranged from 37 of 100 teachers out at El Sereno Junior High to 79 of 100 out at Carver Junior High.

Robert Ransom, president of the United Teachers of Los Angeles, the union representing 22,000 of the district's 25,000 teachers, asked Kelly to close the schools.

The union and the district agree that only the state can provide the money necessary to meet even part of the teachers' demands for more pay, smaller classes, class aides and such improvements as carpeting, air conditioning and soundproofing.

On April 4 the teachers rejected an offer of a 5 per cent increase over the present annual salary range of $7,320 to $13,650. The district said it faced a $40 million deficit already and would need half a billion dollars to meet all the demands.

Meanwhile today, teachers in the Santa Maria High School District returned to classes today after weekend-long negotiations with school board representatives.

A DANGEROUS BOMB IS FOUND BY BOY, 15

A dangerous homemade bomb was found on a San Rafael roadway yesterday by a 15-year-old boy.

The bomb was discovered, according to police, on Jones Place at 4:20 p.m. by Peter Dalk of 44 Knoll Road, San Rafael. The youth immediately turned the explosive over to police.

The bomb consists of a fuse-type blasting cap, that alone could blow out a person's eyes or remove his fingers, police said. Two shot gun shells taped together were also found, police said. A hole had been drilled in the base of one of the shells.

The explosive will be sent to the San Francisco Presidio today for analysis, police said.

Red Rockets Rip Saigon, Three Die

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas hit Saigon with a rocket attack tonight, the first since Dec. 17. At the same time Allied intelligence sources warned of new and bigger Communist offensives this spring, including attacks on Saigon.

U.S. and South Vietnamese police officials said at least six rockets hit Saigon, killing three persons and injuring 44. All of the dead and 38 of the wounded were in the crowded Olympic Theater where a rocket struck the rear wall. (See Southeast Asia fighting roundup, page 2.)

Two rockets struck the Interior Ministry building four blocks from the presidential palace and two blocks from the U.S. Embassy, wounding one woman and sending two others into shock. Police first reported the explosions here and at the theater as terrorist bombs, but later found the rocket engines.

Another hit the Saigon River and blew out windows in the government-owned Majestic Hotel where a singer and several other persons were cut by flying glass.

National Police said another rocket landed on the tennis court at the Cercle Sportif, a luxurious country club favored by South Vietnam's political and social leaders and the diplomatic set.

Military spokesmen said tonight captured Communist documents and information from a captured Viet Cong district leader indicated another round of Communist attacks could be expected late this month in South Vietnam.

They said the documents reported that the long expected spring offensive in the Central Highlands got under way April 1 and that it would continue until June. In this offensive the Communists have had the Dak Seang Special Forces camp under siege for three weeks and attacked the one at Dak Pek 20 miles to the north on Sunday.

Wounded irregular troops being flown out of Dak Pek said the situation there was very serious and that the Communists were shelling the base late today.

Apollo 13 Speeding Flawlessly To Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Apollo 13's astronauts today sped quietly and flawlessly toward a rendezvous Tuesday with the moon while ground controllers tracked a rocket stage headed for an explosive impact on the lunar surface.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. retired early today for 10 hours rest. Mission control planned to let them sleep past noon.

Medics reported that Lovell, the only one of the three wired for medical monitoring, slept soundly.

Trailing about 900 miles behind Apollo 13 was the third stage of the Saturn 5 rocket that hoisted the astronauts away from planet earth Saturday.

Signals from the ground shifted the 61-foot stage to a collision course with the moon. Mission control said tracking data today shows it will strike the surface about 8:10 p.m. (EST) Tuesday about 105 miles west of a seismometer left on the moon by the Apollo 12 astronauts in November.

That is about half an hour after Apollo 13 is to fire into moon orbit. The astronauts won't see the impact because they will be on the far side of the moon.

Seismic experts estimate the 15-ton stage will smash with a force equal to 11 tons of TNT, and that it will gouge a crater 100-120 feet deep. The resulting tremors, recorded by the seismometer, should tell scientists much about the internal structure of the moon.

The Apollo 12 spacemen deliberately crashed their lunar lander after they left the moon and the impact vibrated the seismometer a surprising 55 minutes, indicating the subsurface material is broken up. A similar explosion on earth would reverberate only a few minutes.

The Apollo 13 astronauts were relaxing on the three-day outward journey in preparation for four gruelling days in the vicinity of the moon.

The astronauts zipped past the halfway mark—128,000 miles from both earth and moon—Sunday and fired a brief burst of their spaceship engine to shift course slightly and zero in on a spot 70 miles above the lunar surface. They hope to hit that bull's-eye and fire into lunar orbit at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

They blasted off Saturday.

Marin Gets A Little Taste Of Wintertime

Windblown showers bullied their way through Marin today on the shoulders of a strong cold front, and forecasters predicted a chance of further rain tonight.

High winds downed a 35-foot pine tree at the Terra Linda home of Frank Merrick, 428 Montecillo Road, but no other damage was reported from the window-rattling storm. Terra Linda had a 43-degree temperature drop overnight, from 79 degrees to an overnight low of 36. Woodacre reported winds of 22 miles an hour last night. Wind reports were sketchy and the Air Force station on Mount Tamalpais reported its wind gauge has been broken for some time.

Rainfall was light, with .10 of an inch reported at Fairfax, .09 at Woodacre and Point Reyes Station, .07 at Ross, .02 at Sausalito and Mill Valley, .03 at San Anselmo and .10 in Larkspur's Chevy Chase area, all at 8 a.m. today. A trace of rain was reported in Bolinas and Tiburon, and Santa Venetia reported no rain at 8 a.m. but showers starting after then.

The forecast calls for a 30 per cent chance of rain tonight, and small craft warnings were issued predicting west winds of 20 to 40 miles an hour.

U.S. Vietnam Troop Count Under Ceiling

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troop strength in Vietnam has dropped below the authorized ceiling of 434,000, virtually completing President Nixon's third-phase withdrawal and setting the stage for a new round of cutbacks.

Nixon goes on television with a Vietnam report Thursday night and is expected to announce a new withdrawal that will total 50,000 men. April 15—Wednesday—was the target date set by Nixon to bring the troop strength down to 434,000.

The U.S. Command reported today in its weekly troop summary that American military manpower in Vietnam decreased by 10,200 men last week to 429,200, the lowest level in more than three years.

A New Round In Kopechne Papers

BOSTON (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Andrew Caffrey ordered a Massachusetts court clerk today to show why he should not be blocked from releasing the Mary Jo Kopechne inquest transcript Wednesday.

The judge acted after a professional court stenographer, Sidney Upman, said the release of the probe of the death would violate his rights to reproduce the transcript for sale.

Miss Kopechne drowned in July when a car driven by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., flipped off a bridge.

Tam Board Chooses New Superintendent

Dr. Wilber Dale Hawkins, presently assistant superintendent of the Norwalk-Mirada School District in Southern California, has been named superintendent of the Tamalpais Union High School District.

Hawkins, 49, will begin work July 1.

Hawkins' appointment, which came at a closed meeting of the board April 6 but was not announced until today, ends a nine-month search for a new superintendent for the district.

District board members began the search last Aug. 7 after Chester G. Carlisle, who had served as superintendent for 17 years, was reassigned as a district consultant and relieved of duty as superintendent.

Asst. Supt. Robert D. Torrey was named as acting superintendent and will continue to serve in that capacity until June 30. He is expected to return to his previous position beginning July 1.

Carlisle's reassignment followed receipt of a report—authored by Arther D. Little—which was critical of the district's administration and said there was a "leadership stall" and that Carlisle no longer "provided strong direction."

Hawkins will be the fourth superintendent in the district's 62-year history. E. E. (Duke) Wood served 36 years and Williard Van Dyke was superintendent for nine years prior to Carlisle's arrival.

Hawkin's annual salary will be $30,000, compared to Carlisle's $27,500.

Hawkins was selected from 150 applicants, from which five finalists were selected by a screening committee. His appointment was unanimous.

Hawkins received his bachelor's degree from the University

Cong, North Viet Units Continue Hits On Borders

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops kept up the pressure in South Vietnam and Cambodia Sunday, assaulting remote border posts, villages and towns.

Attacks in the central highlands and the northern quarter of South Vietnam killed two more Americans and 25 government soldiers as the enemy offensive ground into its 13th day. Fifteen Americans and 170 South Vietnamese were wounded.

INTO U.S. CAMP

North Vietnamese sappers blasted their way into an artillery base nine miles southeast of Quang Tri City, killing the two Americans. But 36 of the attackers were slain, headquarters said.

Enemy gunners also shot down four U.S. helicopters in widely scattered parts of the country, killing two more Americans and wounding seven others.

In Cambodia Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces made fresh attacks Sunday on two towns along Highway 1 near the South Vietnamese border, according to Radio Phnom Penh.

The radio reported the fourth attack of the week on the border town of Prasaut and anther on Kompong Trabek, 35 miles to the west, which has been the scene of fighting in the last two days.

PROVINVIAL CAPITAL

The Cambodian government has concentrated its limited forces in the provincial capital of Svay Rieng, midway between the two attacked towns. Refugees have been flooding into Svay Rieng.

According to documents captured in Vietnam, the Communist high command has labeled its current offensive the X Campaign and plans to extend it in various phases until June.

Other captured documents indicate that the insurgents have been ordered to make an all-out effort to uproot the South Vietnamese pacification program, according to one informant.

"Efforts are to be made to overrun district headquarters," said the source. "Government officials at all levels in towns and cities are to be assassinated . . . Sapper raids are to be emphasized."

The most serious North Vietnamese assault reported today was a sabotage raid on a camp near Pleiku housing the families of South Vietnamese rangers sent to the defense of the Dak Seang Special Forces outpost 60 miles to the north. Thirteen men, women and children were killed, 70 wounded and some 25 houses burned down.

Phnom Penh radio also reted enemy attacks on an outpost at Snoul, in eastern Cambodia adjoining South Vietnam's War Zone C. Another assault was reported on a post on the west bank of the Mekong River in Kandal Province near the Plain of Reeds.

The government radio said these attacks were made "with the active participation of Vietnamese residents" but gave no further details.

The charge was in line with an ongoing government campaign to arouse the easy-going Cambodians into hatred and distrust of the 600,000 resident Vietnamese.

Gen. Lon Nol's "salvation government" has been rounding up Vietnamese of doubtful loyalty and spreading propaganda reminding its citizens that in centuries past "the Vietnamese massacred the Cambodians . . . used Cambodian heads for cooking pots . . . looted shops and burned Cambodians alive."

Southwest of Phnom Penh, toward the Gulf of Siam, a Viet Cong-North Vietnamese force is said to be establishing a command post in the Elephant Mountains.

The headquarters, 75 miles southwest of the capital and 30 miles from the nearest point in South Vietnam, is clearly a threat to Phnom Penh—not Saigon.

While fighting rages elsewhere in Indochina, the people of Laos are taking the week off to celebrate their new year.

New year celebrations make some observers in Laos think to the 1968 Tet offensive in South Vietnam, but Laotian military officials discount the possibility of further attacks by the Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese.

"In fact the Communist offensive may be dying out," said one officer, who thinks the North Vietnamese have overextended themselves in Laos.

LOOT VILLAGE—Cambodian soldiers, with their arms full of loot, leave a village on the Prek Trabek River which they burned over the weekend. They attacked the village because of suspected Viet Cong infiltrators.

New Attack On Antiwar Element

PALO ALTO (AP) — When "activists and revolutionaries speak of getting out of Vietnam," says the commander of the California National Guard, "they really are saying they want a North Vietnamese victory."

Maj. Gen. Glenn C. Ames lashed out at antiwar protesters, antiwar congressmen and the news media Saturday at the 43rd annual convention of the California Department of the Reserve Officers Association.

Students trying to get rid of military officer training programs on campus are really trying to "hamstring the leadership of the military services to the point of impotency," Ames said.

Ames said that despite decisions by several universities to drop ROTC, there has been an increase of 27 ROTC units at colleges across the nation and that another 42 have applied for units.

Eagle Arrives

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) - Columbia Eagle, the U.S. munitions ship held three weeks in Cambodian waters after two crewmen hijacked it, arrived at the U. S. Navy's Subic Bay base today.

Th freighter prepared to unload her 1,750-ton cargo of bombs and ammunition, which she was carrying to U.S. forces in Thailand when the hijackers seized the ship March 16.

The hijackers tricked 24 crewmen overboard in a lifeboat and sailed into Sihanoukville, Cambodia, with 15 crewmen and the captain, Donald Swann. The crewmen from the lifeboat were picked up by a sister ship.

The hijackers remained in Cambodia, where they were granted political asylum.

Stardust Fire

LAS VEGAS, Nev (AP) - Arson has been eliminated as the cause of a smoky fire at the Stardust Hotel which killed one firemen and forced evacuation of 500 hotel guests and employees.

Investigators said Sunday the first-floor blaze that broke out in a supply room filled with flammable cleaning fluids may have been ignited by a stray spark, cigarette or spontaneous combustion.

Killed in the Saturday blaze, apparently by smoke inhalation, was Capt. Frank Testa, 43, Clark County fire department commander. Seventeen other persons, including 11 firemen, were injured.

Porter Killed

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) - A Sherpa porter for a Japanese expedition was killed by a falling block of ice on Mt. Everest, the eighth Nepali to die on the world's highest mountain in the past three weeks.

The message said that the Sherpa, one of 500 porters with a 39-member team from the Japanese Alpine Club of Tokyo, was killed Thursday when he was struck 18,300 feet up the 29,028-foot peak. He was the 22nd climber to die on Everest.

Stench For Queen

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) - Stink bombs released by students almost disrupted a garden party today for Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

As the queen was about to sit down for tea on the Parliament House lawn, the stench of rotten eggs wafted across the yard.

Police raced into the Institute of Technology grounds next door and found a milk bottle containing sulphurated hydrogen. The police hurriedly dumped the "bomb" down a sewer, then went to look for more.

They found a second bottle and carried it through the institute classrooms-giving redfaced students a good sniff-before dumping it.

Tribute To Envoy

BONN, Germany (AP) - The West Germany government paid tribute today to Count Karlivon Spreti, its murdered ambassador to Guatemala, in ceremony in the Bundestag, the lower house of parliament.

While the ambassador's body lay in state in a closed coffin, Foreign Minister Walter Scheel declared in a eulogy that Von Spreti's murder by Guatemalan leftists was a "a crime that cannot be justified by any political goal."

"He became the victim of people who assert that they are fighting for something better than the present conditions," Scheel said. "No one in the world who has even a spark of humanity left in him can hold to this belief after this infamous deed.

Scotch Boy Survives Refrigerator Ordeal

KILBIRNIE, Scotland (AP) — Steven Bian, 4, was found safe Sunday after 19 hours in an abandoned refrigerator. He was saved by a small splinter which jammed in the rubber gasket around the door and let air in.

The child told his mother an older boy shut him in the box.

Kills Five

SEOUL (AP) - A South Korean marine sergeant went berserk and killed five other marines including two officers, the Defense Ministry announced today.

Sgt. Pai Chong-hai, 27, opened fire with his M16 automatic rifle and threw a hand grenade as a group of marines were cleaning their weapons in their barracks on the western front.

Sgt. Pai turned his rifle on himself and put a bullet into his chest, but it did not kill him, the ministry said. He was found half a mile from the barracks and was taken to a hospital.

The sergeant return to Korea last July after a tour of duty in South Vietnam.

8 Italians Drown

MESSINA, Sicily (AP) — A 500-ton Italian freighter, the Duizar, sank off Sicily today after its cargo shifted in the hold. Only one of the nine crewmen was saved.

U.S. Team Leaves For Arms Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bearing secret instructions from President Nixon, U.S. negotiators set out today for a crucial round of talks with the Soviets on curbing the arms race between the two superpowers.

The six-man team led by U.S. disarmament chief Gerard Smith is stopping first at Brussels to brief the NATO allies Tuesday on the forthcoming U.S.-Soviet Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT.

Then Thursday, at Vienna, the U.S. envoys sit down with their Soviet opposites to begin tough bargaining that is expected to go on for months. The two sides held a preliminary discussions session at Helsinki last fall.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union are moving cautiously on SALT, which involves the basic nuclear weapons power of both nations. If an agreement is reached, it will be a landmark of the atomic age.

Nixon met with the U.S. negotiators over the weekend, gave them final instructions and wished them well.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler gave no hint of what the instructions are. Reporting on the 50-minute meeting at the White House, he said only that "the delegation is going to Vienna with a constructive attitude."

Other sources said they expect the United States will offer a specific missile curb proposal at Vienna a few days after the April 16 opening. They doubted the proposal would be for a general missile freeze at the outset, though they left open this possibility later on.

The Senate last week passed a resolution calling on Nixon to propose an immediate, mutula-freeze by both sides on further deployment of all strategic nuclear weapons systems, both offensive and defensive.

Among other things this would halt deployment on the U.S. side of MIRVs—multiple independently retargeted vehicles, now slated to start in June.

DEEP STEAM wall-to-wall carpet cleaning offers you :

GENTLE CLEANING ACTION . . . no brushes or scrubbing action is used to wear or distort the carpet pile.

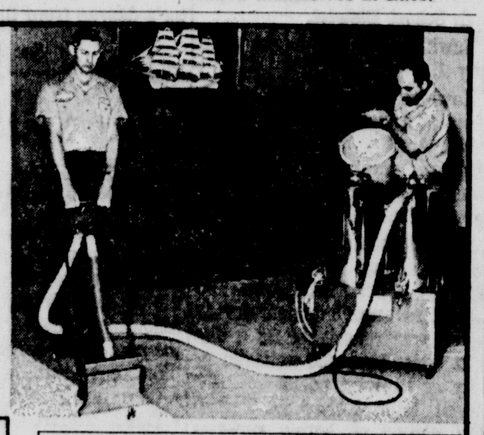
LIKE-NEW RESTORATION of original color, texture, and matted pile without use of chemicals.

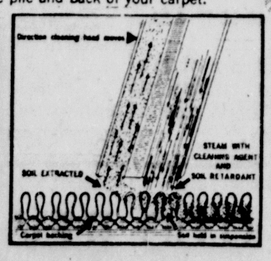
MOISTURE CONTROL which insures fast drying and avoids carpet shrinkage.

SAFE PROCESS . . . guaranteed to be completely safe for all fabrics, and under any condition.

GREATER ECONOMY because the Deep Steam cleaning process Soil Retards and Mothproofs your carpet. This minimizes the need for frequent professional cleaning.

LONGER CARPET LIFE since deeply imbedded soil is safely extracted from both the pile and back of your carpet.





HOW DEEP STEAM SOIL EXTRACTION WORKS
Deep Steam Soil Extraction equipment applies wet steam with a professional formula and soil retardant under pressure deep into the carpet fibers. The two cleaning agents combine to break down soil and the static electric charge, which holds the soil deep in the pile of the carpet, and brings this soil into suspension. Then, instantly, the moisture and soil are removed by the powerful continuous extraction process into a separate stainless steel container. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with SOIL RETARDANT and MOTHPROOFING to keep your carpet cleaner and protected longer.

The Old Method

The conventional shampoo scrubbing method uses preliminary vacuuming to remove some loose soil. The shampoo equipment, with harsh brushes, utilizing different types of liquid detergents or powders, scrubs the remaining soil DEEPER into the carpet . . . and even with the help of a wet vacuum fails to remove most of the soil or residue. This residue which is left in the carpet then works its way to the surface and attracts more soil. Soon your carpet may appear more soiled than before!

New Citizens Remain Proud Of Their Lebanese Heritage

Pride in newly acquired U. S. citizenship doesn't mean you can forget about your heritage or can cut ties with the old country.

That's the philosophy of a Mill Valley couple who recently earned citizenship papers.

Kevrok Boursalian, 31 and his wife Helen, of 207 Reed Street, left their Beirut, Lebanon, home in 1962 when Kevork obtained a job as a choir director and Armenian language teacher in Worcester, Mass.

But leaving Lebanon didn't mean forgetting it.

The couple arrived in the United States $800 in debt but full of hope. He worked for two years in the east and then the cold winters drove the couple to Mill Valley in 1964. Now fully entrenched in the American way of life, the Boursalians continue to remember their heritage and seek to pass it on to their two children.

The children — Ani, 4, and Tamar, 3, — are being reared as Lebanese children. The Boursalians speak Armenian at home and serve mainly Armenian dishes like shish-kebab. The parents would like to send their children to an Armenian school if one were available. The children currently attend a Saturday class at St Gregory's Armenian Apostolic Church on Armenian language and history taught by their mother, who taught school in Lebanon.

Armenian social, cultural and political life has traditionally centered around the church, the Boursalians believe, and they have continued that tradition.

Boursalian is now a production manager at Faulkner Color Photography Lab in San Francisco, but he also directs a church choir and leads Armenian folk singing groups.

"I live almost like I did in Lebanon because lots of people from overseas are here in the area," he said.

He said he was continuing "old country" traditions because he doesn't want his children to lose their cultural identity.

"But we're still glad to be Americans" he smiled.

Other Marin residents naturalized last month are:

Bomb Threat

A telephoned bomb hoax at 1:30 p.m. yesterday caused a brief evacuation of the Lucky Market at 720 Center Boulevard, Fairfax, police reported.

NEW CITIZENS—Helen and Kevork Boursalian reminisce over photos of their native Lebanon. American citizens now, they seek to preserve their Lebanese heritage, an effort that is very American itself in its contribution to diversity of cultures.

Peace Groups Protest War Tax Funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — While millions of Americans grumble quietly about paying income taxes, three peace groups are planning protests this week against using the tax money for war.

Starting today with a fast, including a "nondinner" scheduled at Lafayette Park across from the White House, protest leaders say the three days before Wednesday's midnight deadline for filing tax returns will be filled with rallies, demonstrations and student strikes in more than 150 cities and on hundreds of college campuses.

The war protests were called by the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, the Vietnam Moratorium Committee and the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

Protest leaders are planning rallies and demonstrations Wednesday to focus on the past and present use of tax money for war spending. They say they also want to show the relationship of the Vietnam war to inflation and social problems.

The taxpayer rallies in most cities, organizers said, would be held in front of or near Internal Revenue Service centers. They also plan "Boston Tea Party" demonstrations, the passing out of leaflets in shopping areas, and the circulation of petitions and antiwar literature.

Rallies are slated for such cities as Boston ,New York, Baltimpre, Newark, Knoxville, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Houston and Dallas. But national organizers also claimed many smaller cities and towns would be having demonstrations.

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee says eight U.S. senators and 17 representatives have endorsed the taxpayer rallies. It also claimed endorsements from more than 300 student leaders.

The Student Mobilization Committee, which called a student strike for Wednesday, said it is unable to predict how many campuses it would hit, but one spokesman said "probably a couple of hundred."

Officers Recheck Burglary Clues In Socialite Slaying

ORINOA (AP) — Police rechecked burglary reports today in the hunt for clues to the unexplained slaying of a socially prominent housewife in her $50,000 hillside home.

Officers speculated that Barbara Keenan, 42, might have been attacked by a burglar in the kitchen after she had returned from a tennis game with a friend.

She had been shot three times and struck on the head with a steam iron whose cord was wrapped around her neck.

The body was discovered Friday by her daughter, Margaret, 14, returning from school.

Officers said three .22-caliber shell casings were found in the kitchen. The victim had not been sexually molested, police said.

No burglary clues were found, but neighbors along the hillside expressed increased alarm over what one woman described as a "rash of midnight burglaries."

Sheriff's officers have advised residents to obtain either watch dogs or burglar alarms and to shine lights throughout the night to make up for lack of street lights.

The victim's husband, Oakland insurance executive Harold F. Keenan, said his wife "didn't have an enemy in the world."

She was "basically a warm, outgoing person" who loved to work with young people, he said. She was a Sunday school teacher at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Orinda.

Hitch Supports ROTC Training

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — To assure that we have a "civilian-based Army," says University of California President Charles Hitch, military training should remain a part of campus curriculum.

The head of the nine-campus state university system also said Sunday in a televised interview that he feels ROTC could be improved academically.

In the past two weeks demonstrators opposing ROTC on campus have been active at both UC Berkeley and Stanford University, a private school.

Asked about the increase in student fees to take effect next fall, Hitch pointed out that the regents have voted to provide an additional $4 million for grant-aid and work-study programs.

Chicago Hard Hit By Trucking Crisis

COMBINED AP & UPI

Lockouts and strikes today idled thousands of persons in the Chicago area, a key site in a dispute over a national contract agreement in the trucking industry.

Meanwhile on another labor front crisis, air traffic controllers returned to work in gradually increasing numbers and officials of their union predicted improvement in the situation.

The Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization (PATC) (PATCO) said it expected to see "an appreciable rise" in the number of controllers ending their "sick-out" that started 19 days ago.

The Federal Aviation Administration said it was not having any real problems except at three air traffic centers — New York, Kansas City and Chicago.

Most cities, according to the FAA, reported 100 per cent attendance, including once trouble-plagued Oakland.

A federal court back-to-work order issued Saturday was held a major reason for easing the air traffic situation.

Teamsters Local 705 and the independent Chicago Truck Drivers Union called their 32,000 members out on strike after a midnight deadline.

More than 1,000 trucking firms employing about 15,000 drivers signed contracts before the deadline, Teamsters negotiator Louis F. Peick said.

Picket lines patrolled trucking terminals at Chicago and other cities. Pickets at Detroit threw rocks at out-of-town drivers arriving at one motor city terminal.

A trucking firm supervisor in Detroit told police that two shots, apparently fired at him, struck a loading dock where he was standing.

Peick said the firms that had signed had agreed to contracts giving Chicago drivers wage hikes of $1.65 over three years, better than the $1.10 national truckers and Teamsters agreed to in Washington. Some 450,000 drivers across the nation were to vote on that agreement, which has caused unrest among dissatisfied drivers.

While Peick was issuing a strike order for today, Howard Willett, chief negotiator for five trucking associations in the Chicago area, said Sunday the truckers viewed the situation in this light: "You can't fire me because I quit."

The reference was to the lockout begun last week by truckers who held to their original offer of 70 cents an hour more over three years. Willett said the truckers would meet today to plan more strategy.

In Detroit, the 6,000 striking members of Teamsters Local 299 met Sunday night on whether to end their walkout, but could not decide. Local 299 represents 18,000 workers and is the home local of James R. Hoffa, imprisoned Teamsters president, and acting President Frank Fitzsimmons.

The illegal strike has caused auto companies to lay off 14,500 workers and place another 40,000 on reduced schedules. Some strikers ended picketing during the weekend but dissidents vowed to resume picketing cartage company terminals today.

On another front, the American Newspaper Guild has scheduled a strike to begin at 6 a.m. Tuesday against the New York Post. If the Guild members do strike, the city's three other daily newspapers may close down.

Guild officials announced the strike plan Sunday night when talks with the Post broke down after eight hours with little progress reported. Old contracts for some 13,000 employes at the city's four dailies expired March 31, but negotiations have continued.

In the past, publishers have taken the position that if one newspaper was struck, they were all struck. In addition to the Post, the New York Times, the Daily News and the Long Island Press are involved in the negotiations with 10 unions, including the Guild, which represents editorial workers.

Tunney Asks To Be Named Conservator

A brother of a Tiburon woman accused of the hatchet slaying of her husband in an English cottage today filed a petition in Marin Superior Court asking that he be named conservator of her estate.

Joan Tunney Wilkinson, the daughter of Gene Tunney, is not able to care for her property because she is jailed in London, according to the petition. It asked that Gene L. Tunney, who lives at 42 Ranch Road, San Rafael, be named conservator.

The petition has been signed by Mrs. Wilkinson's parents who live in Stamford, Conn.

Attorney Michael R. Marron of San Francisco obtained a May 12 court hearing on the request before Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

According to the petition, Mrs. Wilkinson has property which includes $30,000 in securities plus real estate of an unnamed value which provides an annual income of $15,600.

Mrs. Wilkinson is accused of murdering her husband, Lynn Carter Wilkinson, in a cottage in a London suburb where they were staying.

She is also the sister of John V. Tunney, Southern California congressman who is a candidate for U.S. senator.

Unitarians Hit Phone Excise Tax

The Marin Fellowship of Unitarians has declared it will refuse to pay the 10 per cent telephone excise tax because the funds are being used solely to support the war in Vietnam.

At a meeting yesterday, the fellowship agreed to disregard the tax from phone bills sent to its San Rafael office. The fellowship said it left to the conscience of each member the payment of personal phone taxes.

Claiming the federal government increased the tax from 3 to 10 per cent in 1966 because of the cost of fighting the war, the fellowship, in a resolution, said it would willingly accept any penalties imposed by the federal government.

"Since the membership believes that the taxes paid to the government should be used for peaceful, life-oriented purposes, the use of these funds for war is totally incompatible with the aspirations of the congregation," the group concluded.

Massive Drive Opens For Water Proposition Passage

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top California political and business leaders had water on their minds today as they looked toward the June primary election and a decison by the voters on the complex but crucial Prop. 7.

With the June 2 vote not far away, a massive and expensive campaign behind Prop. 7 was being waged by leaders of virtually every segment of the "Establishment," from Gov. Reagan on down.

Prop. 7 is the proposal which would raise the maximum interest rate the state can pay on bonds from the current five to seven per cent — and higher if the legislature so decided later. At present, state and local governments find it almost impossible to sell bonds because those who buy them are getting far more than five per cent interest on their money.

In human terms, the bonds are how government pays for the new school down the block, the State Water Project, the new home a veteran returning from Vietnam wants or the new park where city dwellers get away from it all for the weekend.

Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, put on a letter to his constituents over the weekend saying Prop. 7 "must be approved to avert disaster for the state's bond program." He specifically reminded voters in the Central Valley, where water is wealth, that "if Prop. 7 fails the state's water project would grind to a halt."

Meanwhile, the multibillion-dollar agriculture industry moved full force behind Prop. 7. The Agricultural Council of California, through the expensive political public relations firm of Whitaker & Baxter, said "our economy faces serious failure" if Prop. 7 fails.

Supporters included the head of the State Grange, the rice growers, alfalfa growers and so on.

The director of the State Veterans Affairs Department, Frank D. Nicol, also endorsed Prop. 7. He said it would continue the 50-year-old plan of low-interest home loans for veterans.

Another proposition also was in the news — Prop. 1, the $246 million bond to pay for new medical training and education facilities at the Univeristy of California. It was endorsed by the executive council of the California Labor Federation, AFL-CIO.

In other developments on the political front:

— Rep. George E. Brown Jr. of Monterey Park said he has accepted an invitation to appear with his two main rivals for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination on a television show May 23 in Los Angeles. His main foes are Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn and Rep. John V. Tunney of Riverside.

—A group of Southern California Democarts formed by Assemblyman Jess Unruh in 1968 endorsed him for governor, but couldn't decide between Tunney and Brown for the Senate. So, they endorsed both, but now Hahn.

Japanese pedestrians, threading their way through traffic oozing through Tokyo's streets, supposedly are made immune from injury by holding aloft small yellow flags supplied at street corners.

New Home For Children's Home

The Children's Home Society of California has announced plans to build a two-story office building in San Francisco to serve as a center for the agency's counseling and adoption services to residents of Marin, San Francisco and other Northern California counties.

The society also opened a $375,000 fund drive to construct and equip the new facility at California and Baker streets.

The Golden Gate District of the society last year took 531 children into temporary family care, placed 456 for adoption and counseled 627 parents.

Among the members of the building fund committee are John Hopkins of Mill Valley, John M. Kelly of Kentfield, and Thomas G. Timberlake of Mill Valley.

Israeli Planes Back Over Nile Delta; U.S. Envoy Sees Nasser

Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes raided the Nile Delta today for the first time in five days, hitting an area southwest of Cairo and another in the northeast part of the delta, the Israeli military command announced.

A spokesman said all planes returned safely after hitting military targets about 25 miles southwest of Cairo and at El Manzala, on the shore of Lake Manzala 12 miles southwest of Port Said.

Israel's air force had not been beyond the Suez Canal since last Wednesday, when Egypt claimed that 36 Egyptian schoolchildren were killed in a raid on a village in the northeast delta. Israel said only military targets were hit, and if any schoolchildren were casualties, it was because the Egyptians had them in a military area.

The Israeli command also reported that one of its soldiers was killed in artillery exchanges between Egyptian and Israeli forces in the southern sector of the Suez Canal.

A Jordanian army spokesman announced in Amman that three Jordanian soldiers were killed when Israeli forces opened fire on troops in the Dead Sea area Sunday night. He said Jordanian forces returned the fire and a duel lasted for 80 minutes. Jordanian forces last Thursday ousted Israeli forces from the area, which they had infiltrated in late March.

American sources in Cairo said the U.S. State Department's top man for the Middle East, Asst. Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, had a "cordial" meeting with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser Sunday and that each explained his government's policies "in depth."

It was the first high-level official American contact with Nasser since Sisco's predecessor, Lucius Battle, visited Cairo in the last days of the Johnson administration. Sisco will also visit Israel, Jordan and Lebanon, then meet U.S. ambassadors in the Middle East in Tehran.

Presumably Sisco told Nasser what he told airport newsmen on his arrival—that the United States "supports fully" the U.N. resolution of November 1967 for settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict and supports this "in all its parts, all its provisions and all its principles."

This would include Israeli withdrawal from territory occupied in 1967 as Egypt and other Arab countries demand. It also would mean an end to Arab belligerence against Israel and an Arab agreement to "secure and recognize boundaries" for Israel.

Sisco's meeting with Nasser came on the heels of President Nixon's decision to hold in abeyance further shipments of U.S. Phantom and Skyhawk jets to Israel.

This reflected Washington's own appraisal, echoed by Nasser Sunday night, that Israel still enjoys military superiority in the area.

Nasser apparently felt obliged to make such an admission despite the reported arrival in Egypt of new Soviet-made antiaircraft missiles designed to protect the Egyptian capital and other important areas from low level aerial attack.

Nudes In Early Morning Ride

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A cable car gripman thought it was strange that seven young men and women were draped in blankets as they waited at a corner to board the car.

He was downright upset when they threw off the blankets and charged naked onto the car early Sunday morning in the Fisherman's Wharf area.

"Get off!" he shouted. "eGt off my cable car!"

They did — after a photographer recorded the event for use on posters.

OH GOOD GRIEF, A KITE-EATING TREE

Athens Military Court Hands Out Life Term On Bomb Plot

ATHENS (AP) — A military court sentenced one man to life imprisonment Sunday and 26 others to terms ranging from one to 18 years after finding them guilty of a massive bombing plot against Greece's dictatorship.

Seven of those found guilty were given suspended sentences, while another seven defendants were acquitted of the charges, which stemmed from a rash of bombings in Athens last year.

Six defendants were sentenced to prison terms ranging frob 10 to 18 years, 20 received terms of from one year to eight years. All the sentences were lighter than those asked by the crown prosecutor, who sought the death penalty for five defendants.

Dionysios Karageorgas, a professor of political science at Athens University, showed no emotion as a member of the six-man tribunal read out his sentence of life imprisonment.

Karageorgas lost part of his right hand and injured an eye when an explosion ripped through his Athens home last July. Police said they found bombs and other explosives in the house.

George Mangakis, a law professor at the university, was one of three defendants given 18-year terms.

Karageorgas, Mangakis and nine others retracted confessions during the trial and charged that they had been tortured into signing them. Seven of these eleven defendants were given the heaviest sentences.

George Iordanides, a 69-year-old retired general, was sentenced to eight years for sedition but acquitted of the charge of being the chief of Democratic Defense, the organization that allegedly executed the bombings.

The defendants were all charged with violating Emergency Law 509, which was enacted in 1947 to cope with a Communist-led insurrection. Throughout the trial the defense maintained that none of the defendants was a Communist and that their politics ranged from left of center to conservative. The prosecution insisted they were Communists.

Leaps From Span

A 37-year-old El Cerrito woman leaped to her death from the upper deck of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge last night, the California Highway Patrol has reported.

Officers said personal effects found in the auto, parked in a right westbound lane on the bridge, identified the woman as Joanna Lustig.

Witnesses said the woman stopped the car, at 11:20 p.m., ran from the auto and jumped over the rail, according to the patrol. No note was found.

A Coast Guard cutter was dispatched but its crew was unable to recover the body.

Kirk Retreats On School Order

By ORVAL JACKSON

BRADENTON, Fla (UPI)— Superintendent Jack Davidson regained command of Manatee County's schools today and prepared to implement a desegregation plan Gov. Claude Kirk tried for a week to block.

Tuesday morning, 27,700 elementary school students and 107 teachers in Manatee will attend desegregated schools and many of the students will be bused long distances past their neighborhood schools.

Davidson resumed command of the system after Kirk backed down in the face of a federal court contempt citation and an order to pay a $10,000 fine for every day he defied court orders to desegregate Manatee schools.

"The events of the past week may very well make it more difficult to accept the desegregation plan," Davidson said today. "But at this point, it is the law."

Davidson, who was suspended by Kirk twice last week, said he "felt like a human checker being bounced first one way then another."

Kirk backed down from a head-on clash with the federal court in a statewide television broadcast Sunday in which he said "To disobey the district court's injunction and to pay a fine would not solve the problem."

Kirk flew to New Orleans early today to seek to intervene in an an appeal of the Manatee County desegregation order which is currently pending before the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

In his television address Sunday, Kirk announced he was reinstating Davidson and the county school board and ordering them to implement the desegregation plan on Tuesday.

Kirk's decision came in time to meet U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman's order to comply with "bus now" integration or pay a fine of $10,000 a day for civil contempt of court. Kirk had until today to comply.

Pleading with parents in Manatee County and elsewhere to be patient, Kirk said he would try to get the Manatee plan and all forced busing struck down by the courts. He said the Justice Department has promised its assistance in seeking a permanent remedy through orderly court procedures.

Nader Calls On Students To Join War On Pollution

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Consumer protection crusader Ralph Nader called on college students Sunday to "test whether they can live by what tny believe" by 'joining the fight against pollution.

"Presently a lot of young people have been high on rhetoric, too short on commitment and maybe too hi;h on militancy," Nader told an audience of 3,500 at the University of San Francisco.

Describing pollution as "environmental violence," Nader said, "It's difficult for the common citizen to do much about breaking new ground and therefore we need the leadership of lawyers, doctors and scientists to correct the abuses of industry."

Students, he said, could "help complete the cycle of action that gives knowledge its relevance" by forming student action armies which would get into the community and do battle with the corporations.

Nader attacked the Nixon Administration's war on pollution as a "political gambit that reflects nothing but rhetoric."

Asserting that "economic crimes vastly overshadow street crimes in the United States," Nader charged that "law and order" in the nati9n has been for only one segment of the society.

"What about corporate crimes like price fixing, which is rampant among corporations?" he asked.

"These are auto, drug and building code violations which have cost the consumer millions of dollars and have made a mockery of competive enterprise," he charged.

An Enlightened Student-Parent Rap Session

Approximately 200 students, parents and educators argued, discussed and shared a degree of enlightenment in an all-day "dialogue day" at Redwood High School Saturday.

Young people and their elders frequently clashed, but few were bored in discussions of 11 broad-ranging topics.

A sensitive student nerve was hit in a session on social responsibility when Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., of Marin Municipal Court, proposed banning student cars at high school, citing studies showing a correlation between owning cars and lower grades.

Several students in the group refused to believe it, and opposed the ban. Social responsibility is up to the individual, one girl said, and a ban on cars "doesn't solve anything at all. . .a law doesn't do anything but cause rebellion."

In a session on "youth and the Establishment," a group moderated by Frances Compton and Gerson Jacobs had difficulty getting beyond definition of the terms. A girl explained that youth challenges authority "when we feel authority is wrong and we want to change it." The usual avenues of change are closed because young people don't have the vote, she said.

But only a third of students vote at student elections, a woman objected.

Leaders in student government are all from one clique and ignore others' ideas, a boy said.

When the discussion turned to student movements, one girl explained that people hear of "some student. . .radicals making a lot of noise, and think everybody with long hair is out to burned down colleges and shoot the president, and the whole world is covered with hippies. That isn't the way it is."

"Yes my dear," a woman said patroniziingly, "but we weren't talking about this."

In a discussion on drugs, students told parents that "everyone" at Redwood used marijuana on occasion, meaning some people from all groups, including athletes, '-students, near-dropouts, short hairs and long hairs.

After the session, one girl complained that adults at the drug panel "only came to confirm what they think is going on, not learn what really is happening."

A main reason for drug use, a girl said, is peer group pressure for acceptance—"and you get your kicks. A lot of people believe they get insights they can't get when they're straight."

In a critique following the panels, participants suggested students take a larger role in planning the next dialogue day, that topics be pinned down more precisely and related more specifically to Redwood, and that sessions go longer than as hour at a time.

The participants were ready for another day-long meeting, but one student expressed a general feeling when he said, "the parents that were down here and the students that were down here aren't the ones that need to be here. They're out playing golf."

Other discussion leaders were Municipal Court Judge Hadden W. Roth on social responsibility; counselor Charles Greenly on college planning; deans Paul Bosque and Emma J. Wulzen on discipline; county chief probation officer John Brewer and drug education director James Kilty on drugs; teacher Duncan MacSwain and counselor Carol Neumeier on Human relations; parent Vaughn Marker on limit setting and home discipline; dean Richard Frakes on counseling; science teacher Rudy Genetti on curriculum and innovations, and MacSwain and Mrs. Neumeier on sex education.

Laundromat Zone Request Is Delayed

Commercial zoning for a laundromat at Dillon Beach should be held up until further studies are made on the entire beach area, the Marin County Planning Commission decided this morning.

Merle Lawson asked for rezoning of a two-acre block of land at the extension of Cliff Street, next to the Pacific Marine station. He wants commercial zoning primarily for a coin-operated laundry to be used by patrons of Lawson's landing to the south, residents of Dillon Beach and Oceana Marin to the north, and students and faculty of the marine station.

Planner Ross Parkerson recommended against the rezoning. He said the logical place would be at the intersection of Cypress Avenue and Cliff Street, which is already zoned commercial.

Lawson replied that this would be in the middle of the present parking area for the beach.

On a motion by Hugh Dougherty, commissioners postponed a decision until May 25 and asked acting planning director Werner Von Gundell to see whether the commercial area should be shifted.

Huntley Says He's Optimistic

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — NBC Television newsman Chet Huntley says he is optimistic about America's racial problems and the country's dissident youth.

Huntley delivered the keynote address Sunday to about 3,000 delegates at the opening session of a four-day meeting of the California Dental Association.

Government and big business will be profoundly changed as young people move in to executive positions in these areas, Huntley predicted.

He said today's young people possess an "astonishing degree of idealism," and although they sometimes use "shocking methods, I am still confident they will turn out all right."

He described the country's racial problem as "the most serious domestic crisis," and called upon the white majority to "cleanse itself of the last traces of racism."

"We will yet be the first people on the face of this planet anywhere to develop a prosperous, multiracial society," he predicted.

Author John O'Hara Dies; Rites Thursday

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Ernest Gordon, chaplain of Princeton University, will officiate Thursday at funeral services for author John O'Hara in the university chapel.

O'Hara died of a heart attack in his sleep Saturday at his home of the past 21 years, Linebrook, on the outskirts of this college town. He was 65.

The writer came to fame at 29 with the publication of his first novel, "Appointment in Samarra." Some of his other better known works were "Butterfield 8," "Ten North Frederick" and "From the Terrace." The musical "Pal Joey" was developed from an O'Hara short story.

Born in Pottsville, Pa., he was one of eight children of a doctor and drew on his family experiences for the book "The Doctor's Son." He started as a reporter on the Pottsville Journal at 19 and worked on New York newspapers and the New Yorker magazine before making good as a novelist.

Firm Is Looted

Objection To Federal Pay Clause

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final congressional action on a 6 per cent across-the-board pay raise for federal employes was delayed today by an opponent to a provision including congressional employes in the pay boost.

Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., objected to suspending House rules to quickly send the bill to President Nixon. He said it gives what he called a "free ride" to House and Senate employes on a pay raise intended primarily to benefit postal and other low-paid federal workers.

Jacobs' objection required backers of the bill to go through the formal procedure of having the House Rules Committee schedule floor action on the bill.

The bill, which had been expected to go to Nixon last week, would raise pay for 5.6 million postal and other federal employes, including servicemen.

Both the House and Senate passed the bill last week but bounced it back and forth with minor technical amendments. And on the last bounce Thursday the House had already adjourned and thus could not take final action.

Pinkerton Hits School Busing

Don Pinkerton, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, has declared his opposition to mandatory busing of school children to achieve racial integration of schools.

Pinkerton, speaking at a Friday coffee at the Kentfield home of William L. Curley, said mandatory busing just meant taking away education dollars to pay for gasoline. "We simply can't afford such a needless shift of precious money," the Fairfield mayor said.

"Schools in California must offer educational equality for all races and colors," Pinkerton said.

Regional Government Conference Saturday

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — An all-day conference on regional government will be held by the University of California Institute of Governmental Studies on Saturday in the Earl Warren Legal Center Auditorium, Bancroft Way and Piedmont Avenue.

Speakers and panelists will include Sonoma County Supervisor Ignacio A. Vella, president of the Association of Bay Area Governments, and Joseph E. Bodovitz of Mill Valley, executive director of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m., and the conference at 9:15. It is scheduled to last until about 5 p.m.

The conference will explore three issues: what tasks could be done better by a regional government; how would a regional government be selected and organized, and what will be the cost and method of financing it.

Guerrillas Slay Uruguayan Cop

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Hector Moran Charquero, head of the police intelligence department, was shot to death this morning by unknown persons who machine-gunned his car, police sources said.

The attack took place near Rodo Park, in Montevideo, while Moran Charquero was driving his car.

Police said the attack could be the work of the Tupamaros urban guerrillas, a left-wing organization active since 1963.

Moran Charquero was prominent in the repression of the Tupamaros, bitter foes of President Jorge Pacheco Areco, who have staged hold ups, kidnapings and other hostile acts against the present administration.

Clausen Wants Shasta Daisy As U.S. Flower

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, urging Congress to join him in "a true demonstration of flower power," has introduced a bill to name the Shasta Daisy America's national flower.

The Shasta Daisy is the only genuine American flower that grows well in all 50 states, and was created by Luther Burbank from specimens collected throughout the nation, he said.

Clausen promised a nationwide campaign to get school children throughout the country to support his bill with a letter-writing campaign.

"We are one of the very few countries in the world without a national flower," Clausen saiid, "and people are starting to ask why."

Red Ships Off Norwegian Coast

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Norwegian defense staff reported today that unusual Soviet naval activity has developed off the coast in the Norwegian Sea and the North Sea in the past few days.

Involved are about 30 vessels from Soviet naval bases in the North Sea and in the Baltic. They are now moving westward after sailing relatively near the Norwegian coast, a defense staff spokesman said.

Thus far the Soviet fleet has carried out tactical and convoy maneuvers.

The official announcement said an unusually large number of supply ships is taking part, among them eight tankers. The fleet also consists of cruisers, destroyers, mine sweepers, submarines, maintenance ships and intelligence vessels.

Park Regulations Will Be Discussed

The adoption of a set of rules and regulations on the use of city parks will be discussed today by the Fairfax City Council when it meets at 8 p.m. in the Women's Club.

Also on the agenda is the acceptance of Forrest Avenue restoration work and a report on 1970 storm damage.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Wednesday Is Deadline For Both Federal And State Income Taxes

If you have not already filed your 1969 income tax returns, then be sure to get the returns in the mail right now so it will be postmarked not later than Wednesday, April 15, 1970.

While your return is actually supposed to be in the hands of the government not later than April 15, the government has always accepted mailing by April 15 without penalty.

If for some reason beyond your control it is impossible for you to complete your income tax returns for filing by midnight, Wednesday, April 15, then request an extension of time in which to file the returns. Extensions are usually granted for a sixty day period: although they may grant an extension for as long as six months, if the circumstances warrant.

FORMS OR LETTER

You can get forms at your local office of IRS and Franchise Tax Board. All requests for extensions should be on these forms. Two copies of the Federal and three copies of the state forms are necessary. However, if you are unable to secure the forms, a letter will do.

Your application for the extension should clearly set forth the full cause of the delay and the probable time that you will be able to complete your return.

It should give your full name, social security number and address as it will appear on your tax return when you do file.

OTHERS CAN SIGN

If, by reason of illness, absence or other good reason, you are unable to sign this request, then any person in close business or personal relationship with you may do so, provided the reason and relationship are clearly stated. In such case, the signer of the request will be considered your duly authorized agent for this purpose.

Extensions are usually granted for a good reason, such as illness, accidents, inability to secure all the facts necessary to complete your return, etc.

CAN'T PAY?

Extensions are never granted because you are unable to pay the tax. If you cannot pay the tax due, file your return anyway.

Uncle Sam will send you a bill and you will have to pay it sooner or later. He will charge you 6 per cent interest, and there will be a penalty of ½ of 1 per month up to a maximum of 25 per cent.

Also, if you do not file your return on time, Uncle Sam may charge you an additional 5 per cent for each month that your return is late, up to a maximum of 25 per cent. This charge is only applied if you were negligent. It is a lot better to file the return even if you can't pay the tax.

We hope these articles have helped you with your income taxes in some way. It has been a pleasure to write them and have you read them. We hope to see you again next year in the columns of this newspaper.

Seeger Asks Approval Of Mount Tam Land Pact

William R. Seeger, general manager of the Marin Municipal Water District, will ask the district board tomorrow to approve a compromise settlement of a dispute over ownership of land on Mount Tamalpais.

An agreement had been worked out between the district and Laurence M. Symmes Jr., of 309 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley and presented to the board at its March 11 meeting, but final action was postponed for 90 days at the request of representatives of the Marin Conservation League, who did not want the district to compromise its claim to the land.

The dispute is over the ownership of a 100-foot abandoned railroad right-of-way on the southern face of the mountain.

Seeger said yesterday that he will ask the board to waive the 90-day postponement and approve the compromise because Symmes has threatened to take the dispute to court if a settlement is not reached soon.

The board will also award a contract for janitorial service for the district office and grounds. Bids were opened at the board's last meeting, but held for review and analysis.

The meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m. at the district office, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera.

Historic FDR Home Doomed

HONOLULU (AP) — President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Waikiki White House has been doomed to the bulldozers as an eyesore.

Despite a long and bitter fight to preserve it, the half-century-old mansion—now a popular night club—will be torn down May 31.

Built on land that once belonged to Queen Liliuokalani, the structure now housing the Queen's Surf restaurant will be removed to make room for a public beach park.

Army reports published after World War II noted it was here in July 1944 that Gen. Douglas MacArthur convinced President Roosevelt that the Philippines should not be bypassed for an invasion of China and Formosa.

During the three-day meeting with Roosevelt and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz and other Pacific military leaders, MacArthur was successful in canceling these plans so he could make good his pledge at Bataan, "I shall return."

Marijuana Suspect Faces Other Charges

Rae Don Hirsh of San Rafael was charged Friday in Marin Municipal Court with two felony counts of possessing checks with intent to defraud others on March 10 and 11.

The case was continued to April 21, when she is also slated for a preliminary hearing on charges of selling marijuana and amphetamine in November 1968.

Stocks Take A Sharp Dip

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks fell sharply in moderate turnover today, partly the result of a rights offering by American Telephone designed to raise approximately $3.7 billion in fresh capital.

Shortly before the final bell, the UPI marketwide indicator was off 1.17 per cent on 1,553 issues on the tape. Of these, 932 pointed lower and 340 advanced.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, the blue chip barometer, showed a loss of 3.76 at 786.70 near the close.

A turnover of around 9¾-million shares compared with 10,020,000 shares Friday.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Common Stock Purchases Can Satisfy Keogh Act

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in setting up a retirement plan under the Keogh Act but do not want a mutual fund, retirement bonds or an annuity. What I would like to do is buy common stock for retirement. Is this possible?—T.O.

A. Yes, a common stock investment program can be set up which will qualify under the Self-Employed Individuals Tax Retirement Act of 1962, as amended. The program is handled through a participating brokerage firm with a bank acting as trustee. For the individual needing guidance in his investments, this type of program can be arranged through some investment management firms.

In order to qualify for special tax treatment, your plan must fulfill the requirements of Internal Revenue Code 401 and 501. You will also be required to enter into several legal agreements. Because the Keogh Act is complex and implementation of a plan is complicated, you should seek legal assistance before starting any plan.

Q. Should I sell Stanray bought at the 1969 high? Are there any prospects of recovery?—K.H.

A. While downside risk at recent depressed levels appears minimal, recovery may be held back by restrictive economic conditions over the next several months. If, however, you are willing to wait it out, Stanray appears to have a number of factors in its favor. An increased level of orders for loading ramps and other equipment for the Boeing 747 has pushed backlog to capacity.

Sales this year of Stanray's structural steel fabricating division for $3 million will finance a doubling of capacity in the company's ground support equipment operations.

Phone Giant Woos Investors' Wallets

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ma Bell's children—all 3.1 million of them—are being showered down with millions of rights, debentures, warrants, and common stock as part of the giant telephone company's drive to raise about $1.57 billion in debt capital and about that much in new equity capital.

The king-sized money-raising program, which runs until May 15, 1975, started Friday when holders of the 549 million common shares of American Telephone and Telegraph Co. were credited with 549 million "rights" on basis of one right for each common share held of record April 10.

Rights constitute a device which, initially at least, limit the opportunity to purchase new securities to existing stockholders. In this case, the rights permit Ma Bell's children to buy a package of one $100 debenture and two warrants, or options to buy stock during a stipulated period.

Rights, however, have a value of their own more often than not, and the recipient stockholder can either exercise them, sell them, or let them lapse. Thus the debenture-warrant package can be purchased by other AT&T stockholders.

The AT&T package requires 35 rights and the payment of $100. That means the telephone company will be issuing up to 15.7 million $100 debentures, if public acceptance is up to expectations, to raise the first $1.57 billion in new financing it is after.

Along with those 15.7 million $100 debentures, Ma Bell will be issuing about 31.4 million warrants.

A warrant is, in one sense, a long-term right to purchase a security from its issuer under stipulated terms. AT&T's rights offering, for instance, expires May 18, 1970. But the warrants to buy common stock, on the basis of one share for each warrant, will be exercisable between Nov. 15, 1970 and May 15, 1975.

The rights, the warrants, and the debentures, like other AT&T securities, can be traded on the New York Stock Exchange. The big board recently altered its long-standing opposition to listing warrants for trading. The AT&T warrants will be the first traded on the exchange in about 50 years.

Zunino Calls For A Night Court

The establishment of a night court in Marin County for small claims, traffic violations and preliminary hearings has been proposed by Ernest C. Zunino, candidate for Municipal Court judge in the June 2 election.

Zunino said many working persons and families are inconvenienced by appearing during the day on small claims and traffic citations. He said at the same time, police and attorneys are waiting around for cases.

"By rearranging calendars of the court," Zunino said, "we gain more effectiveness of the courts and provide greater convenience to those the courts serve."

Two Missing Youths Walk To Safety

Two 17-year-old San Francisco youths reported missing Saturday night in the Alpine Dam-Carson Falls area, walked out yesterday morning.

Sheriff's deputies received a report at 9:45 p.m. Saturday that Michael J. Wong, 17, of 1054 Clay Street, and Robert Lim, 17, of 1046 Grant Avenue, had missed a rendevous with classmates and were presumed lost on the Marin Municipal Water District lands.

Thomas Briggs, a teacher told deputies he had taken a class on a field trip to the area at 8 a.m. Saturday, and the two boys left the group at 11 a.m. They were to join the class at 1 p.m., but didn't he said.

He left a note for the boys at the rendevous point, and took their classmates back to San Francisco, deputies said.

When he returned the note was gone, but there wasn't any trace of the two boys. Two deputies searched the area, but a full scale search wasn't called pending developments yesterday morning.

Deputies got word at 9:20 a.m. that the two boys had walked back to the starting point of the outing and had gotten a ride to the Meadow Club, nera Fairfax.

Officers were notified Saturday that a late model car belonging to Robert Donnelly, 1855 Sacramento Street, had been parked in one of the bridge's northern parking lots since Thursday morning.

Investigating officers found three letters addressed to friends, a suicide note and a wallet, watch, briefcase, sweater and sports coat belonging to Donnelly in the car.

The highway patrol said a friend of Donnelly's told them he had been despondent since the murder of a former roommate earlier this year, but could give no details.

Astronaut Forgets To File Tax Return

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Like many another American, John L. Swigert Jr. put off filing his income tax.

As a bachelor earning $20,385 a year the reason might have been just a delay in paying the large chunk of money due and, anyway, he was busy helping friends prepare for a long trip. April 15, after all, was still several days away.

But at the last minute something happened to make one friend miss the trip and Swigert went instead.

He went so fast, that not only did the income tax slip his mind, he also forgot to take a card that outlined some very important plans for the trip.

Then, on Sunday, came the revelation. It was akin to the situation of many a traveler who remembers, halfway to the seashore, that he left his wallet on the kitchen table.

By this time he was halfway to the moon on Apollo 13.

Somewhat sheepishly, Swigert asked if he could have some flight plan changes read up to him.

"I think that I forgot and left that card back during the suiting," he said. "I left it in the suit room."

Later, Swigert and the other two astronauts were having the day's news read to them when came an item that began: "Today's favorite pastime across the U.S. . . ."

Capsule communicator Joseph Kerwin reading the item, stopped and said: "Oh, oh, have you guys filed your income tax yet?"

It was one of those light remarks that always pass between ground and spacecraft to break the monotony of the interminable numbers that are passed verbally back and forth.

"How do I apply for an extension?" said Swigert, suddenly alert. There was a lot of laughter.

"Hey listen," said Swigert, "that's not funny. Things kinda happened real fast down there and I do need an extension. I didn't get mine filed."

More laughter.

'Avoid Drugs If Pregnant'

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The European scientist who first warned the world of the baby-deforming dangers of thalidomide says that women who know they may be pregnant should temporarily avoid most medical drugs.

Dr. Widukind Lenz said such women should take this precaution on the chance that some such drugs might be still-unrecognized potential deformers of unborn children—as thalidomide proved to be in some 10,000 cases during 1961-63.

Lenz, director of the Institute of Human Genetics at the University of Munster, West Germany, made the recommendation Thursday in addressing a symposium on "Clinical Aspects of Inherited Disorders" at the University of Alabama Medical Center.

Lenz was the first scientist to link certain monstrous deformities in newborn babes to thalidomide—a drug which had been administered to thousands of women as a tranquilizer during pregnancy.

Lenz led up to his recommendation on avoidance of other medical drugs by saying that it has not yet been definitely determined whether the hallucinogenic drug LSD, if taken by a pregnant woman, can deform the child in her womb.

He added: "The same is true for many other drugs. For the time being, then, women who do not know for certain that they are not pregnant should avoid drugs which are not absolutely necessary — that is, they should avoid most drugs."

At the same symposium, Dr. Henry T. Lynch of Omaha, Neb., said there is growing evidence that many of mankind's most common cancers—such as malignancies of the breast, colon, stomach, and the lining of the womb—"appear to be under genetic (hereditary) control to a certain extent."

Lynch, of Creighton University School of Medicine, told a reporter, in amplifying on his technical report, that the evidence suggests, for example, that:

—When a female has breast cancer, there's a 17 per cent chance that a "first-degree relative"—mother, sister, or female offspring—will also have it ultimately. This is almost three times the risk for the female population generally.

—The risk of cancer of the lining of the womb, and cancer of the colon—which affects both males and females—is much higher, about 50 per cent, on this same heredity-linked basis.

Midi In Toyland

The recent Paris fashion collection, which stressed long skirts and dresses and buried the mini and micro skirts, is hitting toyland. A New York doll manufacturer, Jolly Toys Inc., is redesigning the clothing of its dolls so that retailers can choose long or short skirts.

'The Midi Is The Only Look'

BLACK AND MIDI

Colors are out, and legs are in—inside the skirts, that is, in this year's Italian fall and winter ready-to-wear shows. This midi cocktail dress in black chiffon by Tita Ross is typical of the rage that has engulfed this year's Italian designers.

(UPI Cablephoto)

By NADEANE WALKER

FLORENCE (AP) — Relief that Italian fashion designers have finally come together on the hemline issue seems to be the strongest reaction of buyers who poured into Florence from nearly 20 countries this week.

The ready-to-wear shows for next fall and winter went overwhelmingly for the long midi.

"The midi is the only look right now. It's good for the industry. It will definitely sell to the public," declared Mrs. Marilyn Scott, merchandising and creative director of Magnin.

Report Horowitz of the big Houston store said if the long length was merchandised properly, public antagonism would be overcome.

"It's got to be longer," he said, "but I don't think women who've already worn it years ago will wear the mid-calf skirt again. It must be at the top or the bottom of the calf, with boots and big hats. Those little skull caps (which were shown widely) are all wrong."

Horowitz said "stores should put different lengths in special areas of the shop, merchandise by taste levels, or the long length will drop dead."

Opinion was not always favorable. Some buyers, like Mrs. Jerry Nagley of the Skirt and Sweater Shop, Toronto, were more indignant than resigned.

"My general impression," she snapped, "is that fashion is being killed by making beautiful young girls look old. It's an insult to the intelligence of women to have the designers go all out as a group to make women look ugly. We've got no choice on the long look, but that's all wrong. Maybe this is the one time women will revolt."

She admitted, however, "We will sell the long skirt, but we've got to make it more graceful and wearable. The accessories and clumpy shoes we've seen here are not attractive."

A representative of Macy's Italian buying office took a cautious line.

"Macy's is rather conservative, and may not go that long," he said. "We feel it's for a special clientele or the boutiques, but I believe it will sell as well in America as it sells in Italy."

He liked the knitwear shows, but grumbled about high prices.

Mrs. Nan Brunner of the Australian Wool Board, here from Melbourne to analyze emerging trends, said: "The midi is already selling in Australia, and by the end of the winter I think it will be very acceptable."

As for Gaucho pants, both Horowitz and Mrs. Scott said they would be adopted by "the women who will wear midis today, the fashionable."

Horowitz explained: "The woman who likes pants will buy the gaucho, especially if it is cut to look like a divided skirt. We've bought it, and we've bought the gypsy for our harem department, and expect women of 50 as well as the young ones to wear it."

Vera Colitti, who runs the Eleganza boutique of Millburn, N.J., was not so sure.

"The American woman wants to be more feminine than she can be in gauchos or knickerbockers," she said. "I'm tired of the teenager look in fashion, but so far there is a poor reaction to long skirts. The best of the Italian clothes are the simplest, the knitwear and the colors."

Thousands Of Votes Show The Midi Hasn't A Chance

DEAR READERS:

I'm sure you didn't cause the recent postal strike. But it's a strange coincidence that the very day after I asked for a flood of votes against the "miserable midi," New York mail stopped moving.

Since my reader mail is routed through New York and therefore got caught in the pile-up, your votes might have reached me faster by pony express. However, they've been arriving by the thousands these past two weeks—and, judging by your irate remarks, the midi skirt hasn't a chance.

Some examples:

DEAR HELEN:

There is nothing more hideous.

Than the dumb, stupid midi!—US. (Signed by 215 employees of a San Francisco Bay Area telephone company.)

DEAR HELEN:

If we women will just hang together and refuse to wear those awful 10-inch-below-the-knee monstrosities, they'll go the way of the "sack" Paris tried to foist on us a few years ago. I'm not for micro-minis, but I love the freedom of the knee-length or above (depending on age, shape, and husband's preference)—MRS. T. W.

DEAR HELEN:

Count me a full-fledged member of the "We Won't Wear Midis" club. I, too, have suffered through those knee-clinging, granny-looking horrors. They are uncomfortable, unbecoming, and every other "un" word including unsafe in this fast-moving world. Think what might happen if you caught one in a bus door.—M. R.

DEAR HELEN:

At least 99.44 per cent of the men enjoy seeing shapely women's legs, including their knees. And we guess a like percentage of the gals like to show them.—(Signed by 11 men).

DEAR MEN:

Here's one who doesn't—the only vote so far against the mini:

DEAR HELEN:

What's the matter with the midi? It's better than looking at fat knees or bony legs that hang from the hips like bamboo reeds on an oriental wind chime. I'm tired of watching girls try to hold their knees together, only to expose their upper hips. When they lift their arms, or bend, it's show-time, and sitting down is hazardous. Besides, those seats are cold.—WELCOME MIDI

DEAR HELEN:

Minimize — the mini
Get rid of — the midi.
X out — the maxi.
Give us — the mid-knee.—MARY L.

DEAR HELEN:

With every depression, skirts have lengthened. With every prosperous period, skirts have shortened. If holding the line (somewhere above the knee) will ward off a recession, I'll gladly sacrifice 10 ugly inches of material.—PATRIOT

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter can't afford a whole new wardrobe and college too. Moreover, if the midis caught on, those clunky shoes that look cute with short skirts would make the spinster look complete. More expense for footwear. We won't buy.—MA

DEAR HELEN:

I speak for every teen-ager I know (and half of them have signed this letter). You won't catch us dead in midis—and nothing will change our minds—TEEN

P. S. The guys agree with us. Note to readers: Keep sending your votes against the midi to Helen Bottel, care of this newspaper. They'll be forwarded to POOFF (Preservation of Our Feminity and Finances) an organization pledged to keep skirts riding high.—H.

And here's an eminently sane male point of view:

DEAR HELEN:

In your March 17th column, you should have said, "If you gals will hold the line (where it is becoming to you), you can keep mostly-male fashion designers from foisting (any uniform style) upon you. You don't need to be sheep you know." The parentheses are mine, the other statements yours.

Seriously, millions of women look ridiculous and show off their very worst features by slavishly wearing mini skirts when their legs aren't built for them. Some who look terrible with skirts two inches above the knee look wonderful with them six or eight inches above. Some look ghastly with anything above the calf showing at all, yet are very graceful when covered to that level.

The real point you should be hammering home, Helen, is that women must stop being sheep at any level and stick to whatever best serves their individual figures, feet, heads, etc.—EUGENE P.

So. . .rise up, women of the world. Wear what pleases you most, even if (especially if) it's a five-year-old favorite. And remember, clothes make the women—look idiotic, if she becomes a slave to fashion.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

No Argument

SMART SHOPPER

You Can't Make Money On Ordinary Life Insurance

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — The next time a life insurance salesman says you can "make" money on straight or ordinary life insurance if you simply stay alive and make regular payments for a long enough time, don't believe him.

He may honestly believe it, but it is simply not true.

Life insurance companies and agents have struck gold with a deceptive gimmick, a set of figures, that makes it appear as if these companies are so public spirited that they will wind up paying you more than you pay them over the years for the privilege of protecting your family with a sizeable sum in case of your death.

Other companies will admit that there must be a net cost to the policyholder but then cite increases of cash value in the area of 40 or 50 percent of the amount paid in premiums per year.

These claims are also deceptive and misleading. No matter what the salesman or the advertisement says, rest assured that life insurance, like any other consumer service, will cost money and plenty of it. No insurance company is in business for charity or giving money away.

And no company is going to give you a return of even 4 or 5 per cent, not to mention 40 or 50 per cent.

Life insurance is confusing enough without adding any misleading statements from companies and agents who should know better. Companies that imply dividends and cash values will total more than premiums paid over the years hide a very important factor:

The interest earned on the money you pay in excess of the actual cost of protection.

Life insurance companies use this excess in premiums to invest in such things as real estate and bonds. They then return a portion of their return to policyholders in the form of policy dividends and cash values.

The companies thus profit in two ways: first, by charging more for pure protection than they actually pay out in death benefits and, second, by keeping most of the return that your own premiums earn.

Yet some companies turn around and tell potential policyholders that they either get something for nothing or that returns are in the neighborhood of 40 to 50 percent just because the accumulated interest on previous excess premiums is that much more than one year's premiums.

For most persons, except those in older age brackets, the best buy is term insurance. With it, you pay only for pure protection, plus a profit to the company for handling it.

If what you want is an investment, you can get a greater return on your money almost anywhere but in life insurance premiums.

Suggest Rabbits To Nourish Cells

LONDON (AP) — Two test-tube baby specialists suggested they may use rabbits to nourish human egg cells.

The specialists, who aim to help infertile couples have children, are Dr. Patrick Steptoe and Dr. R.G. Edwards.

They first recover egg cells from the wife, then fertilize them with the husband's sperm in the laboratory.

Their original plans were to let the egg cells mature in the test-tube, after which they would be implanted in the wife's womb.

Maturing the egg cells in the test-tube, however, poses serious problems.

These problems might be overcome by using a rabbit instead at a certain stage, Steptoe and Edwards wrote in a report to the Lancet, a British medical publication.

They explained that the cells might be nourished in the rabbit's oviduct—the tube connecting ovary and womb.

"The control of the preimplantation development of human embryos can now be attempted with improved chances of success," they wrote, "should difficulties arise, the rabbit oviduct might nourish human eggs, especially from the two-celled stage, as it does with other species."

At least 50 women are believed to be on Dr. Steptoe's waiting list for test tube baby implants.

One, 34-year-old Mrs. Sylvia Allen, childless after seven years of marriage, has had eggs taken from her womb and fertilized in the laboratory.

On this day in history:

In 1865 Gen. William Sherman took Raleigh, N.C., ending his Civil War "March to the Sea."

FIRST ACTION

West led the king of hearts and continued with the ace. South ruffed with conviction, drew a round of trumps with the king, led to the ace of clubs and returned a club from dummy. If he could set up the clubs, perhaps he would never have to worry about the diamonds.

Unfortunately for our virtuous South, East took the second round of clubs and returned the queen of diamonds. Naturally South had to lose two diamond tricks. Down one.

SKEPTIC'S TRIUMPH

If South had been a skeptic he might have made his contract. Declarer should not ruff the ace of hearts at the second trick. Instead, he should discard a club. This merely gives the opponents a heart trick instead of a club.

West promptly shifts to a club, taken by dummy's ace. South ruffs another club. When the clubs break favorably, South can enter dummy with a trump to discard two diamonds on the two good clubs.

Fill Checks For Creeks Are Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to extend bay fill controls up six "vital" tributaries, including some in Marin and Sonoma, has been introduced by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose.

His bill would empower the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission to protect marshland upstream of the bay that haw been designated by the commission's plan as of more than customary ecological value.

Among the six tributaries spelled out in the bill were the Petaluma River to the mouth of Adobe Creek, San Antonio Creek to the railroad right-of-way, Tolay Creek in Sonoma to Highway 37, and the Napa River to the northernmost point of Bull Island. Others were in San Mateo and Alameda counties.

The bill reportedly was asked by North Bay conservationists.

Jurisdiction over these waters originally was in the 1969 bill that made the BCDC a permanent agency, but was thrown out by the Seante.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, and other opponents of the 1969 bill, objected that this provision could start pushing the commission's power up the Sacramento River. Jurisdiction limited to the mouths of bay tributaries.

MUSIC REVIEW

Bad Seating Mars A Good Performance

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

French maestro Jean Martinon conducting the San Francisco Symphony, French pianist Philippe Entremont and an all-French program added up Saturday night to a musical experience marked by most of the virtues of French music.

In this second of the symphony's three-concert Marin Series at Terra Linda High School gymnasium there was sparkling lucidity and balance, elegance, grace and plenty of theatrical excitement, but all was not well.

Assurances had been given that a stage—its lack a so-called last minute fiasco at the first concert—would be provided for this concert, but incredibly it was not. Again people seated in the most expensive seats on the flat floor saw nothing and were very angry.

I could not learn the reason this time, but it does seem if the Marin Symphony can get risers, the San Francisco orchestra could have managed something to make players visible.

In the French romantic spirit rather than the French classical style, the program consisting of works by masters of orchestration—Berlioz, Ravel, Saint Saens and Martinon himself—showed off all the instrumental resources of a big orchestra, except in the Saint Saens concerto No. 2 in G minor, when it was reduced to focus attention on the piano soloist.

Even Martinon's own symphony No. 4, though characterized by contemporary departure from symphonic form and some modern sounding harmonies and rhythms, was in the romantic spirit.

Titled "Les Altitudes" (The Heights), it expressed man's aspirations to conquer not only obstacles of this planet but the cosmos itself. Though sections were named to suggest programmatic description of scenes and sounds—"The Gateway to the Stars," "The Vertical Garden," and "The Crossing of the Gods"—they were actually translations of moods into sound. Judged as such, the work was very successful.

It conjured emotional effects one might encounter on scaling a lofty mountain under tempestuous atmospheric conditions or on venturing into the unknown void of space. It was a very difficult work which tested the orchestra's mettle, and one had the feeling more performances would be needed for a perfect reading.

As expected, Entremont dazzled with a virtuoso performance of the popular virtuoso Saint Saens concerto. The opening bars had too much pedal, but this was corrected, and apart from a bad horn passage in the middle movement, the total performance was delightful.

The opening number, the overture to Berlioz's "Beatrice and Benedict" and finale, the suite No. 2 from Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe" ballet, were beautifully performed with the latter achieving some truly thrilling sonority.

Two Choral Units Will Give Concert

The Winifred Baker Chorale will join the San Francisco Civic Chorale to present a varied program under the direction of Winifred Baker at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Angelico Hall, Dominican College.

It will be the third in a series of programs during the week-long spring festival of the performing arts on the San Rafael campus.

Opening the concert will be the "Kyrie" from Vivaldi's Chamber Mass, sung by the Winifred Baker Chorale with guest soloists Gwen Curatilo, soprano, and Mildred Owen, alto.

The San Francisco Chorale will sing Beethoven's Mass in C with guest soprano and alto joined by Edward Jameson, tenor, and James Tippey, bass. Organist John Klobucar will accompany the two works.

About 150 voices from the two choral groups will perform the West Coast premiere of Hans Werner Henze's "Moralities," a musical setting of W.H. Auden's version of three of Aesop's fables. Tippey will be soloist with Jameson as narrator. Piano accompaniment will be played by Robaline Meacham and Judith Storss.

Campaign Aide

Charles Michals of Greenbrae, past chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee, has been named chairman of the Bay Area executive committee of the Deukmejian for Attorney General Committee. Michals was vice chairman of the Marin County Reagan for Governor Committee in 1966, and an alternate delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1968.

Nixon Motors Back To The White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon returned by car in bright spring weather Sunday from an overnight stay with his Florida friend and neighbor C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo at Camp David, the presidential lodge in the Catectin mountains of Maryland.

The 70-mile automobile drive was as a surprise. The two men had gone to Camp David by helictopter and had been expected to return the same way.

Opening Of McNears Beach To Be Eyed

The opening date of McNears Beach and the question of financing a proposed tennis-swim center will be among topics to be discussed tomorrow at a joint meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors and parks and recreation commission.

The meeting will start at 9 a.m. in room 400 of the Civic Center.

The commission will also ask for a clarification of its relationship with the county supervisors. Several commissioners have complained that their recommendations are often ignored.

After the joint meeting, the supervisors will reconvene in the board of supervisors chambers at 10:30 a.m. to face a heavy agenda.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will ask for criminal action against loggers on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge, where fires were allegedly left burning unattended.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will make several recommendations, including abolition of six and one-half positions on the county payroll and extending the terms of two at-large members of the Marin County Planning Commission in line with changes made in the terms of the five other planning commissioners.

The terms of Walter F. Freitas and Michael Praszker, at-large members, will expire on April 20. Bruce will recommend that their terms be extended to expire on July 1, 1971, six months after a new board of supervisors takes office.

Other major items on tre supervisors' agenda included these:

HEALTH SERVICES—An ordinance setting new fees and eligibility standards for services provided by the county health department. The county administrator will recommend that the question of fees for child health conferences be deferred until the June budget discussions.

PEDDLING — An Ordinance to control roadside peddling.

HOUSEBOATS—County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will report a continued increase in violations of the houseboat and marina ordinances in Richardson Bay.

NUISANCE—Abatement of a home that slid off its foundation at 1123 California Avenue, Mill Valley.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS—Discussion of priorities in the capital improvements program presented by the county administrator. Requests will be made for a speed-up in work on the Miller Avenue Extension, new junior boys' dormitory at Juvenile Hall, new library in Fairfax and widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

AVIATION—The aviation commission will submit its recommendation for a limited civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Pastor Calls White House For Safety In Vote Fuss

LUDOWICI, Ga. (AP) — A minister whose home was fired on in a shotgun attack during the night says he has called on the White House to request the Justice Department to step into the Long County dispute.

The Rev. Raymond Cook, a Methodist minister and personal friend of Gov. Lester Maddox, said the blast shattered a window and narrowly missed him about 2:45 a.m. Sunday.

The state police force, including about 30 state troopers and agents of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, was ordered into the area Sunday by Maddox.

The governor indicated he was considering a declaration of martial law both for Ludowici and Long County.

Cook said he telephoned the White House today, and asked a presidential aide to request the Justice Department to intervene.

He said he appealed for "free and honest elections" and again asked Maddox to declare martial law in the county.

Maddox said earlier, "I would hope that I do not have to take that drastic action. However, if I determine in my judgment it is necessary, I would not hesitate . . ."

Today is Monday, April 13, the 103rd day of 1970 with 262 to follow.

On this day in history:

In 1865 Gen. William Sherman took Raleigh, N.C., ending his Civil War "March to the Sea."

In 1934 Federal Civil Works Administration leader Harry Hopkins reported 4.7 million depression stricken families were receiving welfare payments.

In 1941 Russia and Japan signed a five-year neutrality pact.

In 1964 Sidney Poitier became the first Negro to win an Oscar as best actor of the previous year.

A thought for the day: President Thomas Jefferson said, "When angry count 10 before you speak; if very angry, 100."

Assurances had been given that a stage—its lack a so-called last minute fiasco at the first concert—would be provided for this concert, but incredibly it was not. Again people seated in the most expensive seats on the flat floor saw nothing and were very angry.

I could not learn the reason this time, but it does seem if the Marin Symphony can get risers, the San Francisco orchestra could have managed something to make players visible.

In the French romantic spirit rather than the French classical style, the program consisting of works by masters of orchestration—Berlioz, Ravel, Saint Saens and Martinon himself—showed off all the instrumental resources of a big orchestra, except in the Saint Saens concerto No. 2 in G minor, when it was reduced to focus attention on the piano soloist.

Even Martinon's own symphony No. 4, though characterized by contemporary departure from symphonic form and some modern sounding harmonies and rhythms, was in the romantic spirit.

Titled "Les Altitudes" (The Heights), it expressed man's aspirations to conquer not only obstacles of this planet but the cosmos itself. Though sections were named to suggest programmatic description of scenes and sounds—"The Gateway to the Stars," "The Vertical Garden," and "The Crossing of the Gods"—they were actually translations of moods into sound. Judged as such, the work was very successful.

It conjured emotional effects one might encounter on scaling a lofty mountain under tempestuous atmospheric conditions or on venturing into the unknown void of space. It was a very difficult work which tested the orchestra's mettle, and one had the feeling more performances would be needed for a perfect reading.

As expected, Entremont dazzled with a virtuoso performance of the popular virtuoso Saint Saens concerto. The opening bars had too much pedal, but this was corrected, and apart from a bad horn passage in the middle movement, the total performance was delightful.

The opening number, the overture to Berlioz's "Beatrice and Benedict" and finale, the suite No. 2 from Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe" ballet, were beautifully performed with the latter achieving some truly thrilling sonority.

Two Choral Units Will Give Concert

The Winifred Baker Chorale will join the San Francisco Civic Chorale to present a varied program under the direction of Winifred Baker at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Angelico Hall, Dominican College.

It will be the third in a series of programs during the week-long spring festival of the performing arts on the San Rafael campus.

Opening the concert will be the "Kyrie" from Vivaldi's Chamber Mass, sung by the Winifred Baker Chorale with guest soloists Gwen Curatilo, soprano, and Mildred Owen, alto.

The San Francisco Chorale will sing Beethoven's Mass in C with guest soprano and alto joined by Edward Jameson, tenor, and James Tippey, bass. Organist John Klobucar will accompany the two works.

About 150 voices from the two choral groups will perform the West Coast premiere of Hans Werner Henze's "Moralities," a musical setting of W.H. Auden's version of three of Aesop's fables. Tippey will be soloist with Jameson as narrator. Piano accompaniment will be played by Robaline Meacham and Judith Storss.

Nixon Motors Back To The White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon returned by car in bright spring weather Sunday from an overnight stay with his Florida friend and neighbor C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo at Camp David, the presidential lodge in the Catectin mountains of Maryland.

The 70-mile automobile drive was as a surprise. The two men had gone to Camp David by helictopter and had been expected to return the same way.

Opening Of McNears Beach To Be Eyed

The opening date of McNears Beach and the question of financing a proposed tennis-swim center will be among topics to be discussed tomorrow at a joint meeting of the Marin County Board of Supervisors and parks and recreation commission.

The meeting will start at 9 a.m. in room 400 of the Civic Center.

The commission will also ask for a clarification of its relationship with the county supervisors. Several commissioners have complained that their recommendations are often ignored.

After the joint meeting, the supervisors will reconvene in the board of supervisors chambers at 10:30 a.m. to face a heavy agenda.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will ask for criminal action against loggers on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge, where fires were allegedly left burning unattended.

County Administrator Alan Bruce will make several recommendations, including abolition of six and one-half positions on the county payroll and extending the terms of two at-large members of the Marin County Planning Commission in line with changes made in the terms of the five other planning commissioners.

The terms of Walter F. Freitas and Michael Praszker, at-large members, will expire on April 20. Bruce will recommend that their terms be extended to expire on July 1, 1971, six months after a new board of supervisors takes office.

Other major items on tre supervisors' agenda included these:

HEALTH SERVICES—An ordinance setting new fees and eligibility standards for services provided by the county health department. The county administrator will recommend that the question of fees for child health conferences be deferred until the June budget discussions.

PEDDLING — An Ordinance to control roadside peddling.

HOUSEBOATS—County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney will report a continued increase in violations of the houseboat and marina ordinances in Richardson Bay.

NUISANCE—Abatement of a home that slid off its foundation at 1123 California Avenue, Mill Valley.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS—Discussion of priorities in the capital improvements program presented by the county administrator. Requests will be made for a speed-up in work on the Miller Avenue Extension, new junior boys' dormitory at Juvenile Hall, new library in Fairfax and widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

AVIATION—The aviation commission will submit its recommendation for a limited civilian use of Hamilton Air Force Base.

Pastor Calls White House For Safety In Vote Fuss

LUDOWICI, Ga. (AP) — A minister whose home was fired on in a shotgun attack during the night says he has called on the White House to request the Justice Department to step into the Long County dispute.

The Rev. Raymond Cook, a Methodist minister and personal friend of Gov. Lester Maddox, said the blast shattered a window and narrowly missed him about 2:45 a.m. Sunday.

The state police force, including about 30 state troopers and agents of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, was ordered into the area Sunday by Maddox.

The governor indicated he was considering a declaration of martial law both for Ludowici and Long County.

Cook said he telephoned the White House today, and asked a presidential aide to request the Justice Department to intervene.

He said he appealed for "free and honest elections" and again asked Maddox to declare martial law in the county.

Maddox said earlier, "I would hope that I do not have to take that drastic action. However, if I determine in my judgment it is necessary, I would not hesitate . . ."

On Choosing A Justice: Reagan Vs. Nixon Method

In the furore over the second rejection of a Nixon appointee to the U. S. Supreme Court, rather scant attention has been paid to a very important court appointment in our own state.

On the very day that the Senate voted against sending the nomination of G. Harrold Carswell back to committee, Gov. Ronald Reagan named Donald R. Wright of Pasadena, a judge of the Second District Court of Appeals, to be the new chief justice of the California Supreme Court.

THERE WAS SCARCELY a ripple.

Even in the sectors most critical of the governor, there has been no objection raised to his choice of the Pasadena judge, whose record is easy to examine.

Yet the governor and the President were committed to the same thing in choosing high court justices. President Nixon wants a justice who is a "strict constructionist." Governor Reagan sought one committed to a policy of "judicial restraint." These are two ways of saying the same thing: a judge who does not believe in legislating by judicial decree.

PERHAPS A LARGE part of the reason for Reagan's success and Nixon's failure in choosing an acceptable nominee lies in this: The governor did not delegate his responsibility. He did not ask Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch to select the justice.

President Nixon set up two criteria for a Supreme Court appointee: that he be (1) a "strict constructionist" and (2) a southerner. Then he turned over to Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell the job of finding the man.

Little in Attorney General Mitchell's record in office indicates that he should be given such an important assignment. He has appeared on occasion as more of an advocate of repression than of strict constructionism or judicial restraint. And his wife's intemperate remarks give rise to speculation as to how much she may influence his thinking or be influenced by it.

Yet, following the Carswell turndown, Mr. Nixon again turned the job of finding a Supreme Court justice over to the attorney general.

THE PRESIDENT'S response to that turndown was not encouraging. He reportedly told Mitchell that it appeared the Senate would not confirm a southerner, so he could drop that requirement.

The Senate rejected Judge Clement Haynsworth because a conflict of interest — though small — showed up in his record, something that could not be accepted in the wake of the embarrassment over the larger conflict of interest for Justice Abe Fortas. It did not reject him because he is a southerner.

The Senate rejected Judge Carswell because of (1) his undistinguished record on the bench, (2) his role in turning a public golf course into a "whites only" club, and (3) his lack of candor when questioned about that role. It did not reject him because he is a southerner.

THE KIND OF PIQUE displayed by the attorney general's wife should not be displayed by the President.

And if the choice of a Supreme Court justice is as important as the Senate thinks it is, as we think it is, and as the President has said he thinks it is, then it is too important to delegate to the attorney general.

Think Little

We Americans have been encouraged by our history to admire great concepts and think big. Even the conservationists think largely in terms of saving great acreages for ourselves and succeeding generations.

But there are countless little wild places in Marin that are well worth saving too. They may not even be as big as Larkspur's little redwood park. But they are the little places where we need a wild spot, a ferny brook, a wooded knoll, a rare old live oak, instead of more new houses. These little wild places will be more accessible than distant parks, and increasingly valuable as time passes and Marin's population grows.

Think big . . . but think little too.

Economy-Minded School District Draws CTA 'Sanctions' Boycott

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)— Sometimes it's a question as to whether the people of the state own, support and operate the schools, or whether they merely are expected to put up the money.

The teachers have a neat little trick at hand to make the elected representatives of the people—namely, the school district board—see things their way, and if the board fails to knuckle under and run things the way the teachers want them run, then this little trick is imposed.

THE MEANS to force issues in the districts is known as "imposing sanctions," whereby the district is "posted" in much the same manner a business is picketed by a labor union, and the people are warned to "stay away."

Except in the case of the schools, the warning is extended on a nationwide basis, and all teachers seeking a job are warned to stay away from the particular school district in which the sanctions are imposed.

The latest California district to be branded with "sanctions," labeling it as something of a criminal area, is the Los Altos Elementary School District in Santa Clara County.

SOME EXCEEDINGLY heinous crimes have been committed by the district board, according to the California Teachers Association, which is warning teachers to stay away from Los Altos when the time comes up for hiring.

Among these crimes is that the board has decreased the district tax rate during the past two years in the face of increased assessed valuations.

Another is the fact that the average teacher's salary lags more than $1,300 behind nine other elementary districts in the county.

Again, Los Altos citizens paid the lowest tax rate of school districts in the county which employ more than 100 teachers.

Another reason for the sanctions is that foreign language and physical education programs have been seriously curtailed and limited because the jobs of specialists have been cut out to save the taxpayers money.

Also, a series of social studies programs have been hampered because of a lack of material.

HOWEVER, nowhere is mentioned that the district has cut out the basic elements of elementary education, the reading, writing and arithmetic the taxpayers hope their children who attend schools will get in return for the tax money they pour into the schools. Apparently, the board has cut the unnecessary frills in an effort to restore some rhyme and reason to education in Los Altos.

It has been a contention for a long time that if school boards in hundreds of other districts throughout the state took the same path, the school system would not now be the unnecessary drain it is on the taxpayer, nor would the teachers insidiously move in for bigger and better jobs in the name of education.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Attitudes Damage Our Opportunities

We have around us these days attitudes and behaviors in varying degrees of apparentness which do violence to democratic institutions. Yet there are among us citizens who in seriousness and sincerity do not perceive a difference between the destructiveness of some behaviors and our people's actual valid need for constructive human relations and rationality.

It is almost as if an inner urge compels some of us to tear apart and destroy — as if we choose destructive impulse to avoid "at any cost" confrontation with realities in 1970.

I speak, for example's sake, of our governor's unfortunate slip of tongue for campus "bloodletting"; in San Anselmo recently of a self-named "revolt" slate's attempt to scuttle a candidates' night (their fellow citizens' right and need to be informed of divergent views on local affairs); of the more subtle, but not necessarily less obvious de facto segregation in our local schools.

All these, I believe, damage our human opportunities. They place emotion, partisanship, cynicism above rationality and sanity; and they disgrace the human being.

Novato Lunch Plan Not New

In regards to the article on April 7 regarding "Hot Lunch Plan Urged For Novato."

I wish your reporter would get his facts correct before going to press.

I am very proud of the fact Novato is the only school district left in Marin County offering their elementary students a "hot lunch" daily, and have done so since unification five years ago. A "type A" federally reimbursed hot lunch was served at the time of unification, and was extended at a later date to all its schools.

During the past 2½ years, a hot lunch very similar to the type A has been offered. Due to the ever increasing cost of food and labor, the problem reaching a climax, a solution had to be sought.

The recommendation of the food consultant Paul Fairbrook of the University of Pacific, was that we continue with the hot lunches, reverting to "type A", using central kitchens, transporting to satellite schools.

I take great pride in being part of a school district that has made very effort to retain all its fine service under great financial stress.

Mill Valleyan Misses Those Dogs

I suppose there are people in Mill Valley who would rather walk in our streets and parks without seeing one single dog.

I miss them.

Today a wagon was in the park marked "Animal Control." The "keeper" had enlisted some children to help catch a big setter to put in his van. Later it passed me and I saw he'd caught it, along with a shepherd, whose collar plainly carried identification and a cluster of jingly I-D things.

What assurance is there? On whose code of honor can we rely that the so-called "Humane Society" will phone people whose animals are properly licensed? How do we know that each dog picked up by them will be listed in the paper?

Can my old dog lie on the warm street in front of my house? Can an unlicensed pup in my yard remain there without some official opening the gate when I'm not home and taking her to her death?

They only keep them four days before they kill them . . . The dogs listed in the paper are for the previous 24 hours only. How many are put to sleep before they are located by their owners?

This used to be a friendly doggy little town. The dogs were part of the friendliness. I miss them . . .

TRY AND STOP ME

Crystal ball gazer to embarrassed male customer: "Who's that dizzy blonde I see you out with tomorrow night?"

"With the influx of gal students in formerly all-male colleges," writes Dr. Morris C. Goodman, "we might take heed of the history of Arthur Quiller-Couch, professor at Oxford during World War I. When Oxford admitted women at that time, Professor Quiller-Couch would arrive each morning in cap and gown and address his mixed class merely with 'Good morning, gentlemen.' After a while the male students thought it would be funny to stay away from class one day and just let the girls show up. The professor arrived on time, looked over the all-female attendance and merely said, 'Since there is no one present this morning, there will be no lecture.' And with that he took off, gown waving in the wind."

THE DRUMMONDS

President Has Duty To Repair Damage Done By Rejections

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—It is vital that President Nixon repair the damage to the nation which his two rejected Supreme Court nominations have caused.

He will need to do two things:

1—Recognize that our government today must be so visibly worthy of respect and confidence that just an average appointment to the court—let alone a mediocre one—is perilous and intolerable.

2—Find a candidate comparable in capacity and character to the man he has already put on the bench—Chief Justice Warren Burger, whose appointment in itself enhanced the nation's respect for the court because it showed Mr. Nixon's respect for the court.

The President showed it can be done when he applied the exacting criteria he used in the Burger nomination—a record of judicial excellence, the highest moral rectitude and honor and no personal crony. He was overwhelmingly confirmed.

ONE THING critically needs to be improved. That is the caliber of the Justice Department investigation of the men whom the President is considering or the man he has selected. In both the Haynsworth and Carswell nominations, newspaper reporters and the Senate Judiciary Committee came up with disclosures of conduct which were apparently known neither to the President nor to Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

That Nixon should stand by his nominees is understandable. President Hoover stood by his choice of Judge John J. Parker whom the Senate rejected on the ground that he had an antilabor bias though his subsequent record showed this a false judgment.

President Roosevelt stood by his nomination of Sen. Hugo Black even when it was unexpectedly disclosed that he had been a member of the Ku Klux Klan—and the Senate confirmed him.

RICHARD NIXON resorted to a weak argument and weakened his position when he wrote a letter to bolster a wavering Republican senator and told him that if the Senate rejected Judge Carswell it would infringe upon the constitutional right of the President to choose the justices if the Supreme Court. In all nominations the initiative is with the President (the Senate can't nominate) but the Constitution gives the duty to the Senate to make an independent judgment of whether it shall "consent" to the nomination.

Now the President can start fresh. There is good reason for him to welcome this opportunity and to erase the miasmic experience of the Haynsworth and Carswell nominations by offering such a radiantly superior candidate that the whole country will want to say: Well done, good and faithful President.

The prospect is that President Nixon will have a large opportunity to shape the personnel and image of the Supreme Court during the next few years. Several justices are well along in years and the law now permits them to leave the court with full pay and keep active in judicial work.

MR. NIXON has every right to search out qualified judges who will give the court a conservative balance, a regional balance, and more weight on the side of strict construction versus liberal construction of the Constitution.

But there is no substitute for quality, for excellence, for individual worthiness of men whose nominations will say to the nation: This is your Supreme Court and you can be proud of it.

And the Supreme Court isn't the only part of the government which needs to show it can do its job well. So must the Congress which ought not to waste a second ruminating over its differences with the President on his court nominations.

The violence-prone in this country—adults and young people both—want nothing so much as to persuade the aggrieved and the disadvantaged that they can't expect much, if anything, from the political process.

The only way to preserve our democratic institutions is to make sure they function radiantly well.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

$40 Million For The Arts Dynamited By 'Anthology'

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is due for a big disappointment if he is counting on Congress' voting the $40 million he has urged for the National Foundation on Arts and Humanities.

In fact, the foundation will be very lucky if it gets as much as was granted last year — $20 million.

Indicative of that is the backstage uneasiness over the prospects of the bill authorizing a three-year extention of the foundation — with $40 million for the first year and a blank check for the other two.

Although this measure was approved by the House Education and Labor Committee weeks ago, Chairman Carl Perkins, D-Ky., has so far done nothing to bring it before the full House.

When he will is conjectural. Perkins refuses to discuss the matter.

UNQUESTIONABLY, a reason for his reluctance is the certainty that this legislation faces a slashing fight.

So far as the general public is concerned, the measure is virtually unknown — despite the fact it carries a $40 million price tag. Very little has been said or reported about it.

But that little brought a flood of intensely critical and indignant mail.

REASON WAS the disclosure by Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, committee member, that fancy largesses were being dished out by George (Paper Lion) Plimpton for curious poetry and other remarkable contributions to the "American Literary Anthology."

So far, some $200,000 of taxpayers' money has been spent on this so-called anthology. It is part of the literature program of the National Endowment for the Arts, which is an activity of the foundation.

Scherle uncovered that Plimpton has received around $30,000 for staff and administrative expenses. He was made head of the literature program by Roger L. Stevens, guiding spirit of the $50 million-plus Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts being built on the Potomac River near the world-famed Lincoln Memorial.

Through Stevens' zealous lobbying and wheedling, the government has contributed more than $30 million to this project.

FOLLOWING are highlights of Scherle's revelations that brought a deluge of outraged mail:

$500 paid to Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., for a short poem on his campaign in Indiana for the 1968 presidential nomination. Plimpton was an ardent McCarthy backer.

Seven poems and two pieces of prose selected from Paris Review, a magazine edited by Plimpton and published by Plimpton and published in New York. Under the intriguing financial practice of the literary program which Plimpton heads, not only does the anthology pay the writer but which his work is selected.

$500 paid to Aram Saroyan, son of author William Saroyan, for baffling seven-letter poem — "LIGHGHT." The magazine in which it first appeared also got $250 — for a total cost to taxpayers of $750.

$500 to LeRoi Jones, white-hating black militant, author and playwright.

So far, two Anthologies have been published and a third is in production. Their proclaimed purpose is to "encourage and assist writers of merit and the editors who publish their works." Each contains about 75 authors. The 1968 edition sold some 7,500 copies, 4,500 of them hardcover at $6.95 each.

Paradise Park Already Crowded; McNear's Beach Soon Will Be

Paradise Beach Park in Tiburon, the county's only developed park for mass use, already is jammed to capacity.

On a busy week-end, cars quickly fill the available parking spaces and line Paradise Drive for a quarter mile on each side of the entrance. So don't go planning any big picnics at Paradise Park, especially on a week-end.

Park maintenance crews are already tearing their hair, trying to accommodate the crowds. And safety officials are concerned about a jam-up on Paradise Drive that could hinder the passage of fire equipment.

RELIEF IS SOON to come—perhaps this summer—with the opening of McNear's Beach near Peacock Gap in East San Rafael. That is only the second county park with beach access to the bay.

Experience at Paradise Park indicates that McNear's will also be jammed to capacity almost from the outset.

Thus far, all county parks have been open to the public free. At McNear's, for the first time, an admission charge is recommended by the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission.

There shouldn't be too much argument against the charging of admission, particularly because of the facilities offered—swimming pool and tennis courts, in addition to the beach and picnic areas.

As Albert Boro and other park commissioners pointed out, anyone who pays for something tends to have some respect for the premises, whereas if it's free, some people may abuse the privilege.

Besides, those who actively use the facilities should help pay for repair and maintenance because some taxpayers will never visit the park. They shouldn't have to pay twice—once for purchase of the park and again for maintenance of pools and tennis courts which they never use.

SPRING IS in the air, and wild rumors, probably based on wishful thinking, are spreading like wildfire.

Somebody heard that a big rock concert was about to be staged at the Civic Center, and several youngsters in Woodacre are spreading the word that a big-name rock group is thinking of moving into San Geronimo Valley.

THE COUNTY'S 4-H clubs are breathing more easily these days. For a while, they were afraid that the county farm advisor and 4-H headquarters would be moving out of the Civic Center to Novato or Point Reyes Station.

Now comes assurance from Mike Chrystal of the county administrator's office that the farm advisor definitely will stay at the Civic Center.

Chrystal acknowledged that for several weeks, there was talk about moving the farm advisor to North or West Marin to put him closer to the people he serves. But he's going to recommend against such a move.

Era Of The Mad Scientists: Babies In The Supermarket

Leafing through my daughter's college textbook recently, I came across a glimpse of things to come, as seen by one Dr. E. S. E. Hafez, a biologist at Washington State University. The book, published by Prentice-Hall, is "Dynamics of Change," and Dr. Hafez has a quote in it carrying this charming bit of intelligence:

"Only 10 or 15 years hence, it could be possible for a housewife to walk into a new kind of commissary, look down a row of packets not unlike flower-seed packages, and pick her baby by label. Each packet would contain a frozen one-day-old embryo and the label would tell the shopper what color of hair and eyes to expect as well as the probable size and I.Q. of the child. It would also offer assurance of freedom from genetic defects. After making her selection the lady would take the packet to her doctor and have the embryo implanted in herself, where it would grow for nine months, like any baby of her own."

THE GOOD and clairvoyant doctor falied to inform us whether the label would also carry the usual guarantee, "If not satisfied, return to manufacturer and receive your money back."

Guarantee or no, a man wouldn't dare let his wife go shopping without him—no telling what she'd come back with.

I knew as the second half of the 20th Century unfolded there was something about it I didn't like, and hardly a day passes that I don't find one reason or another why I shouldn't let it go on without me. If this is a sample of what is called (and please excuse my language) progress, then I'd just as soon sit this one out—and I mean way out!

IT DID SEEM to me, however, that if our progress progresses to that degree, it would be anachronistic to have the would-be mother visit her doctor. Carrying a baby inside her for nine months is obviously tedious, burdensome and primitive. Why not simply use incubators or test tubes with timers that ding when the time is up?

There's plenty of evidence to make a sound and unassailable case that in recent decades the entire world has slipped its wig, jumped the track, gone 'round the bend. And scientists—with a capital S—go to enormous lengths to persuade us that we are roaring deliciously up the pathway to the Nirvana of Civilization, when the rip-roaring fact could very well be that we are headed completely off-course toward some sort of cosmic Fun House complete with blinking lights, whirring noises and glowing phantasmagorias leaping at us as we sail by in the dark in a state of numbed bemusement, clinging to each other.

IT'S ONE THING for a scientist to shut himself up in his laboratory, draw down the shades and surreptitiously putter about on a project he hopes to spring with sadistic glee on a surprised and horrified world. It is quite another matter when he announces brazenly and not with a little pride what he intends for us—like it or not.

The next thing you know he's asking for a federal grant to experiment with his zany project, and the idiots we have—the keepers of the public purse—will let him have it instead of expeditiously whisking him off to the nearest funny farm.

Science has insinuated itself upon us as our latter day deity and its high priests are performing rituals and muttering incantations which may soon have us all True Believers throwing babes into the flaming mouth of the great god Progress or flaying virgins on the altars of giant computors.

Ah progress!

Window Vandals Hit Novato Store

The steel nut vandals have struck again, this time in Novato, police have reported.

Windows at the Novato office of the Independent-Journal and at Grand Auto Store, 7427 Redwood Highway, were smashed Friday night by steel nuts, possibly fired from a high powered slingshot, police said.

Damage at the auto store was estimated at $400 by manager Henry Hewitt. He said it was the fifth window broken since the store had been warned not to advertise in the I-J, struck on Jan. 7 by San Francisco Typographical Union 21.

He estimated total damage from vandalism at $1,700.

A plastic sign at the Novato I-J office was also damaged Friday night, police said, but no estimate of the damage was available.

Warm Springs Pays Roosevelt A Tribute

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP) — "Today, it was 25 years ago that I became an unexpected witness to history," said the woman who was painting the President's portrait when he collapsed.

Madame Elizabeth Shoumatoff stood beside the unfinished portrait of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and described it as "a portrait that so suddenly, so dramatically was never finished."

Mme. Shoumatoff and about 700 others gathered at the "Little White House" in Warm Springs Sunday to observe the 25th anniversary of Roosevelt's death.

Roosevelt, who spent most of his adult life crippled by polio, discovered the warm waters of the springs in 1924, and in 1932 had the cottage that is now known as the "Little White House" built on the side of Pine Mountain. It cost $8,200.

On April 12, 1945, he collapsed and died there.

Among FDR's friends at the ceremony was Pine Mountain Mayor Frank Alcorn, who was to have held a barbecue for the President the day he died.

On hand to open the ceremony was Graham Jackson, a Negro accordianist who played a medley of military tunes he often played for Roosevelt. Jackson ended the observance by leading the singing of "God Bless America."

Former Advisers Pay Visit To Truman On Anniversary

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Another anniversary has been ticked off at the big house on Delaware Street where Harry and Bess Truman live.

It was 25 years ago Sunday that Truman became President after the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Several of his former Cabinet members and White House advisers visited the home Saturday to pay respects to their former chief, who will be 86 May 6.

They included W. Averell Harriman, Dean Acheson, John Snyder and Charles S. Murphy.

Among other visitors were Earl Warren, former chief justice, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine.

The former President told his friends he was trying to obey his doctor for once by conserving his energy, but with the coming of warm weather he hopes to resume the morning walks "that have helped my circulation over the years."

He declined to go to the Truman Library where the annual meeting of the library board was followed by speeches marking the 25th anniversary.

Snyder, secretary of the treasury during Truman's administration, spoke of the early months when Truman had to make major decisions while still learning all the facets of his tough job.

Harriman said, "Mr. Truman was one of the truly great presidents of American history, and his stature increases with the years."

Canadians Hurt

Gary Brennan, 23, and John King, 26, both of Ontario, Canada, were treated Friday at Marin General Hospital for possible neck injuries suffered in an automobile accident. No details of the crash were available.

Four Marinites Win Awards In Bay Science Fair

Four Marin County entrants in the annual San Francisco Bay Area Science Fair have won honors for their exhibits.

Marin students captured one second place, two third place and one fourth place awards during the 17th annual fair held last week in San Francisco.

The county's highest winner was Nina Kottenstette of 57 Maplewood Drive, a sophomore at San Rafael High School. She won a second place ribbon for her display, "Are tears able to inhibit the growth of bacteria?"

Third place winners were Rodger Pitcairn, Ross School, for "Can a flip-flop count?" and Pam Ann McMurry, also Ross School, "Measuring the metabolism of small animals."

A fourth place award was won by Lynda Palmer of San Rafael High School for her exhibit, "What is the effetc of 1.4Gs on pea and tomato plants?"

The science fair annually gives the Bay Area's top science students in grades seven through 12 the chance to display their projects. Each of the entrants in the fair had previously won honors at qualifying fairs in the nine Bay Area counties.

Three Veterans, A Businessman Steal Show

I-J Sports Editor

A trio of swinging speedway senior citizens and a young business executive stole the show yesterday at the United States Auto Club's Northern California 200-mile late model stock car race at Sears Point International Raceway.

Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., the Indianapolis 500 veteran and 1969 USAC stock car champion, lived up to his favorite's billing by speeding his white 1970 Plymouth Roadrunner to an easy 25-second victory over Art Pollard, another Indy vet from Medford, Ore., who was second in 1969 Chevrolet Camaro. Third place went to Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., in a '70 Plymouth Superbird.

Respectively, their ages are 39, 42 and 47. Geritol strikes again!

But, sharing much of the kudos of the estimated 7,000 sun and windswept motorsports aficionados was Craig Murray of San Rafael, the 30-year-old president of Sears Point Raceway who made his professional racing debut a howling success by finishing fourth in the field of 26 starters.

Although he's been racing only one year, the lanky, blond Murray handled his blue streak 1968 Camaro like a veterans around the familiar hairy 11-turn, hilly, 2.5-mile road circuit to pick up $1,600 of the $40,000 purse.

McCluskey, who has driven in eight Indy 500s, won $4,000 in purse and contingency money for averaging 73.4 miles an hour in his 2 hour, 43 minute, 28.8 second Sunday ride. Pole winner with a record qualifying run of 1 minute, 53.10 seconds on Saturday, Roger led for 69 of the 80 laps.

Pollard, who won $2,900, led for 10 laps while Nelson, $2,100 winner, led for one lap.

There were a few bent fenders as the result of some spinouts, but no major damage nor injuries.

McCluskey drove almost a perfect race and had only one scare when he skidded briefly on one turn, but pulled out of it safely.

He made three pit stops for a total of 1 minute, 2 seconds.

Pollard lost some valuable time in the pits with a flat tire on the 217h lap and had brake problem most of the way. "We just couldn't match Roger's lap times with our brakes," said Art.

It was the first time the USAC allowed pony cars in its stock car races and McCluskey admitted "I was worried about the pony cars. We've got more engine, but they're lighter, easier on gas and handle better on tight courses like this. This is a very demanding course and a lot of work on a driver."

Of the 26 starters, eight were pony cars and five of those were running at the finish.

Nelson, a grandfather, revealed after the race that he had gear box troubles and had to hold it in third gear throughout the 200-mile grind. "I thought my arm would drop off," he laughed, saying Sears Point is difficult enough to negotiate with two hands on the wheel, let alone one.

One driver who had all kinds of trouble with the course was Dick Carter of Altamont Speedway fame. The man who got himself in all kinds of hot water by hosting a Rolling Stones con-

Crosstown Buddies In Masters Finale

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gene Littler, a quiet man who already drives three Rolls Royces, faced a jittery 18-hole playoff today against crosstown buddy Billy Casper for a mere coat of green.

For that coat of green, South African Gary Player would have swapped the world.

CLOSE ONES

Casper's 10-foot putt to win it all Sunday whipped out of the 18th hole and the muscular Player—trying to make it a party of three today — missed from seven feet and was left coatless.

"I'll tee it high and let it fly Monday," promised Casper, who converted quickly from the grim putt-misser of the 18th to a smiling playoff man preparing for another day.

Asked about his tactics for the 2:15 p.m., EST, shootout, Littler mulled so long that Casper answered for him, "He'll tee it low and let it go."

Casper and Littler live 25 miles apart in the San Diego Calif., area and have played golf together since the last shot of the Korean War. Both are devoted family men who skip many a $150,000 tournament to fish with their kids.

Littler's off-course hobby is antique cars. His garage is cluttered with three sparkling, old Rolls Royces and a model T Ford. "They're all like me," he said in the Herb Shriner-type draw. "They can't drive too far."

Sports
THIRD SECTION

Both Californians have won the U.S. Open in their glittering golf careers, but neither has captured the Masters and its famed green jacket. Littler won the 1961 Open and Casper was best in 1959 and 1966.

There were many heroes on the chilly, bleak Sunday at Augusta's National Club. But when the spotlight settled on the humbling 18th green, there were only three. Two made it and Player missed by two inches on a 7-foot putt.

Casper's rounds of 72-68-68-71 gave him a nine-under-par 279 total for the week. Littler made it with an incredibly consistent 69-70-70-70. Player's closing 70 left him a strike shy at 280 after a weak Thursday opening of 74 on the rolling 6,980-yard course.

"My father always told me to be humble in victory and smile in defeat," said a dejected Player, who won the Masters in 1961. "Well, fellows, here are my teeth. I'm smiling at you."

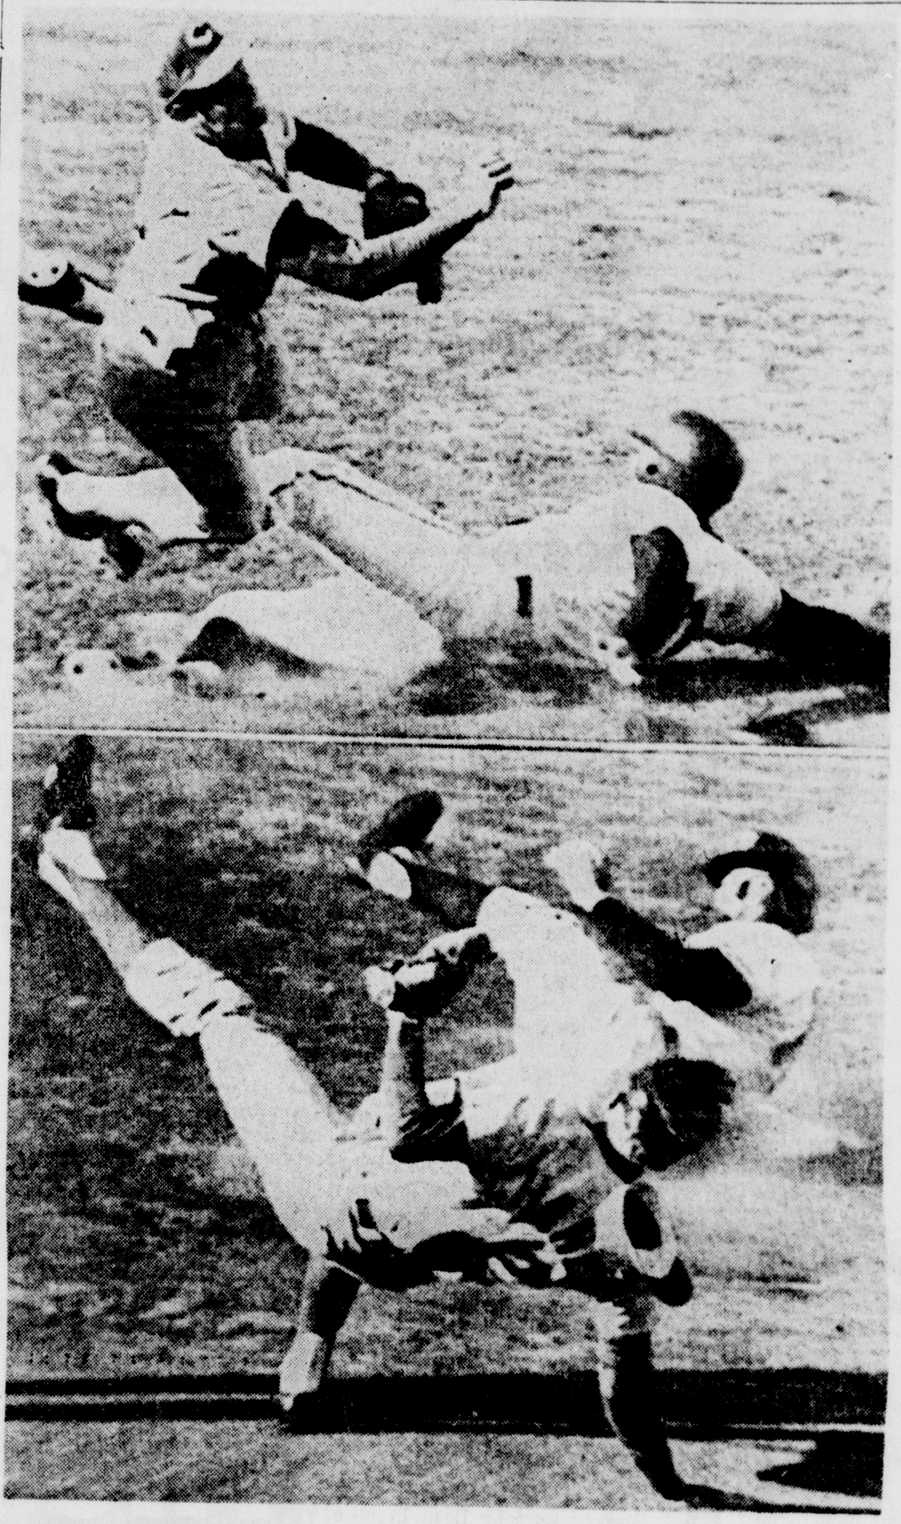
DRAINED

Player was obviously emotionally drained when his hope of tying trickled away by the cup. He had been bugged by whirring news cameras to the point where he asked them to "hold it," but said later, "I have absolutely no excuses."

Today's winner in the nationally televised playoff will reveice $25,000 of the $203,801 payoff. The loser gets $17,500.

Player said he "would have rather lost by five shots than on the last putt" when picking up his $14,000 third-place reward. Bert Yancey, a threat all week who lost out with a bogey at the 18th, wound up with 70-281 and won $10,000.

Arnold Palmer, who never broke par in this 34th Masters, buzzed the course in his private jet after finishing almost three hours ahead of the frontrunner. He had 75-73-74-73 for 295, tying the four-time Master champion for 36th place in the 48-man windup.



VERY UPSETTING — Cincinnati shortstop Darrel Chaney was upset by Giant rookie Alan Gallagher who roughly broke up double play in second game of doubleheader in San Francisco yesterday. Reds swept the pair, 6-5 and 5-2, although Gallagher continued his phenomenal hitting and now has 15 hits in 30 at-bats. (AP Wirephoto)

DESPITE LOSSES

Giants Can Still Smile

ATLANTA (AP) — Despite a Sunday doubleheader loss to Cincinnati, the San Francisco Giants had a few things to smile about as they prepared to meet the Atlanta Braves here tonight.

The Giants send Rich Robertson, 0-0, against the Braves' Jim Nash, 1-0.

The Reds regained first place in the National League West with a 6-5, 5-2 sweep over host San Francisco Sunday, but three items pleased the iGants' front office.

OUT OF HOSPITAL

Tops on the list was ace pitcher Juan Marichal's discharge from St. Luke's Hospital. He will work out at Candlestick Park before joining the club at Cincinnati this weekend.

Marichal was suffering from a flu and subsequent allergic reaction to medication.

Secondly, Giants' Manager Clyde King continued to rave about rookie third baseman Alan Gallagher, who collected seven hits, including two doubles, Sunday to raise his average to .500 on 15 hits in 30 trips to the plate.

And King, along with the entire Giants' organization, was pleased with a crowd of 31,731 for the Willie Mays 600 Day festivities.

Mays was honored between games for his 600 major league homers. A toal of 19,707 tickets was sold Sunday morning, a club record for gate sales.

But Reds' sluggers Johnny Bench and Tony Perez prevented the Giants from enjoying complete success.

Perez belted two homers and collected four RBI's, going 4-for-4 with a walk is the opener.

Bench provided the game-winning blows for the Reds in each game, being a ninth-inning single off reliever Frank Linzy in the opener and a two-run triple off loser Ron Bryant, 1-1, in the sixth inning of the second game.

TWO BLASTS

In the opener, Perez hit a two-run homer in the first off loser Mike McCormick, 0-1, and pulled the Reds into a 3-3 tie with a solo blast in the fourth after the Giants rallied for three runs in the third, featuring Bob Bonds' first homer of the season.

Perez' bases-loaded single and a single by Bench brought in two Reds' runs in the seventh for a 5-3 lead.

Singles by Pete Rose, Perez and Bench accounted for what proved to be the winning run in the ninth.

The Giants scored twice in

A's To Open Home Season With Some Added Color

OAKLAND (AP) — A new baseball team, three new base bags, and a new singer will be featured tonight when the Oakland Athletics open their home baseball season in the Coliseum, 7:30.

The A's, rained out Sunday in Minnesota, welcome the Milwaukee Brewers—formerly the Seattle Pilots—who have won three consecutive games. Oakland returns from a road trip with a 1-3 record.

A's owner Charles O. Finley, whose team wears gold and green uniforms and white baseball shoes, is hoping to add more color to the basepaths.

He was seeking approval for the baseball rules committee for gold colored canvas base bags. Finley originally wanted first base to be red, second blue and third yellow, but decided that gold looks better under the lights at night.

Finley's new singer is relief pitcher Jim "Mudcat" Grant, whose vocal group, "Mudcat and the Three Kittens," will sing the opening night National Anthem.

Peters Hurls Marin To Second Victory

College of Marin Tars, who may be finally getting it all together, rode the five-hit pitching of Jim Peters to a 4-2 victory Saturday over DeAnza Junior College of Cupertino.

The Tars, who lost their first nine games of the season before knocking off Contra Costa last Thursday, came up with the winning run in the fourth inning when Dee Fredrick singled sharply to left to score Roger Offenbach from second. Offenbach had singled and moved to second on Mike Locati's sacrifice.

Jim Peters, who has pitched well without support this year, losing his first three starts, went the distance for Marin, striking out 12 and yielding only five hits.

Ken Lazzarini singled his last time at bat, thereby running his hitting streak to 17 games.

Free Throws Help Lakers To Victory

ATLANTA (AP) — "It seems like all we did in the second half was shoot free throws."

Guard Jerry West had that explanation Sunday as the Los Angeles Lakers, hitting 47 of 60 charity tosses, came from behind to down the Atlanta Hawks 119-115 in the opening game of their best-of-seven series for the National Basketball Association's Western Division championship.

The two teams clash again here Tuesday.

West, who combined with forward Elgin Baylor to lead the Laker assault from the line, pointed to the obvious. Los Angeles canned 35 of 40 charity shots in the second half and, in the process, overcame a 16-point Atlanta lead.

Baylor said the rash of Atlanta fouls was prompted by big Wilt Chamberlain, who only recently returned to the Laker lineup after knee surgery.

"When we pass to Wilt," he said, "everybody starts breaking. There's an inclination for the opposing team to look back momentarily and, when we take off, they've been caught in that split second. The natural move of the man guarding you is to try to slow you down without getting caught by the officials."

Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin disagreed, however, and said the Lakers "d dn't get that many fouls off the cutoff situations."

He also was somewhat brusque when asked why his team was nabbed for so many fouls in the second half.

"You're asking that question in the wrong room," he declared. "Go in there where (game officials) Mindy Rudolph and Manny Sokol are."

Atlanta, primarily behind the brilliant play of Walt Bellamy, took a 28-25 lead in the first quarter, stretched it to 67-52 at intermission, then ran into trouble after building a 16-point edge midway of the third period.

Los Angeles cut the margin to 93-88 at the end of the third and finally went ahead to stay on two foul shots by Baylor with 2:03 remaining.

West, with 38 points including 18 of 21 free throws, led the Laker attack although Baylor, with 14 of 18 charity tosses, finished with 30. Walt Hazzard was high for Atlanta with 29 points.

Bellamy, who hit 12 points and snagged eight rebounds in his big first quarter, finished with 24 points and 21 rebound. At the same time, he limited Chamberlain to 16 points and 17 rebounds.

The eventual winner of the Western Division will meet the Eastern Division champ—either Milwaukee or New York—for the NBA title. That series, with New York holding a 1-0 lead, resumes tonight in New York.

Koss Softballers Out Of Tourney

Paul Koss Supply's softballers found themselves quickly out of the tough Santa Clara Softball Tournament over the weekend, losing their opener 4-2 to Hayward and then dropping a 5-0 decision to Peninsula Paint in Saturday's nightcap.

Koss returns to regular league action tomorrow night when it meets Alburt Men's Wear in Alameda.

Novato Nine In 3-Way Tie For Lead

Novato High School emerges as the dark horse in the Marin County Athletic League after one week of play. The hornets, getting home runs from Dave Judnick and Kim Kirwin, defeated Drake Saturday, 8-3 to move into first place with undefeated San Marin and Redwood.

Jeff Derecat turned in a noble effort on the Mound for Novato, limiting the winless Pirates to five hits, four of those coming in the last two innings.

Sophomore Bill Busher helped the winning cause with a perfect three-for-three afternoon.

Zelmo Says He's Staying

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Zelmo Beaty, who jumped from the Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball Association to the rival American Basketball Association, says the younger ABA should refuse to merge with the NBA.

The 6-foot-9 center, who has signed a contract to play next season with the Los Angeles Stars, says the ABA is in perfect position right now and should refuse to merge "because it would be on the NBA's terms."

"I don't think the ABA is concerned with a merger right now," he said. "It's not really necessary. This league has potential. In two or three years it's come a long way. If there is no merger, the leagues will be quite equal in a couple of more years—what with the balance of the college draft."

Rumors recently said the Stars would be moved to Albuquerque for the 1970-71 season. Beaty says he'll play with the Stars "wherever they are."

The Hawks traded the rights to Beaty to the San Francisco Warriors, who hoped Beaty might jump back to the NBA. He says he has no intention of doing that.

"I know the Hawks sued to get me back but when they traded me, I think their suit was droppe.d" He said he hasn't heard a word from Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli.

However, Mieuli has said he has no plans of getting Beaty back. He says he is concentrating on trying to get Rick Barry back from the Washington Caps of the ABA.

Houston's Toy Cannon Booms

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston's Toy Cannon is behaving like a long range missile again and the rest of the Astro arsenal is following suit.

Jim Wynn, the mini-slugger who smacked 33 home runs for Houston last season, hit a pair of tape-measure shots Sunday as the Astros unloaded five homers — a club record — and whipped Atlanta 8-3.

The muscular, 5-foot-9 outfielder sent Phil Niekro pitches rocketing into the Astrodome's fourth and fifth levels, respectively, before Joe Pepitone, Tommy Davis and Doug Rader completed the long ball binge.

SCORES

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati swept a double-header from San Francisco 6-5 and 5-2; Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 3-1 in 10 innings; Montreal blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0; Los Angeles zipped San Diego 6-0 and the New York Mets beat St. Louis 6-4.

In American League play, Milwaukee swept a pair from the Chicago White Sox 5-2 and 16-2; the New York Yankees split with Cleveland, winning the nightcap 5-4 after a 2-1 loss; Washington nipped Boston 6-5; Detroit stopped Baltimore 7-2 and California trimmed Kansas City 7-5. Oakland and Minnesota were rained out.

Wynn unloaded into the domed stadium's purple seats in the first inning and hit his second bases-empty homer even farther, reaching the third row of yellow seats.

A GLIMPSE

"I got a little glimpse of both of them," he said. "When you hit a ball that hard, you've got to look."

"I can't believe that Jim hit two homers off Niekro," said Rader, only other Astro ever to homer into the fifth deck—in an exhibition game this spring. "The only way you can hit home runs off Niekro is if he gets behind and throws you a fast ball.

"I guess one he hit was a fast ball, but I know he also hit one off the knuckleball."

The loss was the second in as many decisions this season for Niekro, the Braves' knuckleball ace who won 23 a year ago.

"That was quite a show today," said Pepitone, who followed Wynn's second homer with his second in two games. Davis homered in the fourth and Rader poled a two-run homer in the eighth.

HOME RUN

Bill Mazeroski, whose eighth inning single drove in Pittsburgh's first run, rapped a tie-breaking two-run homer off Jim Bunning in the 10th. Steve Blass went the distance on the mound for the Pirates.

Montreal won its first game after four setbacks as Bill Stoneman pitched a three-hitter and Ron Fairly hit a two-run homer.

The Dodgers, winless in all five previous starts, erupted for four first inning runs, added a pair in the seventh on Bill Grabarkewitz' homer and stymied San Diego on Bill Singer's four-hitter.

New York ace Tom Seaver gave up nine hits, including a Richie Allen homer, and needed late relief help but drove in three Met runs himself with a single and double on the way to his first victory of the new season.

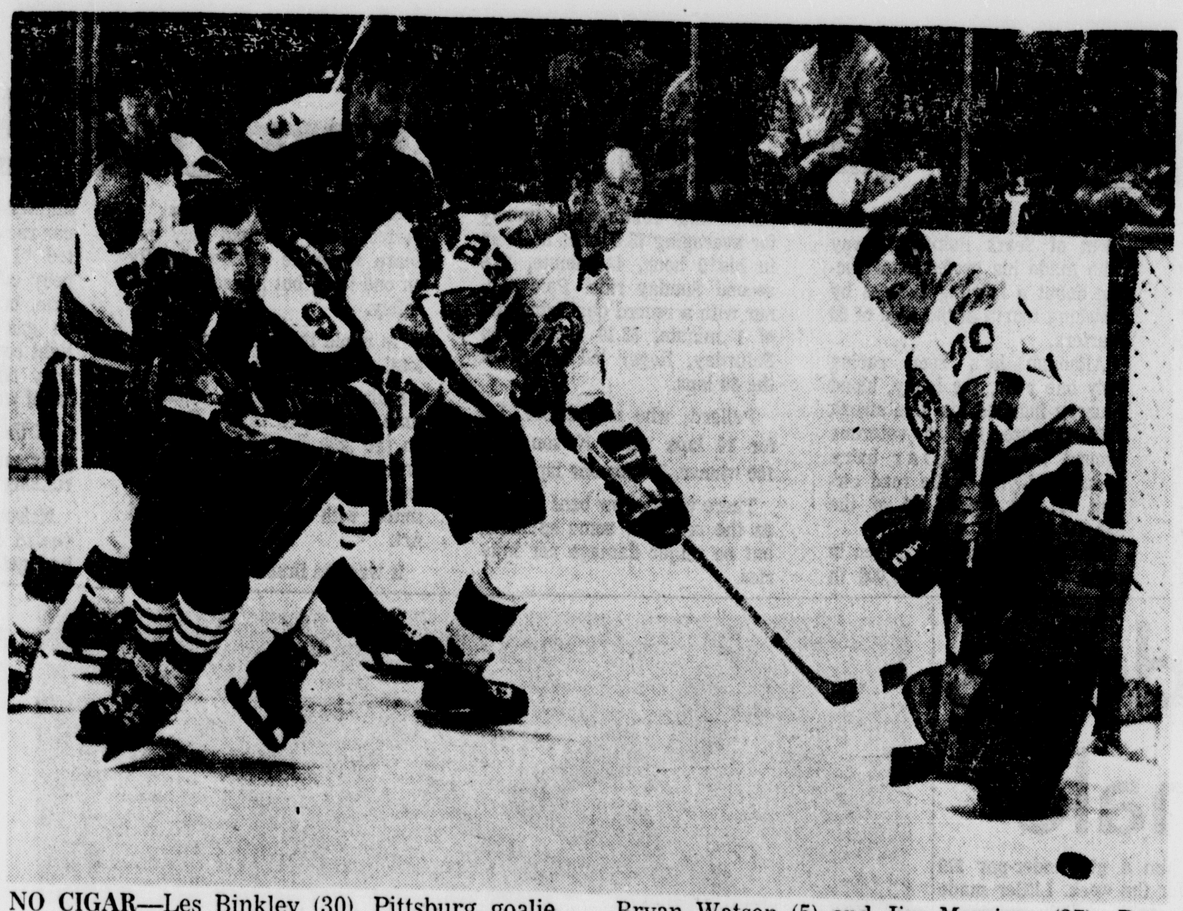
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

4-13

How many times have you made a bad pitch and realized afterward that you were thinking about something else as you bowled? That's when you have a right to be angry with yourself because you know you didn't make a 100 per cent effort.

As you stand on the approach, getting ready to bowl, put everything out of your mind except what you plan to do in the next couple of seconds. Concentration plays as enormous role in good scoring.



NO CIGAR—Les Binkley (30), Pittsburg goalie, blocks Oakland Seals attempt at score during playoff at Oakland. Also in on the play are Seals wing Gerry Ehman (9) and Carol Vadnais and Penguins Bryan Watson (5) and Jim Morrison (27). Penguins won yesterday's game, 3-2, to eliminate Oakland from the NHL playoffs.

the ninth on a single, two walks and an error. But Ron Hunt, whose pinch hits had figured in each of the Giants' four previous victories, flied out deep to center to end the rally.

TRIPLE

Bench's triple gave Gary Nolan, 2-0, the lead for good in the sixth inning of the nightcap, following a double by Rose and a walk to Perez.

The Reds added two runs in the ninth on Darrel Cheney's double and Bobby Tolan's single off Don McMahon.

After the Giants scored once in the ninth, reliever Wayne Granger cooled off the rally to preserve Nolan's victory.

Seals' Season Is Over

OAKLAND (AP)—The Pittsburgh Penguins have advanced to the semifinals of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs because a 20-year-old rookie came up with the big play in sudden death overtime.

Michele Briere, who scored 161 points for the Shawinigan Falls, Quebec, Juniors last season, fired a 15-foot shot at 8:28 into the overtime before 5,299 screaming fans in the Oakland Arena Sunday night.

It bounced off the inside of Oakland Seals' goalie Gary Smith's pads and into the net for a 3-2 Pittsburgh victory, and the Seals' season had ended.

Together with Saturday night's victory here, the Sunday night crucial gave the Penguins a 4-0 shutout for the best-of-seven series against the Seals.

The Penguins now will play the winner of the Minnesota-St. Louis series to determine the National Hockey League West Division playoff representative.

The game went into overtime after the teams played to a scoreless third period.

Vadnais sent the Seals ahead at 2:34 of the first period on a power play goal, but Prentice tied it at 7:37.

Vadnais put the Seals on top again at 4:34 of the second period on another power play, but Woytowich answered that at 6:22.

cert last year was warned repeatedly yesterday for off-course deviations.

Unofficially, he was charged with 27 violations and McCluskey laughed: "I just prayed when I came up behind him that I wouldn't follow him off the course."

Murray, who knows Sears Point like his backyard, which it is, was utterly exhausted following his 200-mile pro debut, said: "I learned a lot about driving from these guys today. It got to be pretty scary out there at times."

The Sears Point president, who plans to race in some Trans-American series races, including next weekend's 1970 series opener at Laguna Seca, had relatively slow qualifying runs Saturday but changed tires to good advantage, increasing his speeds considerably. He started 11th on the grid and gained seventh place after 10 laps and third after 30 laps.

The San Rafael businessman made pit stops on the 35th and 57th laps to lose some ground, but roared back to move from sixth to fifth on the 68th lap and from fifth to fourth on the 79th lap, just before McCluskey took the checkered flag.

The only other local driver in the field, Hugh Harn of Sonoma, drove his 1968 Camaro to 14th place worth $535.

V.D. . . . it can hurt

If you lined up all the people in the U.S.A. treated for V.D. in the year 1969 they would stretch for well over 100 miles. Unless immediate procedures are taken to stamp out V.D. the line will get longer. Complete information on V.D. is readily available from physicians, clinics and public health sources. KEEPS IN CONDITION—An all-around athlete, Col. Leo Magers stays in top physical condition by playing squash and other sports at the physical condition center at Hamilton Field.

(Air Force Photo)

SPORTING GENTRY

Marin Base's Athletic Colonel

If someone wants to tour Hamilton Air Force Base to find the base's outstanding athlete, the search will most likely end when you find a colonel with a name that sounds like a major.

That would be Lt. Col. Leo Magers, director of operations with the U.S. Air Force Liaison to the Pacific Region Civil Air Patrol.

Orphaned at an early age, Col. Magers was reared at Boys Town, Neb., where he started his participation in organized sports. As a halfback on the varsity football team, he was a teammate of Navy Commander Lloyd Bucher, commander of the Pueblo.

In addition to football at Boys Town, Col. Magers played first base and catcher for the varsity baseball team and won a letter in boxing, winning the state welterweight title his senior year.

From Boys Town Col. Magers earned an athletic scholarship to Western Kentucky University and later to University of Kentucky. In his senior year at Kentucky, he was given an honorable mention spot on the College All-America team.

Col. Magers was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers in 1951.

"Professional football was simpler then," Col. Magers said. "For instance, I negotiated my contract directly with the coach. Today, a player's lawyer meets with the front office and the player plays only a secondary role in negotiations."

Before he got a chance to prove himself as a running back with the 49ers the Korean War began and he was called to active duty. An Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) member since college, he was accepted for flying school.

After the war, he was transferred to Keesler AFB, Miss., where he began playing service football. In 1956 he made the All-Air Force team and the following year was transferred to the Far East.

During the 1959 season, his last season of football, he played with the Kadena Falcons in the Okinawa Inter-Service League which included another Air Force team, an Army team and three Marine Corps teams. He led the league in rushing that year and in one game averaged 14 yards per carry, totaling 182 yards and scoring on TD runs of 44 and 41 yards.

A year later Col. Magers returned to his college alma mater for work toward a master's degree. While at University of Kentucky, he coached the offensive ends. During a later assignment as an ROTC instructor at Texas A and M he officiated junior varsity games in the Southwest Conference.

He still has praise for the coaching staff at Boys Town. "They have a great interest in their athletic program, but more importantly they also have a great interest in the boys they coach," he said. "They uncover a boy's interest in sports and then cultivate it."

A 17-year career officer and veterean of more than 100 combat missions in Southeast Asia, Col. Magers plans to enter the junior college teaching and coaching ranks after his retirement from Air Force life. He maintains excellent physical condition by playing squash, handball and badminton.

Sohner Sweeps Doubleheader

Led by the hitting of John Brookman and the pitching of Walt Tyler, Sohner Tree Service softballers swept a Golden Gate Travel League opening doubleheader from the Concord Merchants Saturday night in San Rafael, 2-0 and 3-6.

Brookman singled in Ron McCamish who had tripled to open the fifth inning of the opener and scored the other run for the San Anselmo club on Milt Hain's following single.

And it was Brookman's three-run homer in the bottom of the sixth that won the second game for the Treemen.

Tyler tossed a three-hitter to gain the first game verdict and then came back in relief to win the second tilt.

Foreman Says Barry To Stay

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no agreement on moving the Washington club of the American Basketball Association to the National Basketball Association as part of a merger deal, says Earl Foreman, owner of the Washington franchises.

Foremen told The Associated Press by telephone from Washington Sunday:

"I'm not aware of any agreement reached between the two merger committees and I was there every minute."

Sam Shulman of the NBA's Seattle franchise had announced Saturday that the three-man merger committees, which met in Palm Springs, Calif., had agreed in principle on the following:

The ABA would pay the NBA an $11 million indemnity over 10 years, the Washington franchise would move to another city, and Rick Barry would return to San Francisco of the NBA from Washington.

The agreements will not be proposed to the leagues," Shulman said.

Evidence of achievement by U.I.I. Distributors can be seen from Coast-to-Coast!

A business revolution has taken place, proving the "Little Fellow" can emerge a "Mighty Giant" in the U.I.I. money-making route system.

The Questions: Do you have a serviceable car? 6-10 hours free time a week? $1,500 to invest which, according to an authoritative source, triples in value the day you start in the vending business? Can grow to $1,000 a month income with this small cash start. Success isn't automatic . . . you have to work for it!

Whe you do this with U.I.I you'll never suffer from competition. No selling or soliciting . . . just a service function.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

The Disabled Often Cling To Illness Rather Than Fail Again

Everyone reacts differently to illness or injury. Some recover completely, others develop serious emotional problems that prove to be a greater handicap than the orignal ailment.

Between these extremes is a wide range of reactions, depending upon the individual's personality.

Disability may be prolonged when secondary gains, such as compensation, are derived from the misfortune. An operation that usually is successful in eliminating a civilian's backache may be less effective when performed on a soldier or a worker who has a grudge and is looking for compensation.

AN INVALID OFTEN reverts to immature methods of handling his problems. He craves attention and may behave like a child to minimize his anxieties and distress. Some become emotionally upset when the injury or illness recalls previous incidents that occurred to them or their families.

If a heart attack develops in a man whose father died of a similar disorder, the son fears he, too, will die of a coronary.

A hospitalized newspaper man went to pieces when told he needed a special lung test. He immediately thought of lung cancer and became convinced it meant the end.

This reaction was unexpected because he always had been stable and optimistic. His wife supplied the answer when she reminded us that he had recently interviewed a prominent man who was dying of lung cancer.

SOME PERSONS who are permanently disabled become emotionally upset should a new procedure be devised that offers a cure. The thought of reentering the competitive world is too much to take because of the possibility of failure.

Their disability always has afforded an excuse for lack of accomplishment, and they know that if the handicap were corrected they could not live up to expectations.

OTHERS ENJOY being waited upon or use the disability to punish those who neglected them.

THYROID AFTER GOITER REMOVAL

A reader writes: After a goiter is removed, must the person take thyroid pills for life?

REPLY

Yes, in many instances, because not enough thyroid tissue is left to supply the amount of this hormone needed by the body. The need for thyroid pills may be greater among those treated with radioactive iodine.

THE SCRATCH TEST

R. L. writes: How is the scratch test done?

REPLY

This is one method of determining the substance (allergen) to which the individual is sensitive. Scratches are made on the skin to insert the materials to be tested. A positive reaction indicates a sensitivity. Once the cause is known, a plan of treatment is suggested.

BOSOM SIZE

G. S. writes: what determines the size of the breasts?

REPLY

Heredity, weight, and the supply of certain hormones are the most important factors. Our leaflet on breast changes discusses this question. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

BACK TO NORMAL

R. T. writes: How long after pregnancy do the menses return?

REPLY

Menstruation usually returns within six weeks.

Labor Council Endorses Two

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO —Two Marin Democratic candidates for state office have been endorsed by the California Labor Council on Political Education, the political arm of the state AFL-CIO.

Endorsed were Michael Peevey of San Rafael, candidate for state Senate, and William M. Bennett of Kent Woodlands, candidate for the State Board of Equalization.

Delegates from throughout the state took a stand of "no endorsement" on Republican candidates for these two contests, an action which meant that the convention regarded none of the candidates seeking the GOP nominations for these offices as qualified.

No Council Meeting

The San Anselmo City Council will not meet tomorrow because of the city election. The council will meet at 8 p.m. April 21 in the council chamber. Most councilmen may be expected, however, to visit city hall tomorrow night to follow the vote counting for the seven candidates for three council seats.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

Tiny Tim's Malted Milk Supply Cut

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— Tiny Tim was in a tizzy. The long-haired entertainer with the falsetto reportedly was sore because he broke his megaphone and his manager tried to cut off his malted milk supply.

Tiny and his bride of four months, Miss Vicki, stayed behind a locked door in their suite in the Fremont Hotel during the weekend and took the phone off the hook.

Tiny appeared for his shows but other than that he was incommunicado.

Jeff Wald, a partner in the firm that manages the singer confirmed his company had severed relations with Tiny.

Wald said the trouble started the day of Tiny's first appearance when he had room service send up 27 ice cream sundaes, nine chop suey dinners and 35 malted milks.

Wald said his client tipped $40 and $50 and that he told the hotel to cut Tiny off before they all went bankrupt.

Wald accused Tiny of "unprofessional conduct." He also claimed Tiny had behaved in a similar manner during visits to Australia and elsewhere.

The manager said he had reversed his ban on room service delicacies but Tiny, who is making $50,000 for his two week appearance at the Fremont, was not assuaged.

Williams Coffee Set

A coffee for Spencer Williams, candidate for the Republican nomination for state attorney general, will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the San Rafael home of William O. Weissich, 211 Locust Street, The event will be taped by a San Francisco television station.

Artifacts Are Being Displayed

An unusual collection of 25 artifacts, many of them more than a century old, are on exhibit at the Fairfax branch of the Marin County Library at 47 Broadway.

The collection, by Margaret Olson of San Anselmo, will be on display in the library window through April 29, librarian Emily Shortell announced.

Most of the items are 19th Century Americana, but include a contemporary Mexican mustache comb, a French perfume distillery and grape shears from England.

Mrs. Olson's aunt, an archaeologist working with Sir Mortimer Wheeler on Roman excavations, brought the grape shears from Glastonbury, famous in the King Arthur legend.

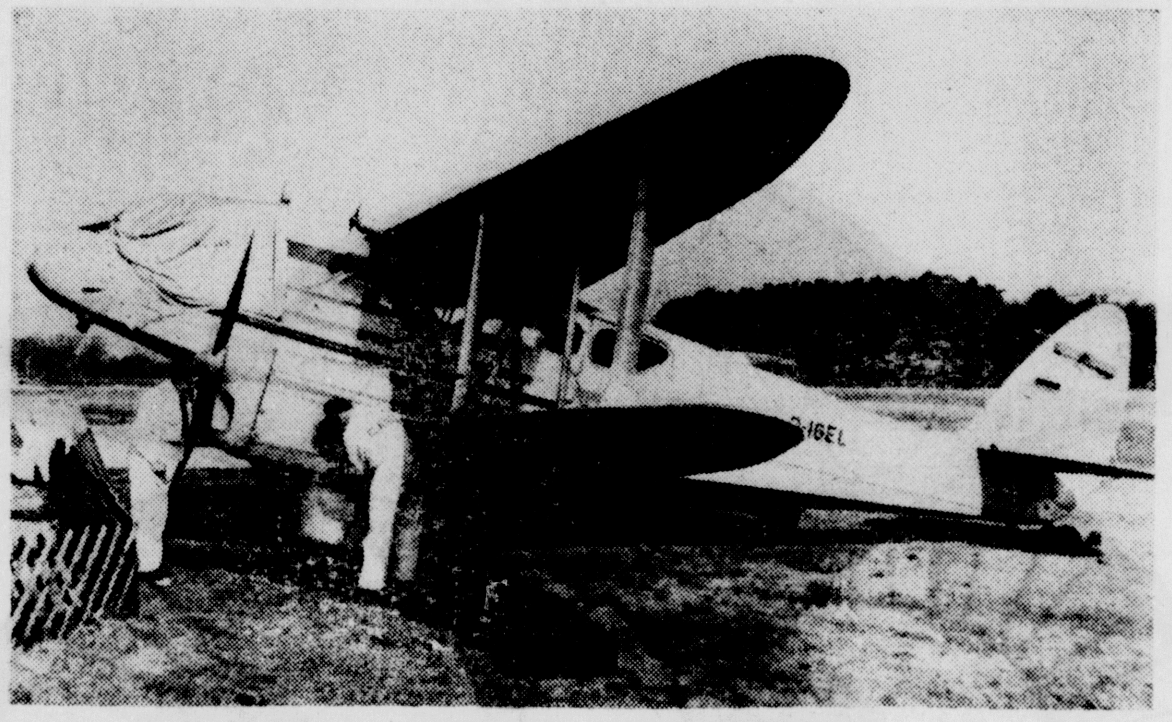
Ancient Caverns Free Of Modern Problem

STANTON, Mo. (UPI) — There's no air pollution problem in the 100-million-year-old Meramec Caverns here because Mother Nature keeps the air circulating at a constant 66 degrees.

Throughout the underground emporium, Lester B. Dill, cave director, has signs posted reading: "We May Be Old-Fashioned But We Don't Have New Air Pollution."



DURABLE AIRPLANE

This De Havilland "Rapide," built in 1937, originally served as the official plane for England's wartime prime minister Winston Churchill, then was sold for service as a Finnish airliner, and finally landed in the hands of a hobbyist in Verden West Germany. With more than 20,000 hours of flying time, the biplane's two Gypsy Queen engines are the originals, still in use.

Miss Marin Pageant To Be Held At Mall

The 1970 Miss Marin Beauty Pageant will take place Saturday, May 2 at Northgate.

The contest, co-sponsored by the Mall at Northgate Merchasts and Holiday Magic, Inc. is expected to prove the biggest, most competitive yet.

Among prizes to be won by Miss Marin are a bathing suit and cover-up from Adrienne's, helicopter transportation to the San Francisco airport from American Express, cultured pearls from Milens Jewelers, a travel ensemble from the City of Paris, a gift certificate from Walden Book Store and a complete cosmetics demonstration kit from Holiday Magic, Inc.

This Saturday, the Miss Marin candidates and their mothers will be entertained at a Coke social in the City of Paris on The Mall. Here, official publicity photos will be taken.

On April 25 all candidates and their mothers will be guests of Holiday Magic, Inc. at a cosmetics information session where the girls will be given special tips on their make-up. At the clinic each girl and her mother will receive an overnight cosmetics "Just-inCase."

Keri Wisgerhof, Miss Marin 1969, says she is proof positive of how thrilling the pageant is. Here is her letter to Carolyn Beach, pageant coordinator:

"Dear Mrs. Beach,

"I've just been thinking of the past year and of the hosor of being Miss Marin.

"The year has gone by so quickly, I guess it's because of the fun and excitement I've had being Miss Marin.

"I want to thank you for all of the help that you have given me.

"When I first became Miss Marin County, you tried to tell me how exciting the Miss California Pageant in Los Angeles would be, but I had to see it for myself to believe it.

"I'll always remember how excited we all were when we found out that the Astronauts from the Apollo 10 were staying at our hotel. But what a state of shock we went into that morning when they came to have breakfast with us. Col. Thomas Stafford, Cdr. Eugene Cernan and Cdr. John Young were just as friendly as could be.

"We were all guests of honor at the opening show for the Lennon Sisters at the Coconut Grove.

"I could go on and on about our six days in Los Angeles at the Miss California Pageant, but you were there so you know how excited I was.

"My favorite outing was to the Los Angeles Music Complex—it's just beautiful!

"I hope that the next Miss Marin will have as much fun as I have had. I would also like to thank Mr. Hugh Turner and KTIM for sponsoring the Miss Marin Pageant. They gave me an opportunity that I will always remember."

Hawaii Store

Sanford Wolfson, president of Garant Brothers Jewelers, has announced that the chain will soon open its newest store in Honolulu's fabulous Kahala Mall. The new store, Granat Brothers' in Hawaii, marks the eleventh store in the sixty-five year old San Francisco firm's expansion program.

Among the firm's stores is one on the Mall at Northgate.

Rome Does As Others

ROME (UPI)—Rome city officials are considering following the example of Florence and other Italian cities in painting taxicabs yellow. The traditional color of Italian taxis has been green and black, which makes them hard to spot in traffic.

Auto Pollution War Picks Up Momentum

DETROIT (UPI)—A war on auto pollution has accelerated suddenly in the United States and President Nixon, lawmakers and others are piling on pressure to clean up a huge exhaust problem.

About 100 major bills have been introduced in state legislatures since Jan. 1 to compel automakers to find means to cut the exhaust —cause of half the U.S. air pollution —and to produce cleaner engines. Several measures would outlaw the internal combustion engine.

Congress is studying a request by President Nixon to cut allowable auto emission by about two-thirds by 1975 and spur the search for a pollution-free car.

$50 BILLION THREAT

At least nine lawsuits have been filed against the auto firms seeking damage for dirty air. An industry source said that if courts ruled against car companies in all cases, it could cost them up to $50 billion.

The auto makers, industry sources say, have cut hydrocarbon exhaust by 80 per cent and carbon monoxide by 65 per cent in the past decade. They have raised spending on antipollution research and development to an estimated $100 million a year.

About 2,700 persons are working in General Motors, Ford and Chrysler technical centers to improve present engines and to try steam engines, gas turbines and electric power as pollution-free substitutes.

NO-LEAD GAS

Five oil companies have announced they will begin offering gasoline without air-polluting octane-boosting lead in 1971.

The Nixon administration asked that all cars be operating on unleaded gasoline by 1972. General Motors said all of its 1971 cars will be able to use a low-grade, lead-free gasoline, and Ford and Chrysler said many of their 1971 cars will be able to use the new fuel, too. All cars will be able to use regular leaded gasoline in areas where the new unleaded fuel is not available.

But the problem is great. Americans own 104 million cars and trucks —nearly 50 per cent more than in 1960. The number grows by several million every year. The vehicles exhaust millions of tons of pollutants that have some toxic effect on the body.

The federal government proposes these maximum emission levels by 1975: 11 grams per mile of carbon monoxide (1970 standard is 23), 0.5 grams per mile of hydrocarbons (now 2.2), 0.9 grams per mile of nitrogen oxide, and 0.1 gram per mile of solid matter (no standard for either now).

With the mushrooming number of cars, the administration doubts the lowest possible exhaust from gasoline engines will be good enough. Nixon urged government and private efforts to find a cleaner engine.

Auto companies aren't sure yet what it will cost to meet Nixon's proposed 1975 standards, but sources at Ford and Chrysler said it could boost new car prices as much as 10 per cent. The new no-lead gasoline, which requires extra processing to get good octane, probably will cost 1 to 4 cents more per gallon.

Among the states, California has applied the greatest pressure. The California legislature has set the toughest standards and a flurry of new proposals have been introduced so far this year.

Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, rocked the auto industry last year when his bill to ban the internal combustion engine in 1975 cleared the Senate. But it died in an Assembly committee.

NEW IDEA FOR COMMUTERS?

Not really, just an accident in which a double-decker rail car carrying autos was jostled by a switch engine while being readied for unloading, and the auto rolled off the upper deck to its odd perch in San Antonio, Tex. No harm was done; the car was pushed onto the freight car again and put safely on the ground. (UPI Telephoto)

HIPPIES HAVE NOTHING ON HIM

Long hair's all the rage these days, and this Old English sheepdog looks haughtily (but unseen) down his nose because he's got more than anybody. He's Ch. Silvershag Carnival Candy, consideredi a fine speciman of the breed in East Coast dog show circles.

Bulgaria Has Teens Studying All In English

SOFIA, Bulgaria (UPI)—In their wool pullover caps, their drab jackets, short hair (for the boys) and pigtails (for the girls) they don't look much like the teen-agers Americans are used to seeing these days.

But they are teen-agers nonetheless—ages 14 to 18—and in three special Bulgarian high schools they are getting their lessons primarily in English.

The schools do not turn out Anglicized graduates. They turn out Communist youngsters who speak or at least have a familiarity with English.

Three other special high schools give their lessons in French, three others in German.

The schools provide a natural pool of future diplomats, trade officials and journalists. The Bulgarians are realists enough to accept that not many non-Bulgarians around the world speak their language.

Jordan Patrashkov, head of the Education Ministry's foreign language school program, declines to concede that the prime purpose of the schools is to train diplomats and others who will have access to the non-Communist world. He tends to stress "general culture."

"It is our purpose," Patrashkov told UPI, "not to make students experts in language, but to give them general culture. Ninety-five per cent of our graduates go on to universities and then to all kinds of occupations. It's our conviction that, no matter what his occupation, he will need command of at least one foreign language."

A visit by an American reporter to one of the schools giving lessons mainly in English did not find the students anxious to give their own views of the curriculum, or why they were attending those particular courses.

But the impression gained is they are a serious group, as serious in their approach to learning as they are, by and large, in their dress and comportment.

Signs on the school's washroom walls are in English. So are the Marxist slogans posted in the hallways. This was at Public School No. 114, a greystone building built in 1957 in the heart of this Bulgarian capital.

At P.S. 114, 850 teen-agers spend their days wrestling with such courses as history, physics, chemistry and geography in a language few of them had ever heard before entering the school. Only mathematics and Bulgarian history are taught in Bulgarian. Similar schools thrive in Romania and the Soviet Union.

The Sofia school is so popular there are 10 candidates for every place, Patrashkov said.

The knowledge of a western language gives the students a view of another world that few Bulgarians are allowed to visit. But because the school's job is to raise Communists as well as English-speakers, the content is not exactly that of a typical English or American school.

Almost all the books are non-Western, but are Bulgarian texts translated into English. A beginning chemistry text, for instance, ends with a chapter of praise on the growth of Bulgarian medical care under the Communists.

In the first-year English class, the text is openly propagandistic. Various chapters praise Bulgaria and the Soviet Union, deride American racism, discuss the plight of English workers as though nothing had changed since Karl

Auto Pollution War Picks Up Momentum

This year Petris proposes among other things: a ban after Jan. 1, 1975, of any engine that produces any pollution, and a $25 million reward for the first person to design a practical, smog-free car.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has proposed a California program which would require certifying that smog control devices on cars are working, offer an incentive to firms converting their fleets to engines using a combustion of compressed natural gas and gasoline, and give the state air resources board strong powers over gasoline composition.

BIG THREE PLEDGES

The Big Three car manufacturers all have pledged a fight against pollution.

General Motors said it spent $125 million on the effort in the three-year period 1966-68. It now has 1,400 persons on the job at its research center and is believed to be spending about $50 million on pollution studies this year.

GM has studied scores of types of engines in the past two decades but a spokesman said alternatives are a "long way from replacing present day car engines in mass production."

Most alternative engines provide pollution, too, plus other problems.

The gas turbine appears to be the best alternative, the spokesman said, but "our best estimate puts the cost of an automotive gas turbine power plant at two to three times that of a conventional piston engine."

ELECTRIC CAR

The electric car, only zero-pollution motor vehicle, is a possibility but no one has come up with strong enough, practical batteries for any lengthy travel.

The steam engine and Stirling engine have less potential.

At Ford, about 900 persons are working on research and alternative motors at a cost of $30 million a year.

Henry Ford II, in his 1969 year-end news conference, noted that "the major obstacle to a quick and dramatic reduction in total automobile emissions is the fact that about 60 million older cars are in use that are not equipped with any exhaust emission controls."

Ford is testing a pollution control kit which may be offered to used-car owners at a price of somewhere around $50.

At Chrysler, vice Chairman Virgil E. Boyd says, "We have the equivalent of 400 persons assigned full time" to antipollution work.

Optomizer Control Corp. of St. Louis Park, Minn., said it has received a federal contract for a mechanical system it said might eventually cut auto fumes by 90 per cent. The firm said it has spent $300,000 over three years developing a cigar-box-sized device to adjust ignition timing automatically, providing top engine performance and cutting pollution.

LEGAL ACTIONS

Measures offered in state legislatures to control pollution are varied in their approaches to the problem.

Legislatures in New York, Hawaii and Massachusetts are considering bills to outlaw the internal combustion engine by Jan. 1, 1975. A bill in the state of Washington to ban that engine by 1980 died in a committee.

The Massachusetts bill also would adopt California standards for 1971 and 1972. In addition, New York and Hawaii bills would eliminate the use of lead in gasoline — in New York it would be by stages by 1974.

The Georgia Senate has passed that state's first auto pollution control bill and sent it to the House. It would bar pollution which obscures light by 30 per cent or more.

In Pennsylvania, the House passed two control bills last Nov. 24 and sent them to the Senate. One would authorize setting standards for crankcase and exhaust systems. The other would include such inspections in the regular motor vehicle inspection program.

New Jersey has a 1966 law providing for regulation of auto pollution, and standards are now being developed. Vermont has a law that prevents car owners from removing exhaust control devices.

The Language, English; The Politics, Bulgarian

Marx's time, and state: "The Soviet space program always has been ahead of the American program."

The only Western books are found in the library, and they are a mixed bag. There is a great deal of Shakespeare, Mark Twain and Charles Dickens. Lenin and Oscar Wilde stand cover to cover. There are 20 copies of J.D. Salinger's "A Catcher in the Rye"—a book still banned in some American schools—and single copies of "From Here to Eternity," D.H. Lawrence's "Sons and Lovers," Graham Greene's critical novel on the U.S. presence in Vietnam, "The Quiet American," and "MacBird," a bitter American attack on Lyndon B. Johnson.

The only foreign newspaper in evidence is the Morning Star, the British Communist Party paper.

This emphasis on Communist content extends to pictures in the hallway of both the Bulgarian and Soviet party politburo. But the bearded gentleman staring down from the wall in the chemistry course is not Marx but the British hypothesizer of evolution, Charles Darwin.

No attempt is made to stress British or American history. Patrashkov said the curriculum, basically, is the usual Bulgarian courses translated into English.

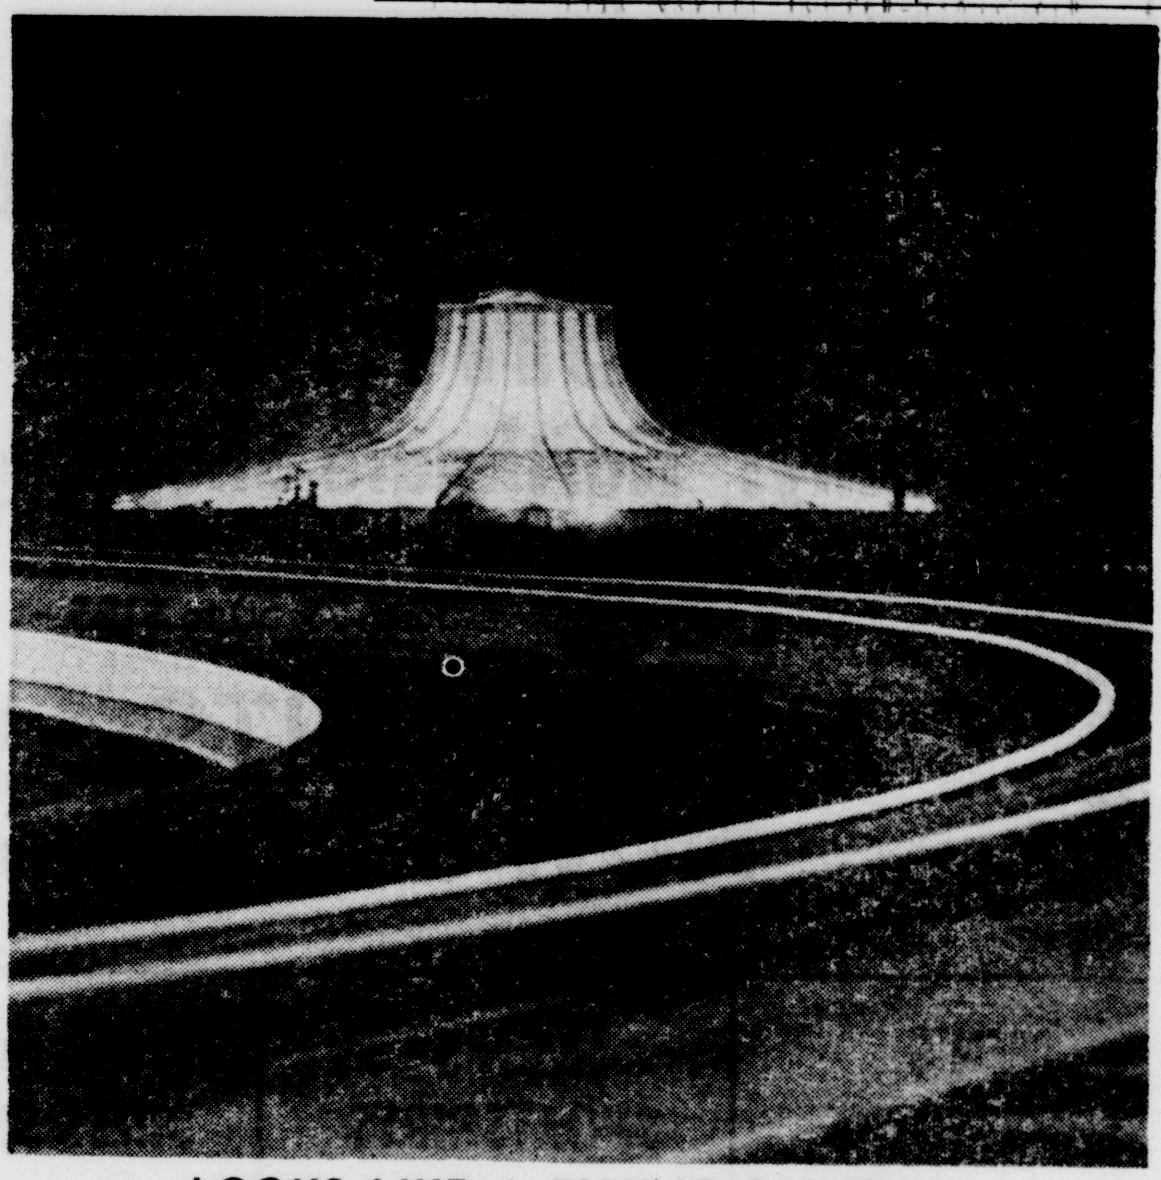
The pupils seem to learn well. The first year is spent entirely in mastering English and a visitor who dropped into the first-year class in its sixth month found the Bulgarian students, all dressed in black smocks, or suit coats, chatting easily in English with their teacher. By the second year, even the toughest work is all in English.

All conversation in the school is in English. So are the charts and other posters. Although there are a handful of British exchange teachers, most of the teachers are Bulgarians who must teach their subjects and English at the same time.

Patrashkov, himself a French speaker, said the government tries to keep an equal balance of students studying English, French and German but is expanding its English program in response to the overwhelming popularity of that language.

The stress on English, French and German does not mean that Russian is ignored, he said. All Bulgarian students begin lessons in Russian in the fifth grade. Besides, he said, the Russian and Bulgarian tongues are so similar that Russian is not really considered a foreign language.

The intensive foreign language training ends at age 18. In their last year at the school, everything is taught in Bulgarian—because that still is the only language for college entrance examinations here.



LOOKS LIKE A FLYING SAUCER

Eugene, Ore., police swear their town isn't a landing site for flying saucers, but nighttime motorists rounding a freeway curve aren't so sure when this glowing apparition suddenly appears. It's actually the top of a major department store. (UPI Telephoto)
